BABY OF MURDERED MISSIONARIES FOUND

Infant Alive in China After Killing of American Pair.

By the Associated Press.
SHANGHAI, Dec. 14.—A report from Tsingteh tonight said that Helen Priscilla Stam, 3-month-old daughter of the murdered American missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stam, had been found alive and was being taken to Wuhu, mission headquarters. The report of the finding of the baby was relayed here from Wuhu.

It was reported that the Rev. George Birch of Canada, a member of the China Inland Mission, had the baby and was carrying it to safety. There was no indication as to the health of the child.

The entire staff of the American Methodist Episcopal Foreign Board Mission Hospital at Wuhu, under the direction of Dr. Robert Brown, awaits the child's arrival. It came into the world at that hospital Sept. 11 by a Caesarian operation.

It was not immediately indicated how the rescue had been made, although it was known that Government troops were in pursuit of the bandits who raided the city of Tsingteh.

The bodies of the Stams were found on a battlefield 15 miles from Tsingteh, but no trace of the baby has been discovered.

Other missionaries in three southern provinces are reported to be evacuating their stations.

A letter written by Stam shortly before his death disclosed that he and his family were held for a ransom of 20,000 Chinese silver dollars (about $7000).

Stam was born in Paterson, N. J., while his wife, the daughter of missionaries, was born in China.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kofield of Bend, Ore., reported to have disappeared at about the time the Stams were abducted, are said to have telegraphed to the China Inland Mission said. They will remain at Tunki until conditions have settled.

Under instructions from Washington, a Helping dispatch said, Clarence Gauss, Charge d'Affaires of the American Legation, made further representations to Nanking and Anhwei provincial authorities.

A spokesman for the Foreign Office of the National Government said the kidnappers of the pair were "murderers and bandits" and not Chinese Communists, as once was reported.

BRITISH FORCES TO 'ATTACK' SINGAPORE BASE IN MANEUVER

Cruiser, Airplane Carrier and 18 Destroyers to Test Vulnerability of Military Station.

By the Associated Press.
SINGAPORE, Dec. 14.—A combined British air and naval force headed today for an unannounced position at sea from which an imaginary "attack" will be made on this military base.

The British army, navy and air forces in the Far East joined in the maneuver, to test the vulnerability of the Singapore base.

The attacking force will consist of an aircraft carrier, a cruiser and 18 destroyers, with 24 planes aboard the carrier. They will strike under cover of darkness. Defending planes were made ready for long flights seaward to watch for the invaders.

After the aerial-naval attack, the invaders will be allowed to approach shore and attempt to land against the defense of 4000 army troops.

WILLS BEING CHECKED TO AID TAX ASSESSOR

Object Is to List Persons Who Have Inherited Sums of Money.

In an effort to increase the city's income and to make the tax assessment of personal property thorough, Assessor Coale has had a deputy checking wills that were filed in Probate Court for a number of years past.

"The object was to list St. Louisans who have inherited considerable sums of money and other personal property for comparison with their returns for taxation. The check cannot be completed until after the end of this month and in the meantime it has not been determined how fruitful the inquiry has been.

An ordinance was passed by the Board of Aldermen Wednesday which was intended to subject more automobiles to assessment and taxation as personal property. It required that applicants for city motor licenses fill out duplicate papers for submission to the Assessor. There have been about 142,000 automobiles licensed by the city but only about 82,000 assessed for taxation under owners' personal property returns.

Coale thought at least 30,000 more cars, or half of the difference, would be taxed under the new plan. He estimated the average annual tax at $5 a car, which would make the additional income of the city, State and schools $150,000 a year.

The aggregate personal property assessment in St. Louis has dwindled steadily since 1928, when a peak valuation of $170,675,990 was reached. It was $88,648,080 for last year's taxes and $76,886,902 for this year's taxes. The tax levy on personal property this year for the city, State and schools was $2,101,221.

NEGRO WOMAN TELLS JUDGE HUSBAND HAD HIM 'HOODOOED' Wife Who Filed Cross Bill in Divorce Case Points Out Alleged Conjuror in Court.

Circuit Judge Kirkwood yesterday declined to take judicial notice of a "hoodoo" which a divorce litigant charged had been placed on the court.

Laura Clark, Negro, 4415 St. Ferdinand street, was testifying on her cross bill on Emanuel M. Clark's divorce suit.

"They're supposed to fix you, Judge," she said. "My husband had the hoodoo man out to his house day before Thanksgiving and paid him to put a hoodoo on you."

She pointed out a Negro among the spectators, and said, "That's the man, Judge."

Mrs. Clark's lawyer walked back to the man and demanded if he had put a "hoodoo" on the court. The man smiled and shook his head. Judge Kirkwood also smiled, and took the case under advisement.

400 COUNTY FARMERS TO GET AAA CHECKS

To Receive Total of $24,568 Next Few Weeks for Cutting Wheat Acreage.

Government checks totaling $24,568 will be distributed during the next few weeks by the Wheat Production Control Association of St. Louis County to 400 farmers who have reduced wheat acreage in compliance with contracts signed with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Russell Lander, assistant county farm agent, said today.

The checks will represent a final payment of $556 to the farmers on their 1933 contracts and an initial payment of $19,032 on this year's contracts. The initial payment on last year's contracts, made last January, was $17,491, making a total of $23,027 on those contracts. Final payment of $8860 will be made on this year's contracts next fall after compliance has been checked.

Checks totaling $14,004 have been received from Washington at the office of the St. Louis County Farm Bureau in Clayton, from which the distribution is being made, and farmers are being notified to call for them. The remainder of the checks are expected soon.

Initial payments to the farmers are on the basis of 20 cents on each bushel on 54 per cent of their average annual production. The final payments approximate 9 cents per bushel, less the cost of administering the reduction plan. The farmers were required to cut acreage 15 per cent last year, but only 10 per cent this year.

PARKING CARS ON CHESTNUT STREET TO BE CONTINUED

Traffic Engineer Says Auditorium Patrons Have No Other Place to Leave Autos.

The city will continue to permit automobiles to park on virtually the entire width of Chestnut street, between Twelfth boulevard and Fifteenth street, when there is an attraction at the Municipal Auditorium, City Traffic Engineer Gontor said today, when asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter what the city intended to do about complaints against parking on this street.

Gontor said that he had been informed by the City Counselor's office that such a regulation was legal, provided a lane for moving traffic was left open on both sides of the street, which is done. He pointed out that Chestnut street was the only place in the vicinity of the Auditorium where cars could be parked without seriously interfering with moving traffic and that parking facilities were as necessary to a public building as to a private structure.

Most of the complaints, Gontor said, have come from owners of private parking lots who feel that they are losing revenue because cars are parked free on Chestnut street.

JUNE KNIGHT SEEKS DIVORCE

13 DAYS AFTER HER WEDDING

Movie Dancer Charges Best Man Kept Hanging Around After the Wedding.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 14.—June Knight, movie singer and dancer, filed suit for divorce yesterday, complaining that Murray Stern, best man at her wedding 13 days ago in Chicago to Paul Ames, kept hanging around too much after the ceremony. Miss Knight charged she and Ames, wealthy New York broker, never were alone. Ames, she said, insisted on having Stern participate in all their conversations. Shortly after the wedding Ames said Stern was "just the best friend I have in the world."

The suit asked for $1200 monthly alimony and $5000 fees for Miss Knight's attorneys. The actress asserted also Ames was sullen and morose and allowed his family to interfere in their affairs. She said the broker had property valued at more than $1,000,000 and an income of $2400 a month.

Her lawyer, Louis Minter, said Stern joined the couple in Chicago, went with them on a train to New York, occupied an adjoining compartment on the trip to Hollywood and then, at Ames' request, moved into Ames' Beverly Hills home. Miss Knight and Ames were married a day after Ames telephoned her and asked, "Honey, will you marry me?" She immediately flew to Chicago for the ceremony. They came to Hollywood a few days later, and separated Dec. 7.

Ames is a brother of Stephen Ames, husband of Raquel Torres, Mexican movie actress, and former husband of another actress, Adrienne Ames.

One Death in Floor Collapse.

By the Associated Press.

LIVERPOOL, England, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Bertha Langley, 70 years old, died in a hospital last night as a result of injuries suffered when the floor of a concert hall collapsed plunging 500 children and their parents to the floor below.

DISEASE DIAGNOSIS DISCOVERY

Changes in Appearance of Monocytes Noted by Scientist.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—A new clue to diagnosis of disease was announced last night by Dr. Alexis Carrel of Rockefeller Institute. The announcement was made in Science, the official journal of American scientists. The clue is the changes of appearance of monocytes, a type of white blood cells. In experiments on animals Dr. Carrel found these cells are excellent imitators; that is, they change their appearance to fit their environment. In the serum of a diseased animal they look different from what they do in healthy serum.

CLARK INDORSES JUDGE FARIS

FOR U. S. COURT OF APPEALS

Asks President Roosevelt to Appoint Missourian to Succeed Late Judge Kenyon.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Senator Clark of Missouri today again gave President Roosevelt his endorsement of Federal Judge C. B. Faris of St. Louis for appointment to the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals.

MURDERER DENIED CLEMENCY

Gov. Horner Refuses to Save Policeman's Killer.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 14.—Executive clemency for Walter Dittman, 28 years old, who is under sentence of electrocution for the murder of an Oak Park (Ill.) policeman, was denied by Gov. Horner yesterday.

Unless a court intervenes, Dittman, formerly an Aurora truck driver, will die in the electric chair early tomorrow morning. Herman Boulton, convicted with Dittman in the same murder, will die at that time. No appeal for clemency was made for him. The two were sentenced to death for killing Earl M. Jensen, motorcycle policeman, who had stopped their automobile to question them. The State contended they would be identified as participants in three robberies.

FINE CLOTHES FOR MEN

MIGHTY WELL DRESSED AT A VERY LOW PRICE

The well dressed men in the photograph above are wearing Richman Brothers Clothes. Though they paid only $22.50, they enjoy the beauty, comfort and long wear of fine all wool fabrics, high grade workmanship, authentic style and perfect fit.

The truth is that many of your own friends, who look so expensively dressed, are Richman Brothers customers who have learned that it's not what you pay but what you get for your money that counts in buying clothes.

We know that after you've paid $35, $45 and more, it's hard to believe that you can get fine clothes for $22.50, but please remember that we make all our garments in our own shops and sell them all in our own stores. We save you not only the middleman's profit but the cost of charge accounts, delivery services and many wholesale expenses as well.

SMART TUXEDOS

FOR EARLY BUILDING OF CITY AQUARIUM

Zoological Society Seeks Construction of $400,000 Plant Under Bond Issue.

The Zoological Society has started a movement to have the city build soon the $400,000 aquarium provided for in the 1923 bond issue. This announcement was made today by George E. Dieckman, president of the society.

Conferring with President Brown of the Board of Public Service, Dieckman showed a letter from the superintendent of the Steinhart Aquarium, at San Francisco. The letter related that this aquarium cost not quite $300,000 and was operated for $50,000 a year, showing both salt-water and fresh-water fish. Brown told Dieckman he would consult Mayor Dickmann and Park Commissioner Miller on the subject.

A principal reason why the city has not undertaken the construction of an aquarium was a fear that the bond fund was not large enough to build it properly and that the operating expense would be too great. The bonds, while voted, have not been issued. The bond proposition provided that the aquarium should be placed in Forest Park and presumably it would be operated by the Zoological Board of Control.

DIES AFTER SEEING FAMILY FIRST TIME IN 25 YEARS

Michael Tracy, 77, Succumbs at City Hospital of Disease Affecting Throat.

Michael Tracy, 77 years old, who saw his wife and daughter for the first time in 25 years when they visited him at City Hospital last Sunday, died there last night of a malignant growth in the throat.

Social service workers, who had located his family for him, said the reunion Sunday had been followed by a marked improvement in Tracy's condition. The wife and daughter left Monday for their home in Denver, Colo., thinking Tracy would recover.

Twenty-five years ago Tracy walked out on his family, a wife, two sons, and two daughters, in Jacksonville, Ill., where he was a steamfitter. He wandered over the country, picking up odd jobs here and there, and came to St. Louis three years ago. He lived at the Alhambra Hotel, Sarah street and Westminster place.

Two of Tracy's brothers, from Jerseyville and Jacksonville, Ill., also were located and came to visit him. The funeral will probably be held in Jacksonville.

Illinoisans for Byrns for Speaker

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Illinois Democratic Congressmen at a caucus last night unanimously endorsed Representative Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee as a candidate for Speaker of the National House. Sponsorship of the candidacy of Representative A. J. Sabath of Illinois for majority floor leader also was voted.

AMERICAN GIRL HELD AFTER PARIS SHOOTING

MISS MARGUERY CHADWICK.

WHO was questioned by Paris police after Andre Ekchay, musician, was shot and wounded in front of "The Bull on the Road" cafe. Officers said Miss Chadwick had a six-shooter pistol, but that the shot was fired from the pistol of a policeman whose weapon, they said, was accidentally discharged as he sought to stop a quarrel between the girl and the musician.

Dieckman, vice-president of the Zoological Board, said the board could afford to run an aquarium if it did not have to pay the city for water for all its facilities. The zoo, supported by a special tax, has been paying the city about $15,000 a year for water. Dieckman suggested that, if the water bill was not remitted, a nominal admission charge for adults might be made at the aquarium, although he would rather have it free, as the zoo is.

The expense of supplying salt water for all its facilities, Dieckman said, because aquariums elsewhere, including that at San Francisco, had used the same sea water continuously for years. Alvin Seale, superintendent of Steinhart Aquarium, who wrote that $400,000 "would build an aquarium that any city would be proud of," urged that salt-water fish be shown, as they were much more colorful and attractive to spectators than the fresh-water varieties.

Last year the city administration considered the possibility of erecting an aquarium on one of the plazas or elsewhere downtown, but this idea seemingly has been abandoned. The location could not be changed without approval by the voters. Dieckman thought the building of an aquarium would provide employment for many persons.

NO TRUE BILL VOTED IN KILLING

Grand Jury Acts in Case of Shoe Worker Robert Basile.

A no true bill was voted yesterday by the grand jury in the case of Robert Basile, shoe worker, 2929 Madison street, who shot and killed Edward Joyce, maintenance man at Police Headquarters, in Basile's home on Thanksgiving day.

A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned at the inquest. Basile testified that Joyce, an uncle of Mrs. Basile, threatened him with a butcher knife.

DRIVER INDICTED IN DEATH OF MAN HURT IN ACCIDENT

Joseph Jones, Switchman, Charged With Manslaughter; Victim's Leg Fractured.

Joseph Jones, 66-year-old switchman, 2326 Park avenue, was charged with manslaughter in an indictment voted yesterday by the grand jury in the death of Willie Holle, 44-year-old Negro.

Holle died Nov. 20 from pneumonia which followed a leg fracture suffered when he was hit by an automobile driven by Jones in front of 2905 Delmar boulevard on Nov. 16.

A coroner's verdict of accident stop in time to avoid hitting him.

VERDICT AGAINST BOY
IN FATAL SHOOTING

He Is Accused of Criminal Carelessness in Killing of Man on Train.

A Coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness was returned today against 14-year-old Bingham Goerner, 941 Bonaparte avenue, Webster Groves, who unintentionally shot and killed an unidentified man who was on a passing freight train yesterday.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Joseph E. Egan of St. Louis County, who attended the inquest, said the boy would be remanded to the custody of his father, Ralph T. Goerner, until the case came up before the County Juvenile Court.

The boy told the Coroner's jury that he and his 12-year-old brother, Hugo, had run out of doors with Hugo's .22-caliber rifle, when they heard a dog in their rabbit pen. Dogs killed their rabbits last year, he added.

"I chased the dog out and fired a shot at him, to scare him," the boy testified. "He ran away. Then I fired a couple of shots at a tree and I heard this train coming along and there were two oil cars in it. I fired at the back of the first car, at a coupling or something."

The Boy's Testimony.
The boy said he saw some men riding on the front of the first tank car in the eastbound train, but none on the rear, where he said he aimed. He declared he did not know he had hit anyone and suggested that his bullet may have ricocheted.

Transient on Stand.
Leroy Lintner of Lancaster, Pa., one of the six transients on the car who were held by police overnight as witnesses and who will be sent on their way today, bathed, fed and with $1 apiece as witness fees, said he saw the boy aiming the rifle, and I thought he was pointing right at me. I tried to duck in behind the front of the car, but there were some other men there and I couldn't make it."

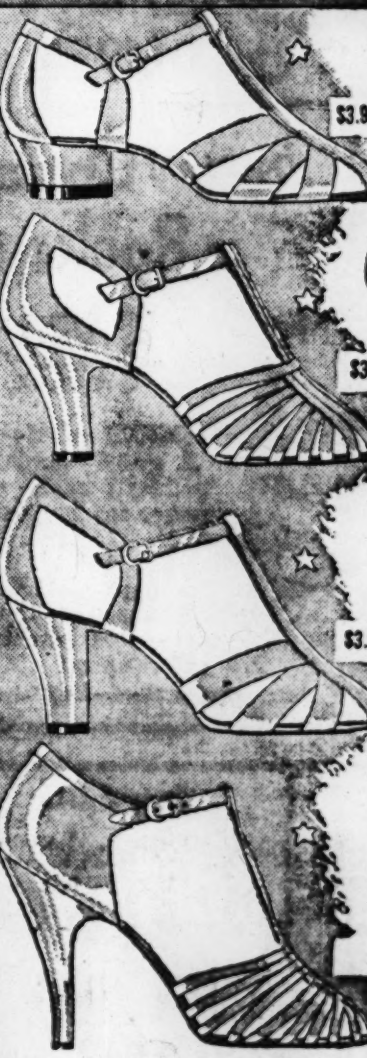

James Spencer, Negro, of East St. Louis, was standing next to the man shot, who is thought to be Gus Linden of Philadelphia, Pa., since he had that name on a piece of paper and had the initials "G. L." tattooed on his right arm.

"A colored boy asked me for a match and I turned to this fellow," said Spencer. "He reached in his pocket for one. Just then I heard a gun go off. He clutched at his throat and started to fall. He sagged down and another fellow and I sort of squatted on the running board of the car and held him until the train stopped, about 20 minutes later."

"No sir, I didn't ask his name. You know, us tramps, we never ask names. Tramps wouldn't tell you if you did. Just say none of your business."

MARTIN INSULL'S ATTORNEYS LOSE CONTENTION AT TRIAL

Try to Block Embellishment Case by Arguing Checks Are Not Money.
CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Martin Insull's attorneys lost a contention yesterday that checks are not money and the prosecutors continued their evidence in Insull's trial for embezzlement. The point, raised in a surprise move, had threatened to block the case, in which Insull is charged with using $344,720 of the funds of Middle West Utilities Co. to bolster his personal brokerage account in 1931. When prosecutors sought to introduce six checks as those by which the money was taken, defense attorneys demanded that they be barred. To prove that checks were drawn "at variance," with the charge that "Insull embezzled money, they argued. Judge Harrington ruled: "The checks were merely an instrumentality. The embezzlement here was not an embezzlement of checks, but of currency."

Turkey Market Stronger.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Dec. 14.—The poultry market in the Ozarks is much stronger than at Thanksgiving. Packing plants were paying 18 cents a pound, liveweight, for No. 1 quality young turkeys. This is a cent more than has been paid for several days. The best prices brought out for top quality turkeys sold prior to Thanksgiving were 15 and 16 cents a pound.

COST OF EACH RELIEF CASE DOUBLED IN CITY

Increase in Persons Receiving Aid Although Unemployment Is Same.

The number of unemployed in St. Louis last September, estimated at 88,700, was the same as for September, 1931, but there were more than four times as many relief cases, relief expenditures were almost nine times as great, and the cost of each case doubled, according to the annual report of the St. Louis Chapter of the American Red Cross which has been prepared for mailing to subscribers. Unemployment, relief cases, total expenditures and cost for each case are given in the order named as follows: September 1931, 88,700, $266, $110,479, $13; September 1932, 119,800, 21,552, $279,900, $12; October 1933, 95,800, 32,673, $627,000, $19; September 1934, 88,700, 38,206, $977,083, $25.50.

$60,000 by Private Agencies. The figures for 1931 and 1932 include both public and private relief cases, those for the two later years showing public cases only. It is necessary to add expenditures of about $60,000 by private agencies such as the Red Cross, in order to obtain comparable figures for 1933 and 1934.

The Red Cross spent $78,852 in 10 activities during the fiscal year ending Oct. 1. The principal amount, $49,790, was spent by the home service department providing relief and claims service to war veterans and their families. The department for the physically handicapped gave vocational training to 197 persons and spent $25,551.

35,205 Garments Made. Materials provided by the Citizens' Committee of Relief and Employment and from Government appropriated cotton enabled 2340 volunteer workers to produce 35,205 garments for free distribution to families receiving relief at a cost of only $60. Seventeen new volumes of Braille books were delivered to the Public Library for use by the blind. The cost was $980. Other expenditures: Recreation and services to patients at Veterans' Hospital, $35; first aid instructions to 1700 laymen, $630; life-saving classes attended by 1410, $1350; enrolling qualified nurses for duty in time of war or disaster, $106; instruction to mothers in home hygiene and care of the sick, $700; Junior Red Cross, $650.

SERVICE TONIGHT IN HONOR OF RABBI JULIAN MILLER

Leaders of Several Jewish Congregations to Take Part; Testimonial Dinner Sunday.

A testimonial service in honor of Rabbi Julian H. Miller's fiftieth anniversary with the B'Nai El congregation will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the temple, Delmar boulevard and Clara avenue. Rabbis Julius Gordon, Ferdinand M. Isserman, Abraham Halpern, Samuel Thurman, and Jacob R. Mazur will participate in the service. A special music program will be given under the direction of Thomas E. Avey. Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock, the congregation and its affiliated organizations will give a testimonial dinner to Rabbi Miller at the temple hall.

Rabbi Miller, 53 years old, was born in Savannah, Ga., and moved with his family to Omaha, Neb., where he received his early education. He attended the Hebrew Union College at Cincinnati and first served as a rabbi in Altona, Pa. Before coming to St. Louis, he served for 12 years as rabbi of Mizpah Temple in Chattanooga, Tenn. For the last six years, Rabbi Miller has sponsored progressive educational methods in the B'Nai El school, including classes in manual training, dramatics, plastic arts, history and Hebrew ethics. Rabbi and Mrs. Miller reside at the Embassy Apartments. They have two children.

UNION LAUNDRY DRIVERS STRIKE IN ITS FIFTH DAY

Efforts of Mayor to End Walkout to No Avail; 30 Firms Sign With Union.

The strike of union laundry drivers, whose demand for a closed shop contract was refused, entered the fifth day with no prospect of a settlement. Efforts of Mayor Dickmann and Harold Garvey, local director for the National Labor Relations Board, to end the strike were without effect. More than 30 firms have signed agreements with the union and are operating with union drivers. Forty-nine companies involved in the strike are operating with non-union chauffeurs, and one closed its plant. Lyle Benton, 1522 Menard street, a helper on a Morgan Laundry Co. truck, was beaten yesterday afternoon by several men while the truck was stopped in an alley back of 4515 Lindell boulevard. During the scuffle the windshield of the truck was smashed. The assailants fled in an automobile.

Two Gunmen Escape Jail. BEDFORD, Pa., Dec. 14.—Two men, picked up in a search for Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd six weeks ago, last night broke out of the Bedford County Jail after attacking the Sheriff. Fred Mustaine was recaptured by State police. John Bennett is still at large. The two were picked up by State police in an automobile officers said was stolen from Dallas, Tex. They were sentenced to one to two years on charges of violating the firearms act.

MAN, WIFE TURN ON GAS; SHE DIES BUT HE IS REVIVED

Police Find William Fabian, 66, Unconscious With Head in Woman's Lap.

William and Anna Fabian, married for 43 years and dreading to face an old age of poor health and economic insecurity, made their plans to die with as little inconvenience as possible to others, and yesterday, after a final embrace, turned on the gas in the kitchen of their home at 4219A North Twentieth street.

Eight hours later, at 2 p. m., police entered the neatly kept flat and found Mrs. Fabian dead, her husband unconscious. She was in a chair, and he on the floor beside her, his head resting in her lap. A blanket formed a tent which covered them and the stove, from which gas was flowing. Fabian, a cabinet maker, 66 years old, is recovering today at City Hospital.

Agreed on Plan Year Ago.
 "I'm sorry it didn't work out," he said to a Post-Dispatch reporter,

Tried to End Their Lives Together

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM FABIAN.

speaking in a quiet, even voice. "A year ago my wife and I decided that when the money ran out, we would make an end to it. She is lucky. Now it is too bad I won't be able to go to her funeral. We were always very happy."

For a week the Fabians had felt that death was imminent and inevitable. Mrs. Fabian had scrubbed the house from top to bottom, so that they might leave it in the best of order. Her husband had written a letter to be sent to the Probate court with their wills, instructions to an undertaker, a note to the real estate dealer with whom they had had dealings concerning their mortgaged home, and directions to police. These were written in a precise, firm hand.

Wednesday night they mailed the wills to the Probate Court, the note to the real estate dealer and the undertaker. On the dining room table they left the note to police: "The undersigned notified the Suedmeyer Undertaking Co. to arrange for our funeral (cremation.) There is a will mailed to the Probate Court, so everything should be left as it is until the officers arrive to take charge."

Why Husband Survived.
 They went to bed as usual, about 10 o'clock, and got up as usual, about 5:30 a. m. yesterday. They discussed whether they would sit in rockers or in straight chairs to await the effect of the gas, decided on the straight chairs, and sitting down side by side, threw the blanket over their heads and turned on the gas. Fabian's life was saved, probably, because he slumped down out of his chair to a level where the gas was not so concentrated. Shortly before 2 o'clock the first of their letters was delivered. Herbert P. Wyatt, real estate dealer, at 2102 East Grand boulevard, read his and immediately called police. Inhalators were sent to the flat, and with one of these Fabian was revived.

Fabian said he had been unable to obtain steady employment for seven years, and that his only regular income had been $12 a month received for rent of the first floor of the flat he owned.

INQUEST HELD IN SUICIDE OF CASHIER OF CLOSED BANK

Financial Troubles Due to Failure Caused H. W. Krieger's Act, Witness Say.

Straitened financial circumstances resulting from the failure in January, 1933, of the Twelfth Street National Bank, caused Harry W. Krieger, its vice-president and cashier, to end his life Wednesday night or early yesterday, according to testimony at the inquest this morning.

His brother-in-law, Carlton Cooley, 414 Mission court, University City, testified Krieger's "life was wrapped up in the bank" and added that he "had been on his uppers" financially since paying the 100 per cent assessment on his bank stock, as required by Federal law. He was not asked how many shares were held. A verdict of suicide was returned.

Krieger, who left his county home at 6 Belleview Acres Wednesday night, saying he was going to mail a letter, was found yesterday morning at the side of Goodfellow avenue, 200 yards south of Natural Bridge road. He had been in the head with a pistol which lay beside him. Funeral services will be held at the residence tomorrow.

HARRY GOODMAN ELECTED HEAD OF RETAIL CREDIT MEN

Christmas Party Held at Statler; the Rev. C. Oscar Johnson Speaks.

Harry Goodman, president of the Motor Finance Co., was elected president of the Associated Retail Credit Men of St. Louis last night at the twentieth annual Christmas party of the association at Hotel Statler. He succeeds Walter Cassmeyer of the Merchants' Ice & Fuel Co.

Goodman, who served as vice-president last year, formerly was connected with the association for 17 years, having started as an office boy. He resigned three years ago to enter the finance business. The Rev. C. Oscar Johnson, pastor of the Third Baptist Church, was the principal speaker at the party.

Other officers elected are: George Neuman, St. Louis Dairy Co., vice-president; Joseph Price, Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney, treasurer; and August J. Kruse of the Credit Bureau of St. Louis, secretary. Eight directors also were named.

JUDGES ACT TO SPEED UP 68 RECEIVERSHIP CASES

Attorneys Summoned to Show Why Litigation Should Not Be Terminated.

Receivers and their attorneys in 68 pending receiverships in Circuit Court have been summoned to show why the cases should not be terminated. A number of the receiverships have been pending for several years without any definite action, while in others the receivers have been delinquent in filing reports.

The suits are pending in the two equity divisions in which Judges Ryan and Green preside. Judge Ryan has set 49 of the cases on his docket for Monday with a view of making some disposition of them. Judge Green has called the receivers and attorneys in 19 cases to appear Thursday either to report or to terminate the litigation.

Ukrainian Poles Seek Home Rule.

WARSAW, Dec. 14.—Home rule for 3,900,000 Ukrainians living in Poland was demanded during a Senate debate on constitutional reform yesterday. Through their spokesman, Senator Horbaczewski, the Ukrainians said they would introduce a special article into the Constitution providing self-government for the Ukrainians.

CHARGES 7 ILLINOIS FIRMS ARE NRA VIOLATORS

Compliance Director Urges Prosecution; Pana and Beardstown Concerns Included.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Prosecution of seven Illinois firms, five of them in Chicago, on charges of violating the NRA codes of fair competition is asked by Frederic L. Roberts, acting NRA compliance director.

Roberts, in requesting State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney to institute proceedings against the five in Cook County, said that the NRA had tried to adjust code violations out of court, but where no disposition to comply with the codes was shown, efforts to invoke penalties would follow.

The downstate firms were automobile agencies, the Modern Chevrolet Sales, Inc., Beardstown, and the Pana Motor Sales Co. of Pana.

FRENCH TARIFF LEGISLATION

Committee Approves Giving Flaminio Dictatorial Powers.
PARIS, Dec. 14.—Transfer to Premier Flaminio of the dictatorial powers over legislative action held by former Premier Doumergue was approved by the Tariff Committee of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday.

The measure the committee approved would authorize Flaminio to change rates by decree until Nov. 15, 1935. Parliament would reserve the right to ratify changes later if it desired.

BONUS PAYMENT AT ONCE, URGED BY LEGION HEAD

F. N. Belgrano Jr., National Commander, Outlines "Americanism" Program in Speech Here.

Frank N. Belgrano Jr., national commander of the American Legion, discussed the legion's program of "Americanism" in an address before 800 persons last night at the Municipal Auditorium, emphasizing its major legislative program for immediate payment of adjusted service certificates, governmental protection for the families of deceased World War veterans, adoption of a law for universal service in war time and passage of legislation to assure adequate defense.

"The majority of World War veterans never ceased to believe that Congress should have settled the debt to veterans at the time the World War Compensation Act was passed in 1924," Belgrano said.

LEGION COMMANDER

FRANK N. BELGRANO JR.

"But, in a patriotic effort to help the Government balance its budget, we of the legion declined to press our case except on one previous occasion.

"Conditions, however, have changed. As an expedient for hastening recovery, for priming the machinery of business, and for meeting relief requirements, our Government is spending billions of dollars, necessarily increasing the national debt. In view of these circumstances, the legion says that now, if ever, is the time to pay off a debt. Why distribute recovery appropriations through channels which add to the national debt when the objective sought can be attained by paying a debt?

"Our position is that payment of adjusted service certificates offers an effective medium for carrying out the Governmental policy of spending for human relief and stimulation of business without adding to the national debt."

Says Bonus Will Be Spent.

"I do not say that the Government's spending policy is right or wrong. My sole desire is to have the country understand the right of the Legion's case in asking the Government to discharge this debt immediately as part of its relief and reconstruction program.

"The money spent for this purpose will not be hidden away in a veteran's sock. It will be used to pay bills at the corner grocery, to pay rents long past due; it will go to hard-pressed merchants to discharge the accounts of hard-pressed veterans; it will find its way quickly into every channel of business and trade."

In discussing the second recommendation of the major legislative program, that asking Government protection for needy families of deceased veterans, Belgrano said the Legion held that the duty to care for disabled veterans and their dependents was a solemn obligation of the Federal Government, not to be turned over to states, communities or private charities.

Conscription of Capital.

Adoption of the Legion's plan for war-time conscription of capital, industry and manpower to serve the nation without special preference or profit, Belgrano declared, would "not only be another deterrent to war, but if war should come would remove the injustices suffered by the men who bore the brunt of battle in the World War.

"It would," he added, "prevent a repetition of the waste of money and the profiteering that made our last conflict a tragic scandal. In an hour of crisis, the nation is entitled to the services of capital, industry and men on an equal basis, and that is what our universal service plan will assure."

Defense System Proposed.

Belgrano described the Legion's demands for national defense as "meager enough" to assure continued peace on this continent at a time when "the world is arming for war while we still preach the philosophy of splendid isolation."

He outlined the Legion's demands as follows: A standing army of 14,000 officers and 165,000 enlisted men; a national guard of 210,000 enlisted men with the proper complement of officers and a reserve corps of 120,000 officers; establishment of an R. O. T. C. in each qualified school desiring it, and Citizens' Military Training Camps equipped to train 50,000 youths annually; immediate construction to bring the Navy up to full strength authorized by the London Naval Treaty with increase of the regular enlisted personnel to 91,400 men; sufficiently strengthened and modernized air forces to assure safety against air attack; adequate peace-time supplies and planning for time of emergency.

"Peace-Time Enemy Aliens."

Belgrano referred briefly to other aims of the Legion, including revocation of recognition of Russia, additional hospital facilities for insane veterans, and improvement of immigration and deportation laws for protection against "peace-time enemy aliens."

Pointing out that the mandate of the Legion's recent convention was that "Americanism" should be its primary activity, Belgrano said, "Never before in our history was there a greater need for a revival in this country of a spirit of pure Americanism."

"I call on every loyal legionnaire to join me in a crusade this year to protect the principles on which our Republic is founded. If these principles are to survive, if our ideals of government are to live, we must open our eyes to the dangers that beset them. We must destroy the cancerous 'isms' that would tear from our midst the Stars and Stripes and replace it

140,000 CHRISTMAS TREES IN ST. LOUIS

Ready for Distribution to Retailers Monday; Prices Slightly Lower.

Shipments of approximately 140,000 Christmas trees are on the St. Louis market ready for distribution to retail stores generally next Monday, although some dealers already are displaying stocks.

The number of trees is about the same as is customarily received here, according to William Hartman, produce merchant, and retail prices will be slightly lower than last year, ranging from 35 cents for small trees to $25 for shapely specimens, 25 to 30 feet tall. The shipments totaled 50 carloads. Many of the trees already have been unloaded and stored for retail distribution. All are forest cut, Hartman said. Nurserymen in northern states where evergreens grow readily are cultivating trees for the Christmas harvest, because of gradual depletion of forest growth and the profit it offers. In most places where extensive forest cuttings of Christmas trees are carried on, seedlings are planted. Ten years or more of growth is required for the seedling to reach a size suitable for Christmas cutting.

There are three types of trees in the shipments, balsam fir from Canada, Douglas fir from Washington, and spruce from Minnesota, Maine and Vermont. The spruce have dark green round needles clustered all around the branches, and the fir are a lighter green with flat needles which mostly lie in a horizontal position on each side of the branch. Fir bark is lighter in color than spruce.

The largest trees of the shipment are in demand for school, lodge, hotel and club entertainments, Hoffman said. Excess trees are usually bought up by cemeteries.

EX-INFORMER SAYS KARPIS, GANGSTER, DRUGGED HIM

Former Convict Asserts Federal Officers Sent Him to Find Fugitive After Release.

JOEET, Ill., Dec. 14.—A man who said he was Alfred Geonia, a former convict and informer in the Kansas State Penitentiary at Lansing, was held at the county jail today after telling authorities he escaped from Alvin Karpis, widely hunted gangster, and two companions, after he had been drugged by Karpis. Karpis is sought as one of the men involved in the $100,000 kidnapping of Edward G. Bremer of St. Paul.

Geonia was taken to a hospital last night and later removed to the jail after he staggered into a roadhouse near Plainfield, apparently suffering from the effects of a drug or poison.

Geonia said that after his release from the Kansas prison he went to the Department of Justice at Kansas City at the suggestion of E. M. Stubblefield, assistant warden of the Kansas prison. There, he said, he was told to go to Chicago to look for Karpis. He related that he proceeded to Elgin, near where he met two men in a roadhouse, whose names he gave. They told him, he asserted, to walk out to a certain road and that they would pick him up in a car. When they met him, he said, Karpis was with them. They went to a saloon, he continued, where Karpis bought him a drink. He said later he became ill and Karpis pushed him out of the machine after accusing him of being an informer.

Buffalo Meat for Sale.

MOORE, Mont., Dec. 14.—A carload of dressed buffalo meat is on its way to Eastern and Midwestern markets. Because of drought on the national bison range and of damage by forest fires last summer, 50 buffalo have been slaughtered.

300 ORDERED TO MOVE FOR FEAR OF FLOODS

Torrential Rains Threaten Montrose, Cal., Near Which 30 Lost Lives Last Jan. 1.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 14.—With a torrential rain falling in the Sierra Madre, 15 miles north of Los Angeles, county flood control authorities today ordered more than 300 residents of Montrose to leave their homes at once and find places of safety.

The Montrose-La Crescenta area, where the 1934 New Year's day storm caused more than 30 deaths and heavy property damage, the heaviest rainfall occurred today since a storm last Tuesday. J. R. Mimi, Deputy County Flood Control Engineer, warned residents a wall of water was rushing down Pikes Canyon, the mouth of which is only a short distance from the main streets of Montrose.

Pikes Canyon was one of those in the foothill area swept by forest fires last spring, the slopes being denuded of vegetation.

DR. BEEBE DESCRIBES WEIRD DEEP SEA FISH

Some of Them Make Chinese Dragons Seem Commonplace, Diver Says.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. — The world's most efficient light, 25 times as effective as the average electric light manufactured by man, is produced by fish that live in the depths of the sea.

This light is "cold light," says Dr. William Beebe, who made a record dive to a depth of 3023 feet in his steel "Bathysphere" last summer. None of the energy that produces the light shown by these fish is wasted as heat, he points out, whereas most of our electric lights produce only about 3 or 4 per cent light, and the rest of their energy goes into production of heat, useless for lighting purposes.

The light produced by the deep sea fish is electric light, although how it is produced is largely a mystery to science. Not only do some of these fish have luminous rows of lights along their sides like porpoises, but some even have teeth that shine due to a luminous mucous covering. When scraped off on a man's finger this material continues to shine for a short time.

Strange Creatures of Deep.
Dr. Beebe told the National Geographic Society, which sponsored his deep-sea explorations, that his observations of fish far below the surface showed that scientists had little more than an inkling of the amazing creatures that live deep in the sea.

The nets used to bring up samples of life from great depths catch only the "moron" fish, says Dr. Beebe, giving scientists a far from accurate picture of the life that actually exists there. He compares exploring the sea with nets to explorers from Mars trying to get an idea of life on the earth by dragging a huge net suspended from a Zeppelin through the streets of a large city.

There are creatures in the depths of the sea, he says, that make the most fearsome dragon of Chinese legend or the strangest creatures in "Alice in Wonderland" seem commonplace by comparison.

One has attached to its thin, delicate lower lip a tentacle 10 times as long as its own body, well equipped with electric lights, which it pulls through the water.

Fish With "Rod and Line."
Some deep-sea shrimps, when attacked, shoot toward the enemy a cloud of luminous vapor that blinds the assailant in the darkness where no sunlight penetrates. It is as blinding as having a sky-rocket suddenly explode before your eyes, says Dr. Beebe.

Still another deep-sea creature carries attached to its back a "rod and line," with three "electric lights" and three bone hooks on the end of the line. Presumably these have some purpose in attracting food to the fish, although they are not used in the same manner as a mah-made fish line.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 14.—Any doubt as to the appointment of Gov. Park of a Missouri Successor to the late John T. Fitzsimmons, Democrat, St. Louis, who died four days after he was elected Nov. 6 for a year term in Division No. 1, court, was removed yesterday when Judge Frank E. Atwood, Republican, whom Fitzsimmons would have succeeded, tendered his resignation to the Governor, effective Jan. 1, 1935. The term for which Atwood was elected expires Dec. 31, 1935.

Some question had arisen whether the Governor could point a successor, since Fitzsimmons died before the election results were certified, and before the date on which he could have been elected for the office for which elected. Some attorneys contended that Judge Atwood would hold office until 1936, when a successor elected in the 1936 general election and others contended a would exist on Jan. 1 when Governor could fill by appointment.

No Desire to "Holdover"
In his letter of resignation Atwood expressed the view that a vacancy would exist under the circumstances, but had no desire "to holdover this technical right."

Gov. Park has held the view that a vacancy would exist, under the Constitution and laws, and planned to make an appointment as soon as possible. He has said he would not appoint until a day or two after Jan. 1. The appointment for two years. A successor, remaining eight years of the term will be elected in the general election in November, 1936. Fitzsimmons, who was a member of the Supreme Court suddenly on Nov. 10, in a hospital, where he had gone for medical observation after the election campaign.

Atwood's letter to the Governor followed. "There has been much speculation as to whether a vacancy in office will result from the death of Judge Fitzsimmons on Jan. 1, 1935, from the fact that the late John T. Fitzsimmons died before the election results were officially certified and he could have qualified."

"Under the Constitution of this State a duly elected and qualified Judge of the Court may hold office for a term of 10 years and until his successor is elected or appointed. It is my duty to make an appointment as soon as possible, and I hereby tender my resignation as Judge of the Court, effective Jan. 1, 1935."

ROME, Dec. 14.—Italy's refusal to accept arbitration in the frontier fight between Abyssinians and Italian soldiers today, there is nothing to doubt it was Abyssinians who started the fight, the Italian minister in Italian Somalia said today. Italy's Minister of Foreign Affairs today, pressing a demand for an apology. It was said that Italian casualties were 30 killed and 60 wounded. A recent report said 110 Ethiopians were killed. The fight was at an advanced outpost. The version of the clash was that Italian forces penetrated across the border.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 14.—Any doubt as to the appointment by Gov. Park of a Missouri Supreme Court Justice to succeed the late John T. Fitzsimmons, Democrat, of St. Louis, who died four days after he was elected last Nov. 6 for a 10-year term in Division No. 1 of the court, was removed yesterday when Judge Frank E. Atwood, Republican, whom Fitzsimmons would have succeeded, tendered his resignation to the Governor, effective Jan. 1, 1935. The term for which Atwood was elected expires Dec. 31.

A successor, for the remaining eight years of the term, will be elected in the general election in November, 1936.

Fitzsimmons, who was a Commissioner of the Supreme Court, died suddenly on Nov. 10, in a St. Louis hospital, where he had gone for rest and medical observation following the election campaign.

Atwood's Letter. Judge Atwood's letter to the Governor follows: "There has been much public speculation as to whether or not a vacancy in office will result in Division No. 1 of the Supreme Court on Jan. 1, 1935, from the fact that the late John T. "As the duly elected and qualified incumbent of the office to which Judge Fitzsimmons was elected I have no desire to holdover under this technical right. In order to remove any doubt that a vacancy will exist on Jan. 1, 1935, and that you may have the widest opportunity to make a proper appointment, I hereby tender my resignation as Judge of the Supreme Court, effective Jan. 1, 1935."

CHAIN STORES ARE APPROVED
IN FEDERAL TRADE INQUIRY

Board Informs Senate That They Do Not Violate Existing Anti-Trust Laws—Suggests Reconsideration of Sherman Act.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Federal Trade Commission, after a six-year inquiry, informed the Senate today that chain stores apparently do not violate existing anti-trust laws.

The report, which had been requested by the Senate, indicated that a reconsideration of the monopoly section of the Sherman law might be desirable.

"It may be said," the commission stated as to the chain stores, "that as far as agreements, conspiracies or combinations in restraint of trade are concerned, the inquiry has failed to disclose any such practices."

"On the contrary, chain companies within the various commodity groups actively compete with other chains in the same group."

Actual and Potential. On the broader questions involved the commission said: "The broad prohibition of the Sherman law against monopoly has been narrowed by interpretation of the courts to mean that only actual, as distinguished from potential monopoly, is unlawful, and that the mere possession of monopolistic power in the absence of overt acts indicating an illegal use thereof is not a violation of this statute."

"If there should develop one gigantic all-inclusive chain store system for each line of distribution, its status as an unlawful monopoly

AUDITORIUM REVENUE
FROM LIQUOR $2227

City's Return From Restaurant and Other Concessions $484 Since April.

The city has received $2227 as its share of the proceeds from the sale of liquor in the barroom and restaurant at the Municipal Auditorium since the building was opened last April. This represents 18 per cent of the $12,300 spent for liquor at the concession.

From the sale of food the city has received $409, and from candy, cigarettes and cigars, $75, making a total of $2712. Liquor commissions make up 82 per cent of the city's share.

Under a five-year contract with Garnett Mills, Inc., the city is to receive a commission of 18 per cent on gross liquor sales, 10 per cent on food and 7 per cent on candy, cigarettes and cigars. The Mills company, which also operates the various concessions at the Municipal Theater during the summer, pays no rent for the restaurant and barroom, which adjoins the main lobby and ticket offices on the first floor of the building.

The concession did a brisk business during the first two weeks it was opened when large crowds were attracted to the dedicatory exercises, the industrial exposition and the grand opera season. Business fell off during the summer, but has picked up since September, with the return of grand opera, the symphony concerts and other attractions.

SAYS GOVERNMENT FEEDS
ONE OUT OF THREE IN U. S.

Congressman Taber Estimates 40,000,000 Are on Relief or Federal Payroll.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Representative Taber (Rep.), New York, said today that "under the blight of the New Deal there are 40,000,000 or a third of the population directly or indirectly being fed by the Government."

"I have not been able," he told newspaper men, "to find any improvement in private employment." He said there were 9,750,000 families dependent on Government relief or wages. He estimated the average family consisted of four persons.

"Relief Administrator Hopkins admits 5,000,000 families are on the relief rolls," Taber said. "There are 450,000 in the Civilian Conservation Corps. Secretary Ickes says the Public Works Administration is providing work for 1,500,000 directly and a million indirectly. On top of that there are approximately 1,800,000 on the Government pay and pension rolls."

"I can't see the end of this. If the Government would let private business get started, then the relief burden would be lowered."

JAPAN COMPLETES RAIL LINE

System Pushed to Soviet Border at Heiho, Manchoukuo.

By the Associated Press.
HEIHO, Manchoukuo, Dec. 14.—Japan's strategic system of railways today reached the Amur River, northern boundary of Manchoukuo. High officials of the Japanese and Manchoukuo military units attended a celebration of the line, with the completion of the line. Officials of the South Manchurian Railway also attended.

could be attacked only to the extent it had violated the law in attaining monopoly, and exercised its monopolistic power contrary to law.

"The situation may call for reconsideration by Congress of the public policy involved in the monopoly section of the Sherman law."

10 Pct. of Stores in Chains. Census Bureau figures for 1929 show that 10 per cent of all retail stores in the country then belonged to chains, and made 22 per cent of sales.

In that year there were 1,543,158 retail stores in the United States, the total sales of which were $49,114,653,269. Chain store organizations numbered 7061, operating 159,638 stores and selling $10,740,385,208 worth of merchandise.

Local chains operated 12,465 stores and made total sales of $3,293,890,233; sectional chains, 41,083 stores, with sales of $2,191,250,396, and national chains operated 51,055 stores, with sales of $3,960,086,992.

Other types of chains, not included in these three general classifications, operated 15,032 stores, with sales of $1,295,157,587.

The figures showed that nearly 20 cents of every dollar spent in retail stores by the consumer went to chain organizations, with a wide variation in the proportion of retail sales of chain stores in different states, ranging from as low as $1 in $14 in Mississippi, to $1 in $4 of total sales in the District of Columbia.

William Green Asks for Continued Governmental Regulation of Industry.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Labor's insistence that the proposed new NRA provide for continued governmental regulation and administration of industry was expressed to President Roosevelt today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Green presented labor's entire formula for a permanent national recovery act to take the place of the existing NIRA which expires in June. The labor program calls for renewal of the collective bargaining clause in the same language provided by Section 7A; continuation of provisions for maximum wages; a minimum wage; the writing into law of the anti-child labor policy; continued prohibition of unfair trade practices; and equal representation by labor with industry on all administrative boards.

In addition, Green presented to the President a recommendation of the A. F. of L. convention for an investigation of the qualifications and the attitude of Clay Williams of North Carolina, head of the NRA executive board.

M'ADOO'S CONDITION IMPROVED

Senator Treated at Army Hospital at Manila.

By the Associated Press.
MANILA, P. I., Dec. 14.—Senator William Gibbs McAdoo of California is suffering from "an irritation of the intestinal tract" and will remain under observation in army hospital here several days, physicians said tonight.

He was stricken yesterday while on a flight from Manila to Manila in connection with a senatorial investigation of Philippine independence act terms, and was flown back here for treatment today. "Following treatment at the hospital his condition improved materially during the afternoon," said a statement issued by Sternberg General Hospital. "At 10 p. m. he was sleeping quietly. There was no manifestation such as to cause immediate alarm."

Held by Japanese at Shanghai. SHANGHAI, Dec. 14.—Alexander Buchman of Cleveland, O., a reporter for a local Chinese-owned English language daily newspaper, was held for three hours today by a Japanese naval landing party because he had photographed Japanese naval headquarters in the Shanghai international settlement.

The Japanese released Buchman after United States Consular authorities intervened and he permitted the landing party to take the films.

DEBTOR NATIONS SERVE
NEW DEFAULT NOTICE

Only Finland Announces Intention to Pay; No Word From Three Countries.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Envoys from European debtor nations called at the State Department today to serve official notice that their governments would default on war debt payments totaling $630,000,000 due tomorrow.

France, Italy, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary all sent notes explaining they would be unable to make payments for the following amounts: France, $163,616,841; Italy, $30,561,195; Poland, $28,972,907; Czechoslovakia, $6,118,521; Hungary, $20,247,247. Latvia, owing $642,028, announced at Riga that she would default.

Great Britain and Belgium previously had informed the State Department they would default. Only Finland has announced intention to pay.

Andre de Laboulaye, the French Ambassador, left a note which will be made public tomorrow morning.

Debtor nations still to be heard from and amounts they will owe tomorrow are: Estonia, $1,843,125; Lithuania, $490,499; Rumania, $2,348,250.

The Hungarian note announced, Hungary would deposit to the foreign creditors' account at the Hungarian National Bank a Hungarian Treasury certificate in Pengo equivalent to the amount due and bearing interest at the rate of 2 per cent.

3 AUSTRIAN FOREIGN OFFICE MEN ACCUSED OF ESPIONAGE

Copies of Stolen Documents Are Found in Secret Nazi Propaganda Office.

VIENNA, Dec. 14.—A secret Nazi propaganda office, raided by police yesterday, yielded copies of various documents stolen from the Foreign Office. Two men were arrested.

Earlier the arrest of three officials of the Foreign Office was announced, and authorities said they were convinced these officials were supplying the Nazis with secret information as to the Government's elaborate security measures. The semi-official newspaper Reichspost said the three jailed had discarded as important state documents to enemies of the government.

Old-fashioned rifles and carbines with which the police have been equipped are being discarded as rapidly as possible and replaced by sub-machine guns capable of spraying 36 bullets from one magazine alone. Hand grenades and steel helmets also will be issued.

Ten secret police officers with the supposed Socialist cause were arrested today as they cheered former Mayor Karl Seitz, recently released from prison, when he appeared in Viennar's famous Ringstrasse.

MACHADO LEAVES HAMBURG
AS EXTRADITION IS SOUGHT

Interlaken, Switzerland, Suggested As Possible Destination of Cuban Ex-President.

By the Associated Press.
HAMBURG, Germany, Dec. 14.—Gerardo Machado, former President of Cuba, left here today just a few moments before German secret police called at his hotel. He was reported to have taken a train, possibly for Interlaken, Switzerland.

Dispatches from Havana said the Cuban Government had instructed its legation in Berlin to seek his extradition to Cuba, where he is accused of murder as dictator of the republic, and it was rumored that the secret police had tried to advise him that he had better leave Germany in order to avoid trouble.

NATIONAL GROUP TO FIGHT CRIME TO BE FORMED

Efforts of All Peace Officers to Be Co-ordinated by Plan Adopted at Conference.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The National Crime Conference, in its concluding session last night, voted to set up a perpetual national crime organization to co-ordinate the efforts of all peace officers and to establish a "national scientific and educational center" here for the study of better anti-crime methods. The center will be a sort of West Point for peace officers.

"We are in for a long-time program," Attorney-General Cummings said. "It will require unremitting service for a period of years."

The Justice Department—establishing the "West Point"—is prepared at the start to instruct about 20 men in the methods it used to bring down John Dillinger, "Pretty Boy" Floyd, "Babe Face" Nelson and Wilbur Underhill. The nature of other courses to be offered has yet to be determined.

William Stanley, Assistant Attorney-General, pointed to statistics presented by Prof. Thorsten Sellin of the University of Pennsylvania as "probably the most reliable" figures available.

Sellin said: "In 1933 there were probably a minimum of 1,300,000 serious crimes known to the police of this country. In three-fourths of these crimes no one was brought to justice."

Of so-called minor offenses, including liquor and motor vehicle cases, he estimated that there must have been 15,000,000 known to the police. He exclaimed: "These are almost unbelievable figures!"

The conference also: Condemned methods of dealing with industrial conflicts and racial antagonisms not in accord with law and order. Criticized "the abuse of the parole and pardon power as tending to undermine respect for law and order."

Recommended changes in criminal procedure. Some of these would: Permit the accused to be tried by a Judge instead of a jury if he desires; makes verdicts by less than unanimous votes possible; permit the court to comment on failure of an accused to testify in his own behalf; permit the selection of jurors to serve if regular jurors are unable to continue.

Criticized "the practice of unduly dramatizing stories of crime" and commended publications which have rendered substantial aid in the identification of wanted criminals.

Condemned "unsafe, unsanitary and insecure conditions" in many local jails; the "activities of lawyer criminals," and the "protection too often given to criminals and racketeers by persons in professional, business, political and official positions."

Snowstorm in Nova Scotia.

HALIFAX, Dec. 14.—A snowstorm swept Nova Scotia early today, toppling communication lines and blocking roads through the province's whole length. Cape Breton Island, at the eastern extremity of the province, was virtually cut off from communication with the outside world.

LLOYD GEORGE URGES BRITAIN
TO TRY U. S. RELIEF METHODS

Declares American Effort at Least Is Commensurate With Stupendous Character of Problem.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—David Lloyd George counseled the House of Commons yesterday to adopt American methods in dealing with the relief problem. Assailing the Government's Depressed Areas Bill as "just petty cash," he said it showed the Government "didn't quite understand something catastrophic has happened to the economic system of the whole world."

"America understood," he said, "and is making an effort which at any rate is commensurate with the stupendous character of the problem. Whether the experiment succeeds or fails there, nobody ever dreams of going back to the old system."

Lloyd George said there was too much talk of the pride Great Britain takes in its unemployment situation as compared to that in other countries.

"The only notice we might expect to be taken," he said, "would be that our creditors, the United States, would say, 'If you are so much better off than we are, isn't it time you paid your debts to us?'"

The British Government's Depressed Areas Bill contemplates an initial expenditure of $10,000,000 to combat unemployment in those British regions where recovery has not yet been felt—South Wales, Cumberland, north of England and Scotland.

ASSAILS LUMBER CODE ENFORCEMENT BY NRA

Hardwood Group Leader Says Laxity at Start Caused "Chaotic" Condition.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—NRA was accused yesterday of responsibility for the "chaotic" condition in the lumber industry due to failure to enforce the code, by Lee Robinson of Mount Vernon, Ala., former president of the Hardwood Manufacturers' Institute.

Robinson painted a dark picture of conditions in the industry in the South and declared "the responsibility for the present situation rests squarely on NRA and not on the industry." He appeared at the hearings on the West Coast Lumbermen's Association petition for elimination of price fixing.

The Alabama operator opposed the petition, but argued that unless NRA gave immediate enforcement the entire code should be dropped. Robinson disagreed with opponents of price fixing who had testified that wage and hour provisions of the code would not be affected by elimination of prices.

"The trend of labor violations is about the same as price cutting violation," he said, "and as price violations increase, wage and hour violations will keep step. There are many Southern mills now working men 50 to 60 hours a week at 10 cents an hour."

"It is absolutely impossible to maintain wages at about twice what men are seeking for their services without price control," Robinson said he agreed with statements of S. V. Fullaway of Portland, Ore., secretary-manager of the Western Pine Association, and H. D. Mortensen of Klamath Falls, Ore., who said the emergency in the industry now is more apparent than at the time the prices were made effective.

Fred Bringardner of the Appalachian Hardwood Manufacturers Association, Lexington, Ky., predicted that removal of the price fixing divisions of the code would lead to the breakdown of the entire structure.

Mortensen declared "there is a growing sentiment that NRA cannot enforce the code and even that NRA doesn't want to enforce it." He said that if the NRA had undertaken an early enforcement when violators were few "we wouldn't be here today. A great many of the price violators of today were forced there for self-preservation against those few early violators who were taking the business."

The hearing closed yesterday. Although both sides urged that an immediate decision be made, no intimation was given by NRA officials as to when the matter would be decided.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

For War on St. Louis Smoke.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
S MOKE commissioners, deputy smoke commissioners and laws will never stop the smoke in St. Louis so long as soft coal is burned. Law is a rule of human conduct, adopted and lived up to by a great majority of the populace. As soon as statutory laws are not upheld by the great majority, they fail, regardless of the amount of money spent in enforcement. Witness the old speed laws and the late prohibition laws.

What is the solution? The problem of smoke, like many other modern problems, requires money to win the battle, and yet after the battle is won the investment is returned with interest, and the net cost is less than nothing. Do you think that cities like Chicago, New York, Detroit or Cleveland would have stood for our fight? These progressive communities take the bull by the horns and go forward with great civic enterprises.

Why not offer a prize for the best practical solution to the smoke problem? Make the prize worth while, so that some of our brilliant engineers can afford to spend a little time on the problem. Let's have discussions of plans; not idle talk, but definite plans, leaving out the big stick and laws and smoke inspectors.

Could the city erect a municipal coking plant, making the cost of gas and coke so low that people would flock to this type of fuel without laws to make them do so? The soft-coal interests would still be protected, as it takes soft coal to make coke and gas. Some few people might be damaged, but there is no one great thing that benefits a great number of people but damages some few persons.

Could the city take over the gas company, or subsidize it in such a manner as to cheapen gas and coke? Industrial plants could continue the use of soft coal with proper smoke-consuming devices. Numbers of them would turn to gas if cheapened just 15 to 30 per cent.

What about the cost? The cost would be nothing in the final analysis. If enough people used gas and coke, the price could be reduced enormously on account of production. Yet enough people cannot use them because the price is too high. Then do not forget other factors of costs which enter into the final cost. The expense of dirt: clothes, houses, curtains, walls, spouts, gutters, trees, grass, paint, wood, steel, and another, stone. What does it cost to clean the foregoing items that must be cleaned, and replace those items that are literally eaten up by the sulphur fumes?

Who will open the pot to be put up for prize money? Let's criticize the above plan. Let's offer another. And another, and another! Let's get rid of smoke! Save St. Louis! Save St. Louis real estate! Save the St. Louis residential district! Wake up! Save the apartments and hotels! Stop the exodus to the country! Real estate men: Residential districts can be built right in the heart of town, the same as in Chicago, Philadelphia and New York. PROGRESS.

For Taxation of Intangibles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
S WALLACE says that the 36,000 families in the United States with the greatest income received as much in 1929 as the 11,000,000 families with the least income. This would not have been true if notes and securities, deeds, titles, leases and other instruments of convenience used for the purpose of barter, investment or speculation were deemed non-negotiable and invalid unless and until they have been attested by the seal of an assessor indicating that their actual value had been duly determined and assessed; and if all these were then equitably taxed and the tax collected.

Then every comfortable and moderately improved home of a reasonable valuation in our land, whether it be located down on the farm or up in the city, might become exempt from mortgage and taxation; incomes below $10,000 per year would be tax exempt, and neither old-age pensions nor unemployment insurance would ever become a great national burden. C. S. STRAUSS.
Wellsville, Mo.

The Raid at Old Monroe.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I FEEL it my duty to compliment A. J. I Beck for stating in this column the situation with reference to the alleged violation of regulations practiced in would-be duck hunting on the Cuivre River. I also wish to commend U. S. Game Management Agent Harry Barneimer for his prompt action in the raid. Mr. Brock stated that the blinds were 75 or 80 feet apart and rented from $250 to $5 per foot per day. Agent Barneimer claims he found the blinds only about 40 feet apart, therefore in effect giving the hunter 75 decoys to shoot over, left and right. But Mr. Barneimer says he does not intend to recommend proceedings against any person except one, because he thinks the 85 other men did not know they violated the regulations. But if they claim they are professional guides and do not acquaint themselves with the regulations, I say something is wrong. The migratory bird hunting stamp which we duck hunters purchased will not conserve the birds if violators are set free in such cases very often. G. KLABER.

THE PERFECT ECHO.

Speaking in New York recently, Secretary Wallace urged what he termed the 36,000 families at the top of the economic pyramid to realize their social responsibility to the 11,000,000 families which he said were at the bottom of the pyramid.

"The men of these 36,000 families," he said, "are in position to influence the key decisions of all the great corporations of the land."

The perfect echo of the Secretary's address came three days later, when the Treasury made public its preliminary statistics of income for 1933. Those statistics showed how persistent is the accumulation of wealth in the topmost brackets. Forty-six individuals reported for the purpose of income taxes that their incomes in 1933 had exceeded $1,000,000. The number of persons in this bracket had more than doubled since the 1932 returns.

A single individual reported for 1933 an income in excess of $5,000,000, whereas there had been no such income in 1932. The average individual net income of this group in 1933 was $1,773,021.

The number of those paying income taxes on $5000 or less declined in 1933, as did the number of those paying on from $5000 to $10,000. The Treasury received for 1933 a total of 3,660,105 returns. For 1932 it had received 3,760,402 returns. Of the total for 1933, only 47.3 per cent were found to be taxable, whereas 49.59 per cent of the larger number for 1932 had been found to be taxable. That is, the income at the bottom of the pyramid has progressively decreased in the depression.

The number of persons having net incomes of $100,000 or more increased from 1787 in 1932 to 2047 in 1933. This group had a total net income of $463,003,941 last year as compared with $373,805,700 in 1932. The group represented .058 per cent of those filing returns, had 4.27 of the net income reported and paid 36.66 per cent of the tax. In 1932 it represented .047 of those filing returns, had 3.34 per cent of the reported net income and paid 33.57 per cent of the tax. Thus this group increased in number and in aggregate net income.

Mr. Wallace did not tell the country anything new. The country has known for a long time of the lopsided national economy. It has not forgotten that in 1929 the income of 513 individuals was sufficient to have purchased practically the whole of the wheat and cotton crops of 1930, representing the labor of more than 2,300,000 farmers.

The nation was quite prepared to learn this week through the munitions inquiry, for the first time, what the profits of some of the great corporations have been and how these profits have tended to place inordinate wealth in the hands of a few. For instance, six members of the du Pont family reported incomes in excess of $1,000,000 a year for various years in the period from 1915 to 1920.

The year 1917 alone added 47 persons to the list of these reporting annual incomes of $1,000,000 or more. The list is shorter now than it has been, but it still reveals clearly the basic difficulty with our industrial civilization. It still shows how an unequal division of the profits of industry impairs the purchasing power of the masses, without which mass production cannot continue.

Mr. Wallace said:
It is interesting to reflect that in 1929 in the United States the 36,000 families with the greatest income received as much as the 11,000,000 families with the least income. Again in 1934, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation figures, published Nov. 30, indicate that the 300,000 deposit accounts over $5000 each averaged $25,000, while the remaining 50,000,000 deposit accounts averaged $325 each.

The Secretary charges that this concentration of wealth and its indisposition to yield anything constitute the chief obstacle to the social and political readjustment demanded by the Machine Age. He sounds a pertinent warning.

It is appropriate, we believe, to recall what was said in "The Country's Plight," an analysis of the depression published by the Post-Dispatch more than three years ago:
What we need, fundamentally, is a broader distribution of the profits of industry.

Restoration of world prosperity would help us, but there would remain the great underlying problem . . . of how to bring about the readjustment made necessary by the concentration of too great wealth, with the aid of the machine, in comparatively few hands.

Time has abundantly vindicated that diagnosis of our ills.

A REPUBLICAN TO WATCH.

In electing Gov. John G. Winant of New Hampshire to succeed Prof. John R. Commons of the University of Wisconsin, the National Consumers' League has a new president whose interest in progressive causes has been amply demonstrated. As chief executive of one of the smallest states in the Union, he has achieved a record which has made him one of the nation's outstanding Governors. Under his guidance, New Hampshire early came to grips with the depression by enacting social and labor legislation relating to unemployment, reforestation and the like. No one can know what the future holds for public men, but judging by present indications, Gov. Winant is among those with prospects. If he is elected to the United States Senate in 1936, as is being forecast, he will most certainly become a political figure of national notice. John G. Winant is a Republican to keep an eye on.

DR. BEARD'S INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

Distinguished leadership is enjoyed by the group of Missouri Pacific bondholders who are seeking to have the Interstate Commerce Commission investigate that railroad's bankruptcy. Dr. Charles A. Beard, the historian and political scientist, who for many years was a professor at Columbia University, is a scholar of eminence and integrity. Through his many articles in magazines such as Harper's, and books like his monumental "Rise of American Civilization," he has come to occupy high place in the estimation of discerning readers.

Declaring that it will persist in its purpose until the issues "are heard from Maine to California," Dr. Beard says his committee will seek to find out, among other things, "whether the business of investment and investment banking is to provide real capital for constructive and productive operations or whether it is to gather up the savings of people and pour a huge percentage of the total into private pockets through paper manipulations." In such an inquiry the committee will have the interest of investors generally, many of whom have placed their savings in fields of finance other than railroads.

All too often the public interest has been lost sight of, if not deliberately ignored, in reorganizations, as we noted recently in connection with the Federal inquiry into real estate receiverships. There is every reason to believe that Dr. Beard's committee will reason the historian's happy combination of perspective and concern with the public welfare to the task which he and his fellow bondholders have cut out for themselves.

AN ARMY FOR THE LEAGUE.

The League of Nations is assembling its first international army. Not, however, for the purpose of coercing an aggressor nation, as some of its founders expected and hoped it would do, but as an instrument of keeping the peace. The Saar Basin will be the scene of this army's activities during the period when the population's vote of next Jan. 13 on the fate of their region will be in the spotlight.

The army will consist of British, Italian, Dutch, Swedish and perhaps Argentine soldiers, numbering about 3800, and commanded by a British officer. The force is now moving toward the Saar.

It will be this army's duty to keep order in the area through the election period, a task far simpler for a force of varied and neutral nationalities than for French troops, which had been offered for use if necessary. France being an interested party, whose alleged designs on the Saar have been capitalized in Nazi propaganda, the presence of her troops could have had only an irritating influence.

It was an unexpected change of policy by the British that made possible this innovation in international affairs. England cast off her customary aloofness for the occasion, and consented to send men across the channel in the interests of helping guarantee a fair election and preserving the peace in what might still, despite the Franco-German compromise, be a dangerous situation. France showed a commendable spirit of conciliation, too, in acknowledging that the Saar patrol was an international matter, not merely an issue between the two countries, and inviting the Council to take charge of police arrangements. Germany, while expressing the view that extra guards will not be necessary, accepted the arrangement in good spirit, making a request only that no Russian or Czechoslovakian troops be used, which the Council readily granted.

Only two similar incidents are on record. A force of Allied soldiers, not under League control, was in Upper Silesia during and after the plebiscite of 1921. Colombian troops, enrolled under the League banner, occupied the disputed region at the time of the Leticia affair last year. The Saar army, hence, will be the League's first international force. It will undeniably be a great contribution to keeping the peace in the region, and an admirable precedent for international action in a troubled situation. It can scarcely be interpreted, however, as the forerunner of a definite policy of punitive action by an international force, as embodied in the much-controverted Article X, the chief factor in keeping the United States out of the League.

Edgar Rice Burroughs, creator of Tarzan, has secured a divorce on the charge of cruelty. Who was it that said the style is the man?

A COMPLACENT SCRIBE.

The country has one man who scans the year of repeal and finds it eminently satisfactory. He is Henry L. Mencken and he has rarely, if ever, been seen leading the cheering. All is well, as he sees it, along all the liquor fronts.

The feature that engages his special admiration is the price scale. The cost has been so reduced, he figures, as to purge liquor buying of its pre-repeal ostentation, and yet has remained high enough to dissuade the thrifty from indulging. In a word, consumption has been restricted, broadly speaking, to those that can afford it. The principle of capacity to pay has somehow or other been put into effect, and the consequences are happy.

One complaint is registered, but in an incongruously apologetic key for the Baltimore belligerent. The tax on beer is too high. If it were properly lowered, and the old nickel schooner restored, there would, he is sure, be a swing away from the fiery spirits, and beer, again popularized, would yield a social betterment and swell the Government's revenue.

It is a pleasure, of course, to discover Mr. Mencken in an approving role. Still, his complacency and the conclusions of his thesis in the Nation betray him budgerly beyond any possibility of denial or retraction. Any man who regards $7 for a quart of hopped Bourbon as a fair toll is, in the dictum of the first Roosevelt, a malefactor of great wealth.

Leopold Stokowski has resigned as conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra, but William Penn and the Liberty Bell and Connie Mack are still there.

JOB FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

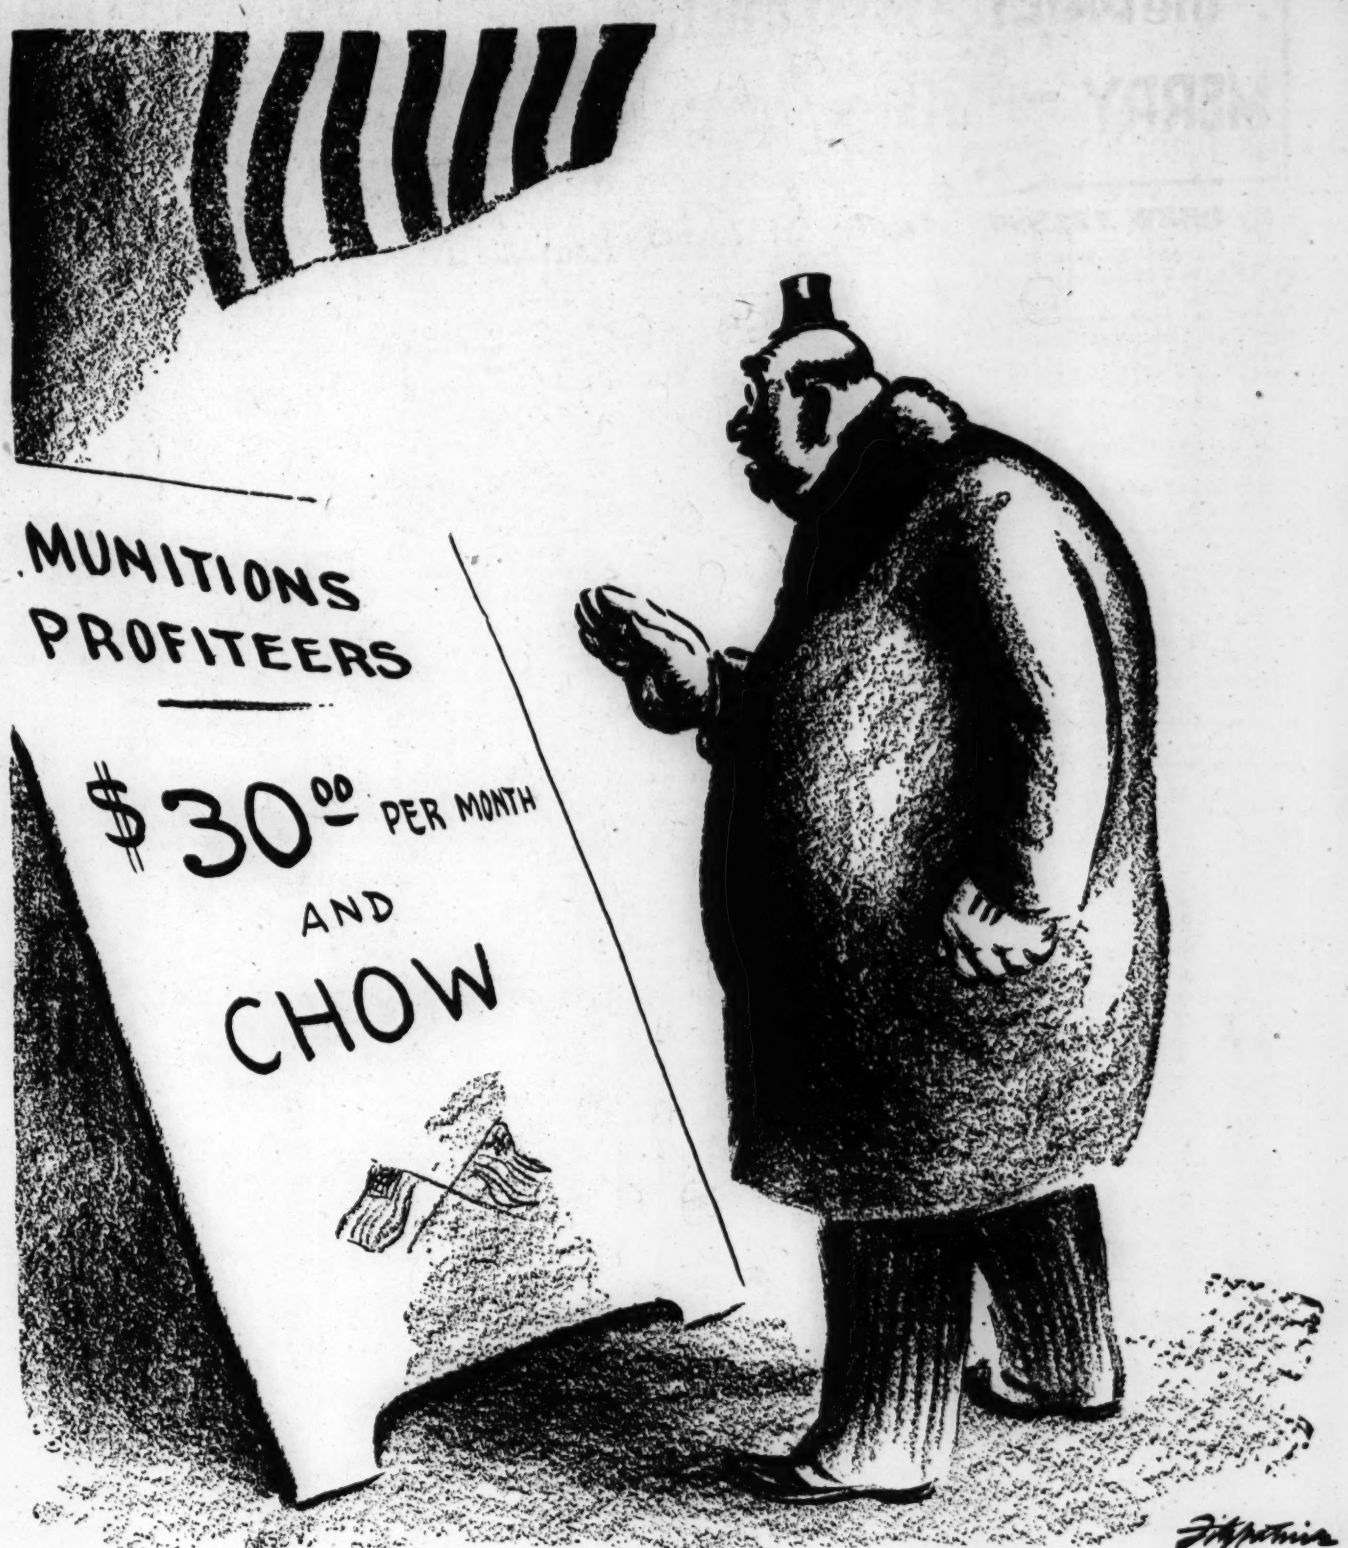

For drunkenness, recklessness, etc., seven persons in Louisville, Ky., have just been denied the right to drive an automobile. In one case, that of a 19-year-old boy, charged with speeding, the action was taken upon request of his parents. These are the first fruits of the passage, two months ago, of the State drivers' license law. Other revocations and suspensions of licenses will follow, and, as a result, it will become safer to walk and drive in Louisville's streets.

It is, of course, no novelty for a state to have a drivers' license law. Many states have them and statistics show that accidents are fewer in those states than in others, including Missouri, which permit anyone to drive a car, regardless of physical or mental fitness and regardless of the number of traffic offenses that have been chalked up against him. We do not permit citizens to walk around with loaded pistols in their hands, yet we permit all sorts of incapable and careless persons to go careering through the streets with an often deadlier weapon, the automobile.

Sooner or later, it will be a novelty for a state not to have a drivers' license law. Such a law, to be sure, is no golden specific. But it can make the streets appreciably safer. It can take from the wheel the worst offenders against the traffic laws and those who, for physical or mental reasons, should never be permitted to drive a car.

We published the other day a discussion of a proposed drivers' license law for Missouri by President Britton of the Automobile Club of Missouri. Mr. Britton will ask the next Legislature to enact it. The Legislature should have done so years ago. To delay longer the passage of a measure whose success elsewhere is beyond question, would be an inexcusable dereliction to Missouri.

It won't be long now before K and X are asked to join the Brain Trust.

TAKING THE ROMANCE OUT OF WAR.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

War or Peace in Europe

THE danger of war in Europe has not been removed by the Saragossa compromise. But the real character of the danger is more evident, and in Europe the remedy is perhaps more clearly understood.

What is the danger? It is not that some fine day Germany, having completed her rearmament, will declare war on France, or that France, fearing what Germany may do, will move first by declaring war on Germany. It is reasonably safe to assume that Herr Hitler will not imperil his regime by an action which would compel him to put arms into the hands of the Socialists and Communists among the working men. It is certain that the French people can be persuaded to fight only if war is forced upon them. The danger in Europe is great. But it is not that kind of danger.

It can be defined, I think, in this way: The new frontiers of Central Europe have meant the creation of several new nations at the expense of several old empires. The new states are Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, a greater Rumania. The dismembered states are Germany, Hungary and Austria. The states which have lost territory desire to regain what they have lost. The new states desire to hold what they have won.

The disarmament of the defeated nations makes them too weak to reconquer their lost territories. They cannot now wage war. For they would arouse against them an overwhelmingly greater league of military powers. But their will to recover what they have lost is very strong. The attack on the existing frontiers and the present constitution of Europe has, therefore, taken the form of intrigue, subversive propaganda and terrorism inside the new states.

Within the past year, the Prime Minister of Rumania, M. Duca, has been assassinated by a Fascist organization that had connections outside of Rumania. The Chancellor of Austria, Herr Dollfuss, was murdered by a band of Nazis, who had, to put it mildly, been encouraged in Germany. The King of Yugoslavia was shot by the agent of a band that had its base outside of Yugoslavia. The French Foreign Minister, M. Barthou, the leading exponent of the maintenance of the present frontiers, was killed at the same time. These four assassinations have been accompanied by many other acts of terrorism in Central Europe.

There is no need to attempt to pass judgment on the exact degree to which the highest authorities are responsible for these attacks. It is evident that these attacks would tend to destroy the new states, and thus accomplish all that could be accomplished by a successful war. The fact that the leading statesmen in all these countries are in great personal danger of being murdered makes them all the more ready to contemplate a war. It follows that at some point the new states would be forced, if the attacks continued, to fight for their very existence. That is what might produce a general European war.

The danger was acute last summer after the murder of Dollfuss. It was averted by the prompt action of Mussolini in threatening to march on Vienna if the Nazis did not stop. The chief importance of Mussolini's action was that it showed clearly what has to be done in Europe if peace is to be preserved. On that issue, the independence of Austria, Italy took a decisive stand in favor of the existing constitution of Central Europe. Peace was preserved because France, Italy and the Little Entente were united in defense of the existing order of things.

But, unfortunately, though Italy's position is perfectly clear about Austria, it is not so clear about the rest of Central Europe. Mussolini has relations with Hungary which go back some years, and these relations are such that they undoubtedly encourage those who hope to overturn the present settlement. It follows that the way to peace is to induce Italy to align herself clearly and definitely against any attempt to change the frontiers of Europe by war or by revolution. Once that were done, the combined strength of the nations in favor of the status quo would be so overwhelming that a war of reconquest would be ruled out for a long time, and the threat of subversive action enormously reduced.

There undoubtedly exists a strong desire both in Italy and France to reach an understanding. The only real obstacle to that understanding is Italy's old policy of revisionism in Central Europe. The great question, on which the prospect of peace depends, is whether Mussolini will abandon that old policy, doing for all of Central Europe what he has done for Austria, and take his position alongside France and Great Britain as guardian of the peace. If Mussolini would recognize the independence and territorial integrity of Yugoslavia, if he has recognized that of Austria, it could be said with real confidence that the danger of war in Europe has been postponed and perhaps removed.

The present negotiations between France and Italy are, therefore, of the very greatest importance. They will turn, it would seem, upon two main considerations. The first is whether France, and in some measure Great Britain, are prepared to recognize Italy as a great Power by conceding to her an increase of her African colonial empire. It would be folly to refuse. Whatever one may think of imperialism in general, it is absurd to pretend that Italy is not competent to administer a colonial empire. The peace of Europe is worth much more than anything involved in whether France and Britain or Italy are to govern or exercise a sphere of influence in the disputed or unappropriated parts of Africa.

The other consideration is whether Italy under Mussolini's leadership is prepared to act the part of a great Power, concerned primarily with peace, or prefers to play a lone hand for small advantages in the Balkans and in Central Europe. It is reasonable to recognize Italy's position generously and candidly, Mussolini is sufficiently a good European to rise to the occasion.

A policy of this sort rests on the premise that the only way to keep the peace is to unite the nations in defense of the existing frontiers. That does not mean that the existing frontiers are the best conceivable. It means simply that they cannot be revised now without provoking a war. Whoever wishes peace must, therefore, accept the present political constitution of Europe.

This policy is sometimes represented as one for the encirclement of Germany and

Plant Rebuilding Begins

From the Wall Street Journal.

PLANT reconstruction and improvement on a considerable scale have begun in the steel industry. Work under way and projected involves expenditures estimated at about $50,000,000.

That is no large program for an industry with plant investment running into many billions, but it challenges the assumption so frequently made of late that private capital and private enterprise cannot revive the durable goods industries because we already have a greater plant capacity than we know how to use. The object of present expenditure on steel plants, as it happens, is not greater capacity but better production methods and better product.

Four years of comparative neglect have taken their toll, not only of steel plants but of the majority of factories and certainly of the railroads. Obsolescence is the thief of investment. If we over-invested during the 1920s, as so many economists tell us we did, to the prejudice of current income consumption, we afterward more than corrected the disparity, thanks in part to government borrowing to support the unemployed.

None of the steel companies which have begun again cautiously to reconstruct portions of their works has as yet ventured to issue securities for the purpose. To the extent that plant improvement goes forward, it will have to be financed, probably for some time to come, out of operating profits. The process will, therefore, be limited or expanded in fairly direct ratio to profits realized from current operations.

Under present conditions, it may be said that as a general rule profits are earmarked where they are not more urgently needed for the restoration of indispensable working capital—for practically immediate expenditure on plant rehabilitation.

U. S. S. R. TO THE D. A. R.

From the Kansas City Star.

ALEXANDER TROYANOVSKY, new Ambassador from the Soviet Union, recently was called on to address the Daughters of the American Revolution in Washington. The Daughters, as everybody knows, are an exceedingly conservative organization, all for the Constitution and the established order, and loathing radicalism.

Said Mr. Troyanovsky: "I am delighted to address the Daughters of the American Revolution. I, too, am a revolutionist!"

Hungary with a view to strangling them. But in reality, though it would be a guarantee against their political aggrandizement, it is the quickest way by which, along with their neighbors, they can obtain relief through a revival of trade. As long as Europe is convulsed by terrorism and the fear of war, the depression will continue and become more acute. The danger will not abate until the hope and the fear of violent revision have been removed from men's minds and their interest centered once more on productive work and the prospects of a rising standard of life.

The class war, the nationalistic hysteria, the violence of emotion, which today are like an acid corroding the fabric of European civilization, arise from the terrible personal insecurity of the masses of the people. And nothing can stop the rot except a return of some considerable measure of that property to which the people of Europe are accustomed.

The violent men in Europe will be shoved aside when the productive and creative men are given the chance to go back to work. That cannot happen until the political situation is stabilized.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14. SENATE Republican leaders have a brightly burred all ready and waiting to be slipped under the New Deal blanket at the opportune moment.

The GOP boys have secretly agreed among themselves to throw their side of the chamber behind the demand for immediate payment of the bonus.

This means only slightly less than one-third of the Senate, but in a close fight where every vote counts it may be just enough to give the bonusites the prize they so long have sought.

Real significance behind the GOP move is the line of tactics it indicates the party leaders contemplate following in the coming session.

Frontal opposition to the administration will be soft-pedaled while the guerrilla warfare of flank and rear attacks will be waged.

As regards the pro-bonus stand, there is an ironic angle to the matter.

Cabinet Names.

WHAT'S in a name? What's behind the names of the members of the Cabinet? Trace back their original German, Scotch or dialect-English meaning and here are some of the answers you get:

Dern (Secretary of War) means "hidden, concealed."
Farley (Postmaster-General) is a variant of "ferly," meaning a "strange sight."

Perkins (Secretary of Labor) means "weak sides."
Morgenthau (Secretary of the Treasury) means "morning dew."

Labor Complaints.

BILL GREEN'S ears must be burning these days. Some of the newly-elected members of the A. F. of L. Executive Council are privately voicing bitter resentment at what they charge is their president's lack of aggressive action in pushing labor organization of the steel and automobile industries.

The recent A. F. of L. convention in San Francisco formally directed an immediate and vigorous membership drive in these two key industries.

Green's critics say that despite marked seasonal upturns and increased production, organizing measures so far have been negligible.

In the motor sphere, the only accomplishment was to change chief organizers in Detroit and to attack the policies of Dr. Leo Wolman, chairman of the Auto Labor Board.

In steel, even less has been accomplished. Several weeks ago Green commented that the only way to get the steel industry to produce more was to get the government to take over the industry.

Tighe, veteran president of the union, was recently re-elected by a very close margin, despite the fact voted. He has long been under fire for lacking aggressiveness.

A. F. of L. militants are demanding of Green that he disregard Tighe and go over his head with a determined membership drive.

Heroes.

THOMAS have changed for Government agents.

During the prohibition era, a few years ago, the shooting of a Government sleuth was greeted either with public apathy or ill-concealed condemnation.

But today, under the vigorous crime suppression policy of Homer Cummings, the wounding or death in action of these men is a source of headline interest and nationwide sympathy.

From being generally despised enforcers of an unpopular law, Government agents have become heroic destroyers of marauding thugs and outlaws.

This change in public attitude toward Federal crime detectors is one of the notable achievements of the New Deal. Through it Attorney-General Homer Cummings has done much to rehabilitate the reputation of the Department of Justice and its Bureau of Investigation.

Merry-Go-Round.

JOUETT SHOUSE, mogul of the Liberty League, argues that the Red Cross should take over Federal Relief. Apparently Jouett forgets the days when the Red Cross thought there was no drouth relief needed in the Southwest, and when under his leadership, the Democrats accused the Red Cross of playing Hoover politics.

The Chinese Legation in Washington seldom serves bird's nest soup. . . . Official hostess of 23-year-old Rush Holt, West Virginia's senatorial prodigy, will be his sister, Jane. . . . Secretary of the Interior Ickes is getting a little bored with being called "Honest Harold." So some of his subordinates have changed it to "Harold Square." FERA Administrator Harry Hopkins recently got a letter addressed "Mr. Hairy Hopkins." . . . Some people may have forgotten it, but Senators Jim Couzens and Bill Borah, now leading the leadership of the Republican National Committee, once were the best of friends. In fact, Couzens offered to finance Borah in a campaign to get the Republican nomination away from Calvin Coolidge in 1924. They split when Borah endorsed the McLeod closed bank payroll bill, which Couzens, because of the Detroit banking debacle, vigorously opposed.

MILLION IN FLOWERS FOR ST. LOUIS SHOW

Prizes Totalling $35,000 to Be Offered at Arena Next March 30-April 7.

Plants and cut flowers, orchid, garden and landscape displays, to be brought from all sections of the country and valued at $1,000,000, will compete for $35,000 in prizes at the Greater St. Louis Flower and Garden Show, to be held at the Arena next March 30 to April 7, inclusive.

The exhibition is not being promoted for profit, but is a civic undertaking, which originated in the success here of the National Flower Show and popular demand for such exhibitions, according to Henry G. Berning, chairman of the Executive Committee.

Co-operating in promotion of the show are garden clubs and florists' associations of St. Louis and Missouri. Preliminary expenses for the show, which will occupy all three of the Arena buildings, or about five acres of floor space, are being advanced by the interested organizations.

Display of Complete Gardens. An unusual feature of the show will be its gardens, designed according to landscape art. There will be 10 gardens covering 3200 square feet of space each, arranged with seasonal shrubs and flowers in bloom; nine gardens each of 1600 square feet, all of different design, representing a desert garden, Japanese garden and other forms.

Four bulb gardens will occupy 1000 square feet each, two rose gardens each of 600 square feet, two azalea and rhododendron gardens, four foundation plantings and 23 other flower gardens from 200 to 1000 square feet each.

The Missouri Botanical Garden will furnish a priceless display of orchids covering 600 square feet, and the present plan, if proper plants are obtainable, is to place the appropriate species in their natural jungle setting.

Garden club exhibits will cover 10,000 square feet of floor space in numerous displays of seasonal plants, house plants, novelties and cut flowers.

Special Rose Exhibit. Of particular interest will be exhibits of roses with stems from 8 to 10 feet long, which require six months of special care to produce. In order to have 25 in a group the grower will be obliged to raise at least 100 of each variety to get good exhibition stock.

There will be more than 60 classes of plant exhibits and more than 100 classes of cut flower displays. Arrangements have been made for a concert each afternoon and evening with sacred concerts on the two Sundays during the show. The musical program is arranged to include a Victor Herbert day, a Russian Friday, and a German Saturday. The music of Johann Strauss and Philip Sousa. There also will be a program of old time melodies.

Expenses of the show, and prizes will be financed by the sale of admission tickets. Advance tickets to the books of 11 for $3.50 may be obtained after Jan. 2 from a downtown office, 800 Pine street. Regular admission is 50 cents. Children of any school in grades from the fourth to eighth will be admitted free, when accompanied by teachers. Children from and other non-profit and adult residents of charitable institutions will be admitted free from 8:30 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., except Saturdays and Sundays.

Groups Sponsoring Show. Organizations co-operating in promotion of the show are: St. Louis Horticultural Society, St. Louis Garden Clubs, Kirkwood Garden Clubs, Missouri Botanical Garden, St. Louis Park Department, Board of Education, Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri, Greater St. Louis Association of Gardeners, St. Louis Florist Club, Wholesale Florists' Protective Association, Retail Florists' Association, St. Louis Greenhouse Producers' Association, St. Louis Landscape and Nurserymen's Association, St. Louis Unit Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, St. Louis Flower Show Association and numerous other civic and business organizations, together with a wide two parts of the Back uncompensated sonata was presented without any violent searching for cosmic significance.

The group of short numbers contained compositions by Ravel—the formidable "Tzigane" which didn't quite come off—and Debussy and Mr. Spalding's own arrangements of Chopin's Waltz in B Minor and the Paganini Caprice No. 24. The theme of this piece, which exercised a fatal attraction for Schubert, Brahms and Liszt, will be employed by Mr. Rachmannoff this afternoon in his new Fantasia for Piano and Orchestra. To these were added Mr. Spalding's own composition "Baltanz," his arrangement of Schubert's "Hark, Hark the Lark" and Kreisler's "Liebesfreud" as encores.

Mr. Spalding was assisted in his concert by the accomplished Mr. Andre Benoit.

VIOLINIST SPALDING PLAYS AT AUDITORIUM

Fine Evening for All Concerned With Profitable and Well-Balanced Fare.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN. THE second concert in the Oscar Condon series was given last night at the Municipal Auditorium when Albert Spalding, the American violinist, who is so favorably known to the St. Louis public, presented a profitable and well balanced program. The first and second groups were composed of sonatas by Handel and Cesar Franck—the latter being for piano and violin—and two movements of the violin and piano sonata by Beethoven. The third part of the program was given over to the usual sugar plums and pinwheels.

Mr. Spalding was entirely successful in communicating to the audience his sympathetic feeling for the music he played while at the same time subjecting it to the conditioning of his rather fastidious temperament. In other words, his playing was a free expression of his emotional response to these particular scores but with proportion and order inherent in the impulse. And since all the important mechanics of his playing—tone quality, intonation, bowing—were all in order it was a fine evening for all concerned.

Both the arrangement of the program and what seemed to be Mr. Spalding's natural feeling in the matter tended to make the Cesar Franck Sonata in A Major the high point of the evening. Franck always says the same thing, but the tone of the single with its collaboration with the piano is a more logical medium for its expression than the orchestra or even the piano by itself. So it seemed while listening to Mr. Spalding at any rate. It was a simple, devotional utterance, lyrical without being rhapsodic, and free from any unhealthy introspection. Mr. Spalding's stresses, gentle nuances, were all that could be asked.

The Handel Sonata in E Major was a little nearer the earth, but just as well played while the two parts of the Bach uncompensated sonata was presented without any violent searching for cosmic significance.

The group of short numbers contained compositions by Ravel—the formidable "Tzigane" which didn't quite come off—and Debussy and Mr. Spalding's own arrangements of Chopin's Waltz in B Minor and the Paganini Caprice No. 24. The theme of this piece, which exercised a fatal attraction for Schubert, Brahms and Liszt, will be employed by Mr. Rachmannoff this afternoon in his new Fantasia for Piano and Orchestra. ## 2000 CHILDREN IN TRAINING FOR CHRISTMAS PAGEANTS

City Recreation Department Announces Dates for Community Center Performances.

About 2000 children, between the ages of three and 15 years, are being trained by the City Recreation Department for Christmas pageants at the various community centers.

The same pageant, "Santa Claus in Mother Goose Land," arranged by Miss Dolly Steinlage and Miss Alice Hannagan, recreation department dance directors, will be given at all centers, making more than one set of costumes unnecessary.

Dated for the pageant at various community centers follow: Sherman Park, Dec. 20; Mullany, Dec. 26; Soudard, Dec. 27; Concordia, Dec. 28, and Buder, Dec. 29.

CHURCH TO KEEP ANNIVERSARY
Salem Lutheran Congregation 26 Years Old.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of Salem Lutheran Church, Gravois and Lakewood avenues, will be celebrated Sunday with two former pastors preaching sermons.

At the morning service the Rev. E. F. Schuler of Milwaukee, Wis., will preach in German. In the afternoon the Rev. C. A. Soderstrom, Concordia, Mo., will preach in English. The first services for Salem congregation were held in a log house on Weber road.

KANSAS POLICE CHIEF FREED BY GUNMEN AFTER 14 HOURS

Herrington Officer Says Pair Kept Him Bound and Gagged in Barn.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Dec. 14.—A widespread search for Art Calkins, Herrington (Kan.) Chief of Police, ended early today by his release after 14 hours by two gunmen who took him prisoner yesterday when he sought to question one of them regarding the purchase of a revolver ammunition. Calkins was released unharmed four miles east of Kildare, Ok.

"I have a hunch why I was picked up, but I won't say why," he said. After being tied and gagged, Calkins said, he was taken to a hide-out 30 miles southeast of Herrington, where he was guarded in a cow barn until tonight.

Then, he said, the gunmen ordered him into their motor car and drove south toward the place where he was released. The Chief said he could not identify his abductors.

1935 CORN-HOG CONTRACT IN FINAL FORM ANNOUNCED

Farmers Allowed 35 Instead of 30 Cents a Bushel on Estimated Yield of Acres Retired.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Farm Administration today made public the 1935 corn-hog contract in its final form—billed into half the size of the 1934 agreement.

The new contract changes the minimum reduction in corn acreage from 20 to 10 per cent below the average annual acreage in 1932 and 1933, but again limits the reduction to 30 per cent. The minimum reduction in hogs produced for market is fixed at 10 per cent, compared with the minimum of 25 per cent below the 1932-33 base provided in the 1934 contract.

Payments also are changed. Farmers will be allowed 35 cents a bushel on the estimated corn yield of the acres retired from production compared with 30 cents this year and the contracted acres may be used for any purposes except growing field corn. Under the 1934 contract, acres withdrawn from corn production could be used only in limited ways, but because of the drought the administration modified the limitations.

Changes in Hog Payments.

Under the new contract, $15 a head will be paid on 10 per cent of the hog base, that is, the average number of hogs produced for market from litters farrowed in 1932 and 1933. In the old contract $5 a head was paid on 75 per cent of the hog base.

The contract again contains provisions barring the signers from assigning any of their rights to payments under the contract and requiring conformance to regulations and administrative rulings prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Chief among the changes in the form of the contract, aside from its greater brevity, is the substitution of the word "adjustment" for "reduction" in reference to the benefit payments to be made.

The new form will enable the administration to contract directly with both producers and landlords involved instead of requiring a special landlords' agreement to participate. It also eliminates the system of requiring signatures of the contract signers, both before and after establishment of adjusted figures.

The adjusted corn and hog bases will be fixed on the contract as signed.

Digest of the Contract.

A condensed digest of the 1935 corn-hog contract follows:

The producer and landlord (if any) offer to enter into a contract with the Secretary of Agriculture which becomes binding when the Secretary's acceptance is mailed. It covers the period Dec. 1, 1934, to Nov. 30, 1935, inclusive.

Part 1.—Performance by Producer, in which the producer agrees:

Section 1.—To reduce his 1935 field corn acreage a specified percentage below that of his adjusted average planted on the same land in 1932 and 1933 by not less than 10 per cent nor more than 30 per cent.

Section 2.—To reduce the number of hogs produced for market from litters farrowed in 1935 by not less than 10 per cent of the average annual number of hogs produced for market from litters farrowed in 1932 and 1933.

Section 3.—That the aggregate acreage planted to corn in 1935 on all land owned, operated or controlled by him which is not covered by a 1935 corn-hog contract, will not exceed the adjusted average acreage of the same land planted to corn in 1932 and 1933.

Section 4.—That the total number of hogs produced for market from litters farrowed in 1935 on farming units controlled by him and not covered by corn-hog contracts will not exceed the average annual production from litters owned by him when farrowed in 1932 and 1933.

Section 5.—That the number of feeder, stocker and breeding hogs purchased by him in 1935, except for hogs purchased from corn-hog contract signers, shall not exceed the annual average number of such hogs purchased and fed by him in 1932 and 1933.

Section 6.—Not to sell, pledge nor assign right to payments.

Section 7.—To operate the farm throughout 1935 and to permit entry by agents of the Farm Administration.

Section 8.—To abide by administrative rulings heretofore and hereafter prescribed by the Secretary, relating to 1935 corn-hog contracts.

Part II.—Agreement by Secretary.

Section 9.—Upon proof of compliance with contract to pay:

A. Thirty-five cents a bushel on adjusted estimated corn yield per acre for each acre to be retired from corn production by the contract; to be paid 15 cents a bushel as soon as practicable and 20 cents about Jan. 1, 1936, less pro rata share of administrative expenses of the Farmer's County Corn-Hog Control Association. Farmer may be directed at his expense to dispose of corn from acres planted in excess of number permitted.

B. Fifteen dollars a head on 10 per cent of the hog base, $7.50 a head as soon as practicable and $7.50 about Jan. 1, 1936, less pro rata share of local administrative expense. If number of hogs produced for market exceeds number permitted, $20 a head may be deducted from payments for each excess hog or farmer may be required to dispose of the excess as the Secretary of Agriculture directs.

PART III.—Section 10.—Secretary retains right to terminate contract if he determines there has been a material misstatement in contract or non-compliance with contract or administrative rulings.

Section 11.—Landlord agrees to be bound by terms of contract.

Section 12.—Representation that all owners and operators of land covered by contract are included and that no device will be adopted to prevent each receiving proper share of payments.

Kansas City Charges Dropped.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 14.—Charges of intent to kill pending in Justice Court here since May 6 against three men in connection with an election day attack on Dr. Arthur Wells, fusion candidate for the City Council, and Lloyd Cole, a tenant worker, were dismissed on request of W. W. Graves Jr., prosecuting attorney, yesterday. Graves said the charges were dropped because of lack of evidence.

WIFE SUES CHARLES RAY

Seeks Divorce From Former Star of Silent Movies.

By the Associated Press.
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 14.—Charles Ray, former star of silent movies, was sued for divorce by Mrs. Clara Grant Ray yesterday. She charged desertion, non-support and cruelty. They were married Nov. 18, 1915, and separated Aug. 1, 1932.

Once wealthy, the reputed possessor of a $2,000,000 fortune, Ray has said he lost everything in his efforts to produce his own pictures. Mrs. Ray corroborated this assertion in her complaint, stating if there is any community property she has no knowledge of it. Mrs. Ray alleged her husband has corresponded with a number of women. She said he frequently has been seen with a young woman. She mentioned no names.

McAdoo in Manila Hospital.
MANILA, Dec. 14.—The sudden illness of United States Senator McAdoo of California and threats of a typhoon have curtailed activities of a Senatorial commission investigating conditions surrounding the forthcoming independence of the Philippines.

McAdoo, who became ill yesterday after flying from Manila to Iloilo, Panay Island, returned here today and entered a hospital. It was reported he was threatened with appendicitis. Senators Tydings of Maryland and McPherson of Tennessee, who planned to make an inspection tour, were forced to change their plans when a typhoon threatened.

RAIL CONDUCTORS' UNION SUED FOR $420,000 ON 1929 STRIKE

14 Former Employees of T. P. & W. Charge Loss of Jobs as Result of Walkout.

By the Associated Press.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Dec. 14.—A suit for $420,000 damages against the Order of Railway Conductors of America, brought by 14 former conductors of the Iowa and Illinois lines of the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad, was filed yesterday in Federal court here.

The case has its origin in a 1929 strike for higher wages that involved all organized labor on that railroad. The men filing suit said they lost their jobs and their seniority rights because executives of the conductors' brotherhood failed to make a settlement for their craft independently of other organized groups.

The suit, which charges violation of the Railway Labor Act, was originally started in Peoria, Ill., but was thrown out of court on the ground it should begin in Cedar Rapids, national headquarters of the Order of Railway Conductors.

Federal Official Killed in Crash.

DELAY IN SOUNDING ALARM IN HOTEL FIRE

Efforts to Rescue Manager From Room Where Blaze Started at Lansing Described.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 14.—A carelessly dropped cigarette in the suite of the hotel manager and delay in sounding an alarm were said by investigators today to have caused the Kerns Hotel fire disaster. Another body was recovered from the ruins today, making a total of 27.

An investigating board headed by Edward M. Welch, Deputy State Fire Marshal, reported the fire had been traced to the suite of David Monroe, manager of the hotel, who perished in the flames; that 15 or 20 minutes elapsed between the time smoke was first discovered in the hotel, and the sending of the alarm; that drinking parties "throughout the building" preceded the blaze; and that the fire department was handicapped by possessing only one rescue net.

Unable to raise enough ladders to reach the trapped victims who crowded to the windows, the firemen were forced to watch the hotel guests jump to death or serious injury on the pavements or in the Grand River in the rear of the building.

"Wasted Valuable Time."

The investigators said hotel employees wasted valuable time in trying to rescue Monroe, who was probably dead when the flames were first discovered.

As reconstructed in the investigators' report, events in the building during the few minutes preceding the alarm were as follows:

At 5 a. m. an unidentified guest called night clerk Isaac D. Jones and reported smoke in room 234. Jones sent Cleo Evans, the bellboy, to investigate. Evans searched the interior of the room, and finally crawled beneath the bed and found smoke issuing from the floor. Monroe's suite was directly beneath room 234, and Evans found flames coming from the trapdoor of the hotel manager's living room. He pounded on the three doors of the suite but got no response. Returning to the lobby he informed Jones that Monroe's suite was afire. Evans said he believed that Jones called the fire department at that time, but did not see him telephone.

The alarm was received at 5:32 a. m. Returning to the first floor, Evans succeeded in waking Douglas Monroe, David's brother, and together they tried without success to rouse David. Then Evans and Monroe began to waken the guests.

Failed to Reach Second Floor.

By the time Evans had warned the 60 guests on the first floor, the flames had spread to every floor of the building. Jones tried to enter the second floor, but returned to the lobby saying the flames had driven him back.

R. C. Caldwell of Chicago, a guest who escaped, said he fled from his room a few minutes after five, when he smelled the smoke, crossed the street to a garage, dressed in an extra suit of clothes he had in his car and returned to the hotel lobby. At that time the fire engines had not arrived.

"It is proved," Welch said, "that had an alarm been sounded at the first suspicion of smoke, the fire would have been much less serious in loss of life." We believe the most probable cause was a carelessly dropped cigarette stub in the manager's suite.

The bellboy, Evans, said he took sandwiches to Monroe's room at 4:30 and found the hotel manager awake and alone.

All individual winners were given gold medals and the team sweepstakes champion was awarded a silver loving cup.

TO CONSIDER CONSOLIDATION OF MISSOURI RELIEF AGENCIES

District Session of Welfare Association to Be Held at Jefferson City Saturday.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 14.—Consolidation into one department of all the various relief activities performed by a wide variety of State governmental agencies is to be proposed in a plan to be formulated in a district session of the Missouri Association for Public Welfare at Jefferson City Saturday, Dr. E. L. Morgan, Missouri U. professor of rural sociology and secretary of the association, announced yesterday.

"It is hoped," Dr. Morgan said, "that a workable plan will be mapped out at this conference so that something concrete may be recommended to the State Legislature for passage at its next session."

An outstanding feature of the proposed legislation would be a section disqualifying any county or district from receiving State or Federal allotments unless the funds are administered by relief officials certified by the State Department. The proposed department would replace both the present Eleemosynary Board and Penal Board, and would have authority to supervise and assist in local welfare work. Under the plan, county or district boards would be organized, with each responsible to the State Board. The new system would be in charge of unemployment relief, administration of poor relief, a social service exchange and allocation of State and Federal relief moneys. Members of both local and State boards would serve without remuneration.

Highway Patrol Auto Service Rule.
By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 14.—State Highway Department garages have been directed not to service the automobiles of highway patrolmen which do not bear the insignia of the patrol and official State license tag. Instructions were issued after a report that "in some instances the State Highway Department garages have been servicing patrol cars which are not marked with the insignia of the patrol nor with the Highway Department's identifying number, and which do not bear official license plates."

Wounds at Wife's Grave Fatal.
By the Associated Press.
CARBONDALE, Ill., Dec. 14.—Joseph McDaniels, 70 years old, who slashed his throat recently while kneeling at the grave of his wife, died yesterday as a result of the wound in the State Hospital at Anna.

PHILADELPHIA POLICE THINK ABDUCTORS DROWNED WEISS Announce Theory After Arresting Five Persons in Raid; Delaware River to Be Dragged.
By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.—The police, following a raid last night on an uptown house, said they would drag the Delaware River today in the belief that William Weiss was drowned by his abductors.

Four men and a woman were arrested in the raid. Among them Charles Zeid, who has been sought in the killing of William Feitz, a Camden (N. J.) detective. In the house the police found firearms, some of which came from the National Guard Armory at Norristown, which was robbed this week. Others arrested, the police said, were Frank R. Wiley, who escaped from the Eastern Penitentiary last July by crawling through a sewer; Harry Seidel; a man who said he was George Barrett; and Mrs. Beatrice Wilkinson, also known as Walker, said to be Zeid's companion. Before the raid detectives exchanged shots at the Wayne Junction Station of the Reading Railroad with several men, who, they say, included Robert Mals, who shot his way out of a Richmond, Va., jail where he was awaiting execution. The detectives followed a man who left the house carrying a suitcase and was joined by two other men. The three men saw the detectives at the station and started running. The officers fired and the men fired back. They abandoned their luggage, which police found contained firearms.

ILLINOIS PULLMAN COMPANY UNASSESSED FOR 1932
Back Levy of $4,400,479 Ordered by State Tax Commission.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 14.—Discovery that the Pullman Co.'s capital stock was not assessed for 1932 was announced yesterday by the Illinois Tax Commission.

The commission's statement which said the omission had been made by its predecessor in office, added that a back-assessment for the year of $4,400,479 had been ordered. The omission, it was said, was made by the old commission while under the impression that the Pullman Co. was a Delaware corporation. It is, however, an Illinois corporation, with its capital stock assessable in this state. The Pullman Co.'s capital stock was assessed in 1931 at $3,750,000.

SEVEN MEN AND A WOMAN HELD IN ROBBERY INQUIRY
East St. Louis Police Say Three Confess; Loot Valued at $750 Recovered.

East St. Louis police are holding seven men and a woman in connection with a series of holdups and burglaries, and have recovered silverware, automobile accessories, jewelry and household articles from the homes of three of those under arrest. The recovered property is valued at $750. Three of the prisoners have made statements, police say, admitting three holdups committed by themselves, and nine house robberies during the last month in which they implicated the others under arrest. The property taken in thefts they admitted was valued at $1500 by the owners, but part of it had been sold. Two of the prisoners are ex-convicts.

BUREAU FOR HOMELESS MEN ADDS 794 TO ROLLS IN MONTH
Expenditures Increased to $40,461 in November, Director Gwiner Reports.

An additional 794 men accepted for full care by the Bureau for Homeless Men increased the November expenditures to $40,461, it was reported today by G. Myron Gwiner, director of the Bureau. There are 7307 men on the rolls of the agency. During November 2023 applicants went to the organization sought help. Meals served in November totaled 14,147. A considerable part of the food served is produced by the enrolled men on a 50-acre tract on Goodfellow avenue.

WIDOW DENIES PA FOR MINISTER'S
But Testifies Indignity Her in Mood to Kill Him.
The Associated Press.
LEBANON, Ind., Dec. 14.—Neoma Saunders, charged with the murder of her husband, Rev. Gaylord V. Saunders, in a crowded courtroom yesterday a story of strange relationships which she said forced on her in threats of death and which she said upset her until she was ready to kill her husband, returned to the stand further questioning today.

She denied, however, coming with 19-year-old Theodore M. charged with the actual killing of the minister, who was found in his automobile at Indian last February with a bullet in the head. Mothers is yet tried.

She insisted she had never the Mothers boy $10 to hire one to kill her husband, as charged by the State.

Tells of Indignities.
Mrs. Saunders told of indignities she said she suffered in the home of her husband, the Methodist Church in Wabash. Saunders resigned that pastor enroll in an embalming school Indianapolis a few months ago he was killed.

Under the guidance of her son, Eliza O. Rogers, she said she of her married life. Who was testifying in the courtroom jammed with a crowd of full aisles and surged up to the box.

The defense introduced a of pictures and magazines of with sex, which Mrs. Saunders testified her husband brought him from Indianapolis when he returned home on week-end. She said in the Wabash church.

Planned to Shoot Him.
The 35-year-old widow said indignities she underwent had aged her health.

Only a few weeks before death of her husband, she said she obtained a revolver and planned to shoot the minister who she said had returned from Indianapolis intoxicated and had brutally beaten her.

"Why didn't you shoot him?" asked Rogers.

"I loved him too much," said Saunders with a burst of tears. Earlier in the day Dr. J. R. Rhamey, a physician who attended both Mrs. Saunders and her husband, testified Mrs. Saunders told him of the episode in the rage and had asked about poisoning. The physician said Mrs. Saunders had declared she wished for death.

DEAD GUNMAN'S ARMORED CAR BOUGHT FOR ILLINOIS SHERIFF

Simon Henry of Madison County Obtains Machine Once Property of Tommy Hayes.
An armored Lincoln automobile, built with steel plate sides and bullet-proof glass for Tommy Hayes, gangster who was shot to death, was purchased yesterday for $2250 by the Madison County Board of Supervisors for the newly-elected Sheriff of Madison County, Simon Henry.
It was bought from County Treasurer Peter Fitzgerald, whom Henry succeeded. Fitzgerald purchased it from Hayes' widow after the car had been damaged in a garage fire. It had been stored and was being held by county authorities after Hayes was killed. Fitzgerald had it repaired.

BORAH AND NYE DEMAND G. O. P. REORGANIZATION

Senators in Addresses to Young Republicans of New York Assail Old Guard Leadership.

FLETCHER, HILLES
LISTEN IN SILENCE

Idahoan Declares the Party Must be Reformed Along Constructively Liberal Lines.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Senator William E. Borah (Rep.), Idaho, and Senator Gerald P. Nye (Rep.), North Dakota, in addresses to the Young Republicans of New York last night, demanded a reformation of the Republican party on constructively liberal lines.
Nye served notice that unless the demands were recognized a new "progressive party" would be founded. Borah urged that "Young Republicans" solidify their organizations.
In silence Old Guard leaders, including Charles D. Hilles, national committeeman for New York, listened. Borah directly named Hilles, who sat a few feet from him on the platform, and National Chairman Henry C. Fletcher, as the two who have opposed progressive reorganization of the party.
Only Hope in Youth.
Amid cheers, Borah said: "Our great hope, our only hope, lies with these young Republicans. There is no hope elsewhere. They have an opportunity to seize power, and in seizing power, to serve their country in a way that is rarely afforded."
"After all, it is upon the anvil of party strife that sound policies are hammered into form. Such is the nature of institutions."
From Nye came this declaration: "We may tonight sit snugly in our places, observe the 13,000,000 or 14,000,000 Republican votes cast last month, and comfort ourselves with the thought that a party with that many votes is decidedly not dead. "Perhaps not. But dead it will be as surely as we are alive tonight, if the destiny of the party, its leadership, left with those who have believed and still believe that what those people, wholly or in part dissatisfied with the New Deal, want is the Old Deal."
Borah Asks Some Questions.
Borah in his address said: "I asked those who are in control of the organization, in control of the party machinery, what is your program for regaining the confidence of the millions whom we have lost in recent years? "What is the program for the purpose of securing the activity and support of the young people? "Returning to his plea for party reorganization, he continued: "The reason of my suggestion for reorganization of the party came because of the fact that it was practically announced by those in authority there would be no movement, no program, but that of waiting to see when the storm would blow over."
Both critics of NRA, the two Senators demanded a Republican platform divorcing the party from its ties with big business, the destruction of monopolies and more equitable distribution of wealth.
The Small Business Man.
Borah repeated pleas for protecting small business units through exemptions from Blue Eagle codes. "The driving power in politics in this country for years to come, I venture to believe, will come from labor, from the producer, from small business, and from the millions who have through no fault of their own been stripped of their life savings and opportunity," said Borah.
"If out of all this is to come order and constitutional government there must also come a system and a body of laws insuring a wholly different distribution of the wealth of our country."
"It is evident from the statements of Mr. Hilles and Mr. Fletcher, that there is only one thing for those who believe in reorganization to do, and that is, to begin to organize in the different counties and states. "Bringing Issue to the Front."
"The Young Republicans are very generally organized into clubs in the different states. These will serve as the beginning of state-wide organizations."
"I have, and have had from the beginning, just one purpose, and that is, to bring this issue to the front and let the voters and the party determine the course and, in my opinion, the future of the party."
To talk about a conservative party in the near future, Borah said, was to "shoot our eyes to all the conditions about us."
Borah contended the power of monopolies to fix prices arbitrarily was stronger than that ever wielded by a Russian Czar.
"I have nothing but commendation for the high motives of the President who has on a thousand fronts conducted this war on depression," he said. "But I ask: How can you restore purchasing power to the masses so long as the power exists somewhere for private interests to fix the prices of everything the people must have."
Nye Suggests Platform.
Nye proposed a partial platform for a revitalized Republican party.

In addition to the anti-monopoly plank, he suggested giving labor a larger share in the wealth it creates; more attention to the security of those of the privileged few; adequate national defense; a better civil service and curbs on the "munitions racket."
Nye asserted the party needed to be "reborn" under a banner of "constructive liberalism," and should "turn its back upon that which has proved its undoing, namely, the private money bags of the country from which come that thing thought to be the one ingredient needed to succeed."
"With a Wall street ball and chain still attached to it," he said, "a comeback is not so much as to be dreamed of."
If the East wants co-operation from the Western elements, he advised that it help make the party one for agrarians and laborers, not one giving response to "selfish minority interests well able to buy party favor with financial support."
"Which do you prefer—campaign funds or votes?" he asked.
A Gibe at the Democrats.
If he had any thought the Democrats would remain liberal, he said, it would be like "harking up a tree in striving to give new and constructive liberal life to the Republican party today, and the Democratic party would find me enlisting under its banner and label."
Declaring monopoly had "never enjoyed so helping a hand as the New Deal has given it in the Johnson type of NRA," he said the Republican party would have "at once a vast army of followers" if it dared to challenge the present administration on this issue.
Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., who a short time ago also advocated that the party turn toward liberalism, sat on the platform. He had declined an invitation to address the meeting, asserting a previous engagement prevented his attendance. Roosevelt left a few minutes after Chase Mellen Jr., New York county chairman, opened the meeting.

active volcano was reported today by Governor Santarosa of Copan Province in a telegram to the Federal Government.

Governor Santarosa reported that the earthquakes throughout his district, which began 12 days ago, were continuing without cessation. His report to the National Government said:

"Earthquakes radiating from the central part of this district seem to be centered on the outskirts of the city of Copan in the Merendon Mountain range.

"We believe that Mount El Carmencito, close by, is increasing in size and that the same is true of Mount Erupaca, the latter becoming a perfect volcano since caused the destruction of ancient Copan in 500 A. D.

"The earthquakes are also causing a feeling in Mount El Bufa, which in 1908 erupted, occasioning the strong earthquake on Aug. 28 of that year."

MAN CONFESSES KILLING GIRL, 10, SOUGHT SINCE 1928

He Is Captured After Mailing Letter to Parents of Grace Budd in New York

—Body Found.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The disappearance six years ago of Grace Budd, 10 years old, was solved last night when her dismembered body was dug from a grave in a forest.

Albert H. Fish, after tormenting her family by mail since the crime was committed six years ago, was captured through the letters which he sent; confessed and led officers to the child's grave.

Killed with a meat cleaver, the body was found in three parts, the skull buried in the woods near a ramshackle house in East Irvington, Westchester County, the other bones by a road.

"The blood lust seized me," the 65-year-old house painter said. "But I'm glad it's over now. Helping the police find the body somehow makes me feel better."

Human bones and a child's slipper were found by searchers in Westchester County today. The slipper was of the sandal type and in it were found small bones.

Dr. Amos O. Squire, Westchester County medical examiner, said after the bones had been found that he believed there was a sufficient number to reconstruct a skeleton. Authorities also rely on the slipper as a quick means of identification in order to satisfy the legal requirement of establishing the corpus delicti in the case.

Identified by Family.

The child's father, Albert Budd, and a brother of the girl, Edward, confronted Fish and identified him as the man who disappeared with Grace on June 3, 1928. He was charged with homicide and kidnapping.

Police arrested Fish in a post-office substitution yesterday while he waited for a remittance from a son in a CCC camp.

The last series of letters to the Budd family had been received only a few days ago, written on the stationery of an employment agency, and tracing it back, police found Fish.

Spontaneously Fish began a confession, but he was cut short and taken to Police Headquarters where he told a complete and coherent story. Its text was not divulged, but Police Commissioner Valentine said it ran thus:

Contemplating the killing in advance, the man had bought a meat cleaver, saw and butcher knife, wrapped them in a tarpaulin and checked them at a newsstand.

Then he went to call at the tenement home of the Budds in New York City, whose son Edward had advertised for a farm job. Fish represented himself as one Frank Howard, and said he had a farm near Farmingdale, a farm that existed only in his imagination.

Girl Goes With Him.

He intended to take the 18-year-old boy with him and kill him, but upon meeting the family decided to make Grace his victim.

He returned a few days later—it was June 3, 1928—said he was going to his farm until the next day, and invited Grace to accompany him that day to a party he said his sister was giving for some children. The child pinned a rose on her white dress and went with him.

Fish took her by train to the Westchester hideaway which he knew to be unoccupied. He had lived in a nearby house eight years ago.

Telling the child to play in the yard until the other guests arrived, he went into the house, laid out his tools and called her. She came to him.

It was three days later before he returned. It was there that they found the body last night.

Questioned in Line-Up.

In the police line-up today Fish was the last prisoner to be placed on the platform and was questioned by Acting Capt. Thomas A. Dugan.

"Why did you take the Budd girl and murder her?" Capt. Dugan asked.

"It occurred to me, that's all I have to say," Fish replied.

Asked why he killed her, the prisoner replied: "I had no intention to take the girl. I intended to take her brother (Edward). She just happened to come in the room and I took her."

"You had all the tools when you went to her house?"

"Yes," Fish said. "I made arrangements to give her brother work, but when I saw her the temptation overcame me." The prisoner paused and then added: "That's the only reason I took her. I don't know why."

Can't Account For It.

He said he had no trouble with the Budd family, and in reply to a question as to how he accounted for it, replied, "I can't."

Capt. Dugan asked whether he ever had been in an institution for mental trouble, and Fish replied that he had, once in Bellevue Hospital and once in King's County Hospital. He also said he was alone in the crime.

During the questioning of the prisoner, Dr. Albert Roy Dufos, the doctor who attended at the birth of the Dionne quintuplets, listened intently from a front row seat.

After the line-up Fish was taken to the office of Acting Capt. Stein, where he made a detailed statement and confession for District Attorney

STATE CRIME-FIGHTERS CONVENE IN ST. LOUIS

First Annual Convention of New Missouri Bureau Is Opened.

Members of the Missouri Crime Prevention Bureau, formed last summer, met at the Majestic Hotel today for their first annual convention. Attendance was small.

Police chiefs, sheriffs, constables, prosecuting attorneys and other officials throughout the state have joined the bureau.

The principal subject for discussion at the convention was a legislative program, proposed for endorsement of the bureau, to be submitted to the Legislature next month. Officers of the bureau have advocated several reforms in law enforcement.

Proposed Measures.

Several bills, drafted by Barton Grant, counsel for the bureau, were prepared for consideration of the convention. They included the following subjects: Extension of the terms of county prosecuting attorneys from two to four years; giving the state the right to take depositions in criminal cases; equal division of jury challenges between the state and the defense in criminal cases; constitutional amendment to permit sheriffs to succeed themselves.

It was expected the delegates also would discuss the problem of bail reform and changes in the law to eliminate irresponsible or unqualified sureties.

Members of the bureau were invited to bring members of the Legislature from their districts to the convention, which will end tomorrow.

Officers to Be Named.

Officers of the bureau for 1934 will be elected. Alfred G. Lill, former Sheriff of St. Louis County, was made president in August. He said today he would retire as he was no longer interested. Thomas Brown, Chief of Police of Richmond Heights, is treasurer, and Charles J. Hahn Jr., who publishes a police journal, the National Police Officer, at Clayton, is executive secretary.

The program included a luncheon today at the Anheuser-Busch brewery and a banquet tomorrow night at the Mayfair Hotel. Chief of Detectives Carroll welcomed the visitors.

The bureau, which has an office at 7820 Forsythe boulevard, Clayton, has solicited public contributions for a $25,000 fund for its first year's expenses in its program to aid law enforcement officers of Missouri in the prevention and detection of crime.

Admiral Coontz Seriously Ill.

BREMERTON, Wash., Dec. 14.—Admiral Robert E. Coontz, retired, was stricken with a second heart attack yesterday as funeral services were being held here for Rear Admiral John Haligan, who died Tuesday. Admiral Coontz was rushed to the naval hospital where physicians said he was seriously ill. He suffered a slight heart attack Nov. 16. The Admiral, former National Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, retired June 11, 1928. He was born in Hannibal, Mo., June 11, 1864.

ney Frank H. Coyne of Westchester County.

Police said Fish was the father of six children, had been estranged from his wife for years, and had been arrested several times, convicted once of grand larceny. He gave addresses of several furnished rooms he had occupied after coming back to the district from which he took Grace Budd.

Prior to the disappearance of the Budd girl, Detective Kling said, Fish took two boys to his home, but when one of them, playing about the flat, came upon the "butcher" instruments secreted in a mattress, the boys became frightened and fled.

CITY TRIES TO REOPEN LACLEDE RATE CASE

Contents 6 Pct. Reduction Ordered by State Commission Is Not Enough.

A motion for a rehearing of the Laclede Gas Light Co. valuation and rate case, which resulted in a recent order to make a 6 per cent reduction in rates for domestic and commercial consumers in St. Louis, effective Feb. 1, was filed with the Public Service Commission at Jefferson City today by City Counselor Hay, who contended the new valuation and rate still were excessive.

The motion asserted the new $39,000,000 valuation for rate-making purposes should be reduced to $28,000,000 and that the new 6 1/2 per cent return allowed should be reduced to 6 per cent.

The recent order of the commission cut about $11,850,000 from the company's valuation in force in 1933 and held the economy was entitled to a return of only 6 1/2 per cent instead of the 7 1/2 per cent allowed in a former case.

Laclede Attacks Order.

The company filed a motion for a rehearing last Tuesday, advancing 65 assignments of alleged error by the commission.

In a memorandum accompanying his motion, setting out 20 assignments of alleged error, Hay stated that "in many respects the commission's decision is especially gratifying," but added "It is our firm conviction that the rates and valuation of the company are still excessive."

The valuation of $39,000,000 for rate-making purposes, it is contended, "is several million dollars in excess of the original cost undepreciated or the reproduction cost depreciated, as found by the commission itself, after allowance is made for working capital and all other proper elements of value."

The city's motion alleges the excess represents going value of the company, although no separate finding in the rate base for that item was made. The company, in its motion, contended the commission erred in not making a separate item of going value. It was the first valuation case in many years in which the commission did not do so.

ILLINOIS OFFICIAL BACKS ACCUSED ASYLUM HEAD

Director Bowen Says He Has Confidence in Chief of Chester Hospital.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Dec. 14.—Charges of mismanagement have been filed by five former guards at the Illinois Security Hospital at Chester, where criminally insane are kept, against the managing officer, Dr. J. M. McManus. The charges were presented to A. L. Bowen, director of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Bowen, in making known the receipt of the charges, also disclosed that he had recently received from Dr. McManus the signed statements of 12 guards in which another group of guards, none of whom is now employed at the hospital, were charged with having been party to a conspiracy to arm certain inmates for an attempted escape.

The five guards who presented charges against Dr. McManus said they were forced to resign. They charged Dr. McManus had mistreated patients and one of them alleged that he had been asked to "frame" another guard in order that he might be discharged.

Bowen said he had the utmost confidence in Dr. McManus.

New Treasury Offer.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The Treasury is offering today $75,000,000 of 182-day bills to be sold on a discount basis to the highest bidder. Dated Dec. 19, they will mature June 19, 1935. Proceeds of the sale will be used to retire a similar amount of maturing indebtedness.

STATE JUDICIARY REFORM GROUP TO MEET IN JANUARY

R. E. Culver, Chairman, Says He Favors Appointment of Circuit and Appellate Judges.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Dec. 14.—R. E. Culver, St. Joseph lawyer named by the State Supreme Court as chairman of a judicial council to work out reforms in the State judiciary system, today said he would call the first meeting of the council in January at Jefferson City. Culver, a former Circuit Judge, and member of the 1928 constitutional convention, said he personally favored a change in the State laws that will remove selection of judges from "the mad scramble of primary and general elections." He suggests that Circuit and Appellate judges be appointed by the Governor or with the advice and consent of the Senate, or that if they continue to be elected by other officials, "if we continue electing judges I favor longer terms with ineligibility for re-election," said Judge Culver.

WEST AFRICA LOCUST PLAGUE

All Vegetation Destroyed in Angola Area.
BOSTON, Dec. 14.—Workers of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions report that in Angola, West Africa, millions of locusts have swept down "again and again" destroying every "vegetable, tree or bit of grass." New seed barely pushes its sprouts above the ground, the reports say, before the hordes of locusts appear.
Miss Mary W. Hulbert of Sedalia, Mo., an American board worker in the Angola area, said the swarms of locusts often were 20 miles wide and seven miles long. "The locusts came six weeks ago and have eaten us out," Miss Hulbert wrote in a letter to the board's headquarters here. Even poison spread from airplanes has had no effect on the swarms.

UNEMPLOYED PICKET EAST SIDE RELIEF JOB

500 Demanding Union. Scale Gather at Lake Park as 100 Start Work.
About 100 men, most of them on St. Clair County relief rolls, started work today on improvement of the 1130-acre Lake Park tract, at the edge of East St. Louis, while 500 members of the Federal and State Air Association, comprising unemployed men on relief, stationed themselves as pickets at the edge of the park. The park job is a work relief project, financed by $19,000 in FERA funds.
The pickets, who protest against the scale of wages and hours provided on work relief projects, were ordered by park police to remain back of the north line of Lake drive, which skirts the park on the north. No violations of the police order were attempted. The pickets said they would approach the workers when they left the job and try to persuade them to join the strike.
It had been planned to put 300 men to work today but most of them failed to appear, some joining the pickets. Those who reported were put to work cutting weeds and grading lake banks. They will be paid 42 cents an hour in cash and will work sufficient hours to equal the amount of their monthly relief allowance, plus 5 per cent. The strikers "demand the union wage scale for common labor, 75 cents an hour, and a 30-hour week."

WOMAN SHOT TO DEATH NEAR BROOKFIELD, MO.

Unidentified Body Found Beside Road With Pistol Nearby.

By the Associated Press.
SALISBURY, Mo., Dec. 14.—The body of an unidentified woman, about 30 years old, was found beside a country road eight miles southwest of Brookfield, Mo., late yesterday. She had been shot.
Leo Roberts, a farmer, reported a motor car containing the woman and a man stopped at his farm yesterday and its occupants inquired the direction to a main highway. The pair drove off and a few minutes later he heard a shot, he said, but he paid no attention to it. Shortly afterward, he said, the same motor car passed his house, but he did not notice who was in it. The body was found by telephone linemen. The woman was clad only in a red gingham house dress, a black cloth coat and slippers. There was a bullet wound in the back of her head and an empty pistol lay at her side. She wore a gold wedding ring.
The woman was 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighed 150 pounds, had blue gray eyes and reddish-brown hair. Roberts said the man in the car was of medium build, wore a light hat and a brown leather jacket. The body was taken to Mendon, Mo., to be held for possible identification.

Farmer Hangs Self in Barn.
MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Dec. 14.—Robert Young, 65 years old, who left his home about 10 a. m. Wednesday was found hanging in his barn last night. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by hanging. He was a farmer. Despondency is given as cause of his act. He leaves a family.

Injured by Fall Off Wagon.
Henry Holten, who lives three miles west of Jerseyville, Ill., is in a serious condition, suffering from a fracture of the skull. Holten was in a wagon unloading coal at his country home. While scooping the coal from the wagon he stepped too far back and fell to the ground.

JAPAN SAYS IT REALLY WANTS THREE-POWER NAVAL TREATY
Admiral Expresses Hope of Agreement Americans at London.
By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 14.—Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto of Japan told Admiral William H. Standley of the United States today that Japan was most sincere in a desire for a new naval treaty mutually satisfactory to Japan, the United States and Great Britain. He expressed this hope in the course of a visit he paid the United States naval delegation's headquarters.
He urged that the United States not use Japan's forthcoming denunciation of the Washington naval treaty of 1922 as an excuse for the formal termination of the present naval conversations among the three Powers, and suggested that the Americans agree with the British and the Japanese in setting a date for the resumption of conversations next year.
He protested that it was unfair to blame the Japanese for the failure of the conversations just because Japan denounced the treaty which specified the present 5-5-3 ratio of the three Powers' navies.
The Americans, it is understood, feel there is no reason to set a date for the resumption of conversations unless the Japanese guarantee that an agreement would be possible at that time.
Dartmouth Fraternity Inquiry.
By the Associated Press.
HANOVER, N. H., Dec. 14.—President Ernest Martin Hopkins of Dartmouth College has appointed a committee of alumni, college executives and undergraduates to investigate the Dartmouth fraternity system and undergraduate social life. Palaeoptus, student governing body, recently requested such an investigation, branding the fraternity system "unwholesome, unhealthy, and unnatural."
One-to-Five Years for Burglary.

COUNTY TAX BILL

SALES TOTAL $9631

Payments Made on $33,374
More—"Not a Huge Success," Collector Says.

The daily sales of delinquent 1932 tax bills against St. Louis County real estate, which began Nov. 5 and ended yesterday, resulted in payments to Collector Benson aggregating $43,008.74, of which $33,374.62 represented settlements by property owners before sales, and $9,631.12 receipts from actual sale of tax bills.

Collector Benson characterized the sales as "not a huge success," adding that the county in due course probably would have collected nearly as much on the bills even if the sales had not been held. Benson is opposed to the Jones-Munger law, passed by the last Legislature, under which the sales were held and is hopeful that it will be declared unconstitutional in a test suit now pending.

14,103 Bills Offered.
A total of 14,103 tax bills on property in 84 of the 90 school districts was offered for sale over the 31 days when sales were held. Of the total, 2992 of the bills were settled by property owners before sales and 1096 were actually sold. The remaining 10,015 bills on which there were no bids will be re-advertised next year.

If still unsold, they will be advertised again in 1935 and then will be sold for the largest amount bid, even though that amount is lower than the face of the bill. In sales the first and second years, bids must be at least as high as the amount of the bill.

No Guaranty of Title.
Under the law, the purchaser of a bill obtains title to the property after two years, unless the owner reimburses him, with 8 per cent interest. There is no guarantee of title and presumably taxes are delinquent on most pieces for years before and after 1932. If 1933 taxes are unpaid, bills for that year will be offered for sale in 1935.

Sales were conducted by Arthur U. Simmons, attorney for the collector, with the aid of clerks. At first the sales were well attended, but on succeeding days interest lagged and only a handful of prospective buyers was on hand. Some of the buyers were speculators and others mortgage-holders on property involved.

Similar sales were not held in St. Louis because Collector Koenig could not arrange for the required publication of notices. He was instrumental in bringing suit to test the law, which has been widely criticized.

THOMASSON WILL SUIT TRIAL RESUMED WITH 11 JURORS

Counsel Agree to Continue Without Twelfth Man, Whose Illness Halted Hearing Monday.

Trial of the suit to set aside the will of Hugh W. Thomasson, elderly realty owner, who left his property, with an estimated value of $725,000, for the benefit of public institutions of Missouri, was resumed today before a jury in Circuit Judge Landwehr's court. The trial started last week but was halted Monday because of the illness of a juror, William W. Keyser, 6100 Westminster place. It was resumed yesterday, counsel having agreed to go ahead with 11 jurors, as Keyser was unable to be present.

The suit was filed by 50 collateral heirs of Thomasson, who alleged he was mentally incapable of making a legal will. The hearing yesterday Mrs. Hillel Unterberg, John C. Morfit and John H. Simon gave medical testimony in support of the petitioners' charge as to mental incapacity.

Thomasson died in January, 1933. His marriage in July, 1930, to Mrs. Grace Mahood, a young divorcee, was followed by a large amount of litigation, including a suit to annul the marriage. Thomasson, according to testimony, later directed that this suit be dismissed. Following his death Mrs. Thomasson accepted a settlement of her interest in his estate.

HEADS CLEANERS AND DYERS

Joseph M. Quinn, Union Business Agent, Elected President.
Joseph M. Quinn, business agent of the Cleaners, Dyers and Pressers' Union, Local 17,920, was elected president of the union at a meeting last night at Unity Hall, 2646 Page boulevard. The president is also the financial secretary and treasurer.

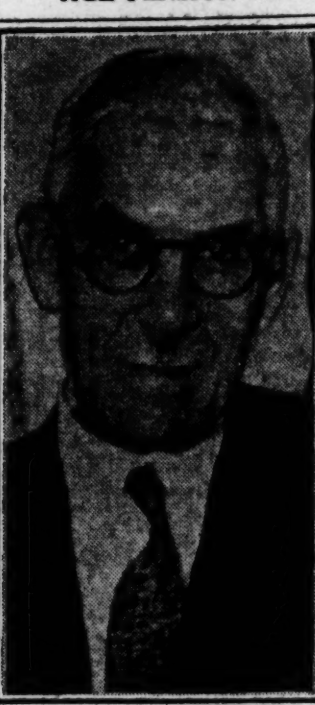

Benjamin Luepke, former president, was chosen business agent, and Herman Cowdery was re-elected recording secretary. An Executive Board consisting of three trustees and three members also was named. The officers are for a term of three years. About 150 of the union's 200 members attended the meeting.

Australian House Approves Grant to Mrs. Uim; Senate Yet to Act.
CANBERRA, Australia, Dec. 14. The House of Representatives passed a bill today, making a grant of $25,000 to Mrs. Charles T. P. Uim, whose husband has been missing for 10 days on a Government sponsored trans-Pacific flight. Although Uim carried $25,000 in life insurance, supporters of the measure said this would be needed to settle his liabilities. The measure goes to the Senate.

Three Drown Under Floes.
By the Associated Press.
CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Dec. 14.—Trapped amid ice floes which crushed their tiny rowboat, three boys drowned in the Schuylkill River yesterday as they set out on a muskrat-trapping expedition. While 10 men, powerless to aid, stood on the banks of the river, the boys were thrown from the boat and sank under a drifting ice cake.

MOVERS BLOCK PLAN FOR HOUSING EXHIBIT

Union Refuses to Donate Services in Transporting Two Dwellings to Plaza.

Refusal of union house movers to donate their services in moving two frame houses to Memorial Plaza has blocked, temporarily at least, plans of the Better Housing Campaign Committee to stage a "before and after" exhibit of modernized and dilapidated houses on the plaza.

Work of moving the houses, located at 4471 and 4467 (rear) Papin street on the route of the new express highway, was to have begun Wednesday morning. According to Benedict Farrar, chairman of a committee planning the modernization and remodeling work on one of the homes, the Building Trades Council agreed to furnish gratis all building workers connected with their organization, which includes all building trades with the exception of carpenters.

Carpenters, with whom the house movers are associated are under the Carpenters' District Council, a separate organization. This organization, Farrar says, has refused to furnish men, apparently holding they should be paid for their services from Federal Housing Administration funds. The council did not refuse, Farrar says, to let individual movers work on the project if they so wish. Joseph C. Sipp, secretary of the council, refused to comment.

A meeting of Farrar's committee with representatives of the Contractors' Association of St. Louis was called for today in an effort to get action on the plan.

City Food Supervisor Promoted.
A. B. Kelly, supervisor of food in the Health Department, was promoted yesterday to have supervision of food, meat and milk. City Bacteriologist Willett had served in that capacity in addition to his other duties.

CITY HALL PIGEONS REFUSE TO BE OUSTED

Specialist Designs Scientific Trap but Birds Steer Clear of it.

Another campaign to eliminate the pigeons which roost on City Hall has met with failure, marked by an empty trap on the south lawn of the building.

Traps have been tried before, guns have been resorted to, but still the pigeon flock has held its own, climaxed hundreds of suggestions by sending Lee C. Marquardt, city building superintendent, a salt shaker with the hint to sprinkle salt on their tails.

Man Found Shot to Death.
By the Associated Press.
MATAWAN, N. J., Dec. 14.—The body of a man, shot through the temple, was found frozen in a ditch yesterday and identified through fingerprints, State Police said, as that of Victor Linde, of Albany, N. Y. Linde was wanted in Troy, N. Y., on a murder charge, Albany police reported.

To The PEOPLE of ST. LOUIS

The Gas House Workers Union No. 18799 has called a strike of its members who work for the Laclede Gas Light Company. This membership is considerably less than a majority of the total employees of The Laclede Gas Light Company.

For approximately ninety years The Laclede Gas Light Company has given unfailing service to the community, and will do everything that is fair and justifiable to insure that such service will continue uninterrupted.

THEIR DEMANDS

The Gas House Workers Union No. 18799 was organized the latter part of the year 1933. This company has always shown a willingness to negotiate labor matters of any kind with all individual employees or groups of employees, and to meet their demands whenever reasonable. The representatives of the Gas House Workers Union No. 18799 have presented a demand that they negotiate all matters pertaining to hours of labor, working conditions and wages for all employees of the manufacturing and distribution departments, even though they are not members of Gas House Workers Union No. 18799. This demand we cannot meet.

We have explained our position to the representatives of Gas House Workers Union No. 18799 clearly and logically; we have made continued efforts to settle our differences peaceably; yet these representatives have ordered a strike to force their demands upon us.

OUR POSITION

Negotiations between the company and representatives of Gas House Workers Union No. 18799 terminated with the company maintaining the following position:

It is our understanding of the law that this company must deal with its employees either as individuals not affiliated with any labor organization, or with the officers of any organization in which certain groups of employees are members. Since this is our view, it is obvious that this company must be at all times in a position to entertain complaints, suggestions and requests from any individual employee or groups of employees.

Our position is stated so that all users of gas will fully understand the situation.

Christmas Cookies Make An Impressive Showing

Simplicity of Recipes Detract No Whit From the Inherent Goodness of These Little Cakes.

There can never be too many cookies! At least not for the hostess who entertains during the holidays and makes them for gift boxes. Cookies have a way of simply disappearing what with aids by the younger members of the family and the head of the house.

These cookies are very easy to make. The one chore is cutting them and baking, and for this reason we suggest that you do not try to make more than three kinds in one session. Of course, if you can draft your family, set aside a certain time and then get down to the business of baking seriously. Its really fun and the results are truly gratifying.

Holiday Cookies.

Melt one-half cup butter and stir into one pound of honey, one-half small grated nutmeg or one-half teaspoon, and the grated rind of two small lemons. Stir all together over the fire until well mixed, cool and place in a refrigerator over night. Add two cups of flour, or enough to make a soft dough, sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder. Roll lightly to one-fourth inch thickness, cut in desired shapes and sprinkle top with chopped nuts, candied cherries or colored sugar.
Bake at 400 degrees for about 15 minutes.

Cinnamon Stars.

Beat six egg whites stiff, add two cups of sugar mixed with one teaspoon cinnamon. Work in one pound of shelled almonds which have been put through a food chopper. Sprinkle a bread pan with powdered sugar and roll out the dough, and cut with a star-shaped cutter. Bake in a very slow oven until slightly brown.

If you like the macaroon variation of this recipe, take one cup sugar mixed with one-half teaspoon cinnamon to three beaten egg whites and one-third pound of ground almonds. Drop on a buttered tin and bake in a slow oven until puffed and slightly brown.

One pound of almonds yield about one-third pound of shelled nuts.

Butter Rings.

These are made with the egg yolks left from the cinnamon stars.
Use a cookie press for the best result, though they can be made by rolling thin on a floured board. The recipe requires six egg yolks, three-fourths cup butter, three-fourths cup sugar, two and one-half cups flour sifted with three-fourths teaspoon baking powder and the rind and juice of half a lemon. Brush with egg white and powdered sugar and bake in a quick oven for about 10 minutes, or until cookies are lightly colored.

Rocks.

Cream one and one-half cups sugar with one cup of butter, add three well-beaten eggs and one teaspoon vanilla. Mix and sift three cups flour with one-fourth teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon cinnamon. Dissolve one teaspoon baking soda in one tablespoon of hot water and add to first mixture. Add one pound of broken nuts and one pound of stoned-out dates and lastly the flour mixture. Make a stiff dough and drop on buttered tin and bake in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes.

Pecan Macaroons.

Beat two egg whites stiff and add two cups of brown sugar.
Sprinkle one pound of shelled broken pecans with a teaspoon of salt and add to the brown sugar and egg white mixture. Drop on a buttered cookie sheet and bake in a slow oven. Decorate with candied cherries.

Spice Cookies.

Heat one cup of molasses and melt one-half cupful of butter in it.
Let cool. Mix and sift two and one-third cups flour, one teaspoon soda, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one and one-half teaspoon ginger and two teaspoons cinnamon. Last of all add one-fourth cup of shredded, floured citron and two tablespoons of water. Chill and roll out on a floured board. Cut with a floured cutter and bake in a hot oven from six to 10 minutes, dependent on the thickness of the cookies.

Fudge Cake.

Cream one-half cup butter and one cup sugar, add two eggs well beaten, one teaspoon vanilla, four tablespoons cocoa sifted with three-fourths cup flour. Add one-half cup of pecans last and spread in a layer cake pan and bake for 30 minutes in a moderate oven. When cool cut into squares.

Date Kisses.

Beat two egg whites, add one cup of powdered sugar and lastly one cup of chopped dates and one cup of nuts. Drop onto a greased tin and bake in a very slow oven until puffed and slightly brown.

Almond Strips.

Cream one-half cup butter with three-fourths cup sugar and add one well beaten egg. Sift one cup flour with one-half teaspoon cinnamon and add last of all one cup of ground almonds. Roll thin and cut in strips and bake until light brown in a moderate oven.

Date Bars.

Beat three egg yolks and add two tablespoons milk and one cup of sugar. Sift one and one-fourth cups flour with two teaspoons baking powder and add to first mixture.
Add one cup of chopped nuts and one and one-half pounds chopped dates. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites last and bake in a flat open pan in a moderate oven for about

COOKIES IN FANCY SHAPES AND TRIMMINGS ARE PART OF CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

NOW is the time to get out your fancy cookie cutters and gadgets if you want your cookies to make a good showing.

Decoration is half the cookie and even the plainest may preen themselves under a judicious sprinkling of colored sugar or dragees.

Watch your oven carefully.
Cookies have a way of going too brown very suddenly.

Have a care with flour. Use a little less than the recipe calls for if you want to be sure the dough won't turn out too dry.
Angelica and candied cherries give that final Christmas touch to your handiwork.

25 minutes. Press down lightly to form a smooth layer and when cool cut in narrow strips and dust with powdered sugar. These are delicious!

ALTERNATE RICH CHRISTMAS PUDDING WITH LIGHTER ONE IF YOUR FAMILY PREFERS

If your family says thumbs down on plum pudding as being too rich after a large Christmas dinner, try this pudding with either a brandy or a hard sauce:

Steamed Cranberry Pudding.
Cream one-third cup butter with two-thirds cup sugar and add two eggs, well beaten. Mix and sift two and one-half cups flour with powder and add to first mixture alternately with one-third cup milk.
Stir in one cup of cranberries, fill buttered molds two-thirds full and steam for three hours. Serve hot with your favorite sauce, which may be flavored with vanilla, brandy or wine as you prefer.

PLAIN DESSERTS RESPOND TO THIS HOT SAUCE

Ice cream responds to this hot sauce and even day-old angel cakes and plain desserts are greatly improved by its company.

Hot Fudge Sauce.
Three squares of chocolate.
One-fourth cup water.
One cup sugar.
One-half cup white corn syrup.
One cup evaporated milk.
One teaspoon vanilla.

Melt chocolate in a double boiler and add water gradually. Stir until smooth and add sugar and syrup.
Cook to a soft ball stage. Remove

Christmas Pudding May Be Served Hot or Cold
Modified for American Taste and Filled With Raisins and Currants It Requires a Good Sauce.

Holly and mistletoe, Christmas dinner and plum pudding, but plum pudding it must be or Christmas would be just like any other holiday. Whether you make your own or take advantage of the commercial product that comes to you in involving little or no work, these suggestions will be quite helpful.

The modern adaptation of the huge English pudding that was served when the board fairly groaned with things to eat is a bit more suited to the average American taste. The main thing is that the pudding be full of fruit, spicy in flavor and served with a really good sauce. The real English pudding is rich and crumbly. The American adaptation of fruit combined with chocolate and gelatin to make a cold plum pudding is surprisingly good. Suit your taste, using large or small molds and serve the pudding with flaming brandy if you like, in the old traditional manner.

Old English Plum Pudding.
Here is an old English recipe which is mostly fruit and therefore very rich. It may be modified by the addition of half a cup of flour and one cup stale bread crumbs. Chop one-half pound of beef suet and add one-half pound of light brown sugar. Add two-thirds pound of currants and two-thirds pound of raisins, two ounces of citron cut, Beat three eggs well and add and stir in half a cup of sherry and brandy, mixed, and the grated rind and juice of one lemon. Flavor to taste with cinnamon, and allspice. Pour into a well greased pudding mold and steam for three hours.

Plum Pudding.
This recipe is for a moderately rich, old-fashioned plum pudding that may be made any day now and stored in a cool place until Christmas or New Year.

Mix one cup sifted flour with two cups fine, stale bread crumbs, then add three-fourths cup finely chopped beef suet, rubbing it well into the flour. Next add one and one-fourth cups light brown sugar, one teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon each ground cloves and allspice. Mix one cup well washed currants with one and one-half cups chopped raisins, one-half cup chopped figs, one-fourth pound chopped candied citron, one-fourth cup chopped mixed orange and lemon peel (candied) and one-half cup chopped walnut meats. Add this mixture to the flour mixture, stir well and add three well beaten eggs a one and one-half cups milk. Mix all together, add one-half cup grape juice, brandy or brandy flavoring, pour into a well greased pudding mold, cover and steam for three hours. When done, remove the cover and let the pudding cool in the mold, unless it is going to be used right away. When ready to serve reheat by steaming for 30 to 45 minutes.

HERE IS THAT DIFFERENT SAUCE FOR YOUR PLUM PUDDING
If your happiness is not complete without at least one item on your Christmas menu that is different, try this sauce for the pudding. Kirsch is a delightful kind of brandy that gives a flavor all its own.

Mix one cup powdered sugar with three tablespoons milk and two tablespoons of kirsch in the top of a double boiler and warm but do not boil. Add slowly to one-half cup of creamed butter and serve.

Pudding Sauce Supreme.
Work one-quarter pound butter to a soft cream and work in gradually one and one-quarter cups powdered sugar. Beat to a soft cream, add one egg yolk and two tablespoons brandy or fruit juice and beat for a few minutes. Whip one-half cup cream until stiff and fold into the butter mixture. Serve cold.

Cold Plum Pudding.
Scald one quart milk, add one-half pound unsweetened chocolate cut in small pieces and cook in a double boiler until the chocolate is melted and well blended with the milk. Add three-quarters cup sugar and three tablespoons plain gelatin that has been soaked in one-half cup cold milk until soft. Stir until the sugar and gelatin are dissolved, then remove from the fire, add one teaspoon vanilla and cool until the mixture starts to thicken. Mix together one teaspoon each grated lemon and orange peel, one-quarter cup shredded candied citron, one cup seedless raisins, one cup chopped blanched almonds, one-half cup chopped shredded coconut, and one-quarter cup chopped candied cherries. Stir until the pudding is quite thick. Packing the bowl of pudding in a pan of cracked ice will hasten the thickening process. When thickened, add the fruit and pour into a pudding mold that has been lightly oiled, and set aside to chill. Turn out on a large platter and garnish with a sprig of holly. Serve with the sauce mentioned above or with plain, sweetened whipped cream.

Frozen Plum Pudding.
Soak one tablespoon plain gelatin in one-fourth cup cold water for five minutes. Scald two cups milk, add four squares unsweetened chocolate and stir until melted, then add the gelatin and remove from the fire. Cool, and when cold stir in two and one-half cups thin cream, one cup chopped candied fruit, one cup seedless raisins, one-half cup chopped blanched almonds, one-half cup crushed macaroons and one-fourth cup brandy or brandy flavoring or fruit juice. Freeze in the usual manner and let stand for at least an hour to ripen.

HOLIDAY SWEETS MAY BE QUITE SIMPLE
Whether Purchased or Made Candies Give the Occasion the Festive Touch.

Candies and other sweets are as much a part of Christmas as the Christmas tree, holly and Santa Claus. Whether the sweets are made at home or bought, we must have them to make our festivities truly festive!

There are a number of varieties of home-made sweets that are simple to make and not expensive. Where there are children in the family, they will love to join in the making of these and the following recipes are planned especially for that purpose. Older girls or boys will delight in making the apple "Santa Claus" for the youngsters or as favors for Christmas dinner.

Santa Claus Favors.
Use firm, perfect red apples for these. Shine them up, and use one for each favor. The apple itself makes the body, "the round red belly, that shakes when he laughs like a bowlful of jelly." A large marshmallow forms the head which is fastened to the stem end of the apple on a toothpick. Bunch three or four toothpicks together for each "leg" and push them up in the apple about one-half inch. Stick raisins on the toothpicks to give the appearance of boots, and use a piece of fig for the foot. Twist a piece of cotton wool around the center of the apple for a belt and fasten it with a bit of toothpick. Little tufts of cotton make the buttons of the "jacket" and they may be fastened on with sugar icing or toothpicks. Make features in chocolate on the marshmallow and a beard of cotton. A fold of red crepe paper makes the cap, and Santa is finished.

Candied Grapefruit Peel.
Candied grapefruit or orange peel, chocolate covered, is fine for Christmas dinner, and the nice part about is that it utilizes an otherwise waste product. Remove the inside white skin from the peels of four large oranges or two grapefruits. Put the yellow rinds in a saucepan and cover with cold water. Heat slowly to the boiling point and, if grapefruit peel is being used, pour off the water, cover with fresh cold water and heat again to the boiling point. Boil gently for 30 minutes or until soft enough to pierce with a toothpick. Drain and cool. Scrape out any soft pulp on the inside of the rind with a spoon, and cut the yellow rind in long strips with a knife or scissors. Put two cups sugar and one cup water in a saucepan, stir over a slow fire until the sugar melts, then boil without stirring to 242 degrees, or until the syrup spins a thread when a little is dropped from a spoon. Add the orange or grapefruit peel and boil for 10 minutes or until it is rather transparent around the edges. Lift the peel from the syrup with a skimmer and drop on a platter of granulated sugar. Roll the peel around in the sugar until each piece is thoroughly coated, then place on waxed paper to cool and dry. As the peel is rolled in sugar, the pieces will separate, so don't try to roll each one separately. When cold, store in a glass jar or a tin box.

If you want to have them chocolate covered, melt one-half pound of sweetened dipping chocolate (ask for this by name at the grocers) over a warm, not boiling water. Cook the peel as above, but remove from the syrup, drain and cool on waxed paper without rolling it in sugar. When cool, dip in the melted chocolate, drain and drop on waxed paper to harden.

Another attractive way to cook grapefruit peel is to color the syrup with a little red or green color—or divide the syrup in two parts, and color one red and the other green. Cook the peel in the colored syrup so that it will come out red or green. Instead of cutting the peel in strips, make crescents, star shapes, etc., using small cutters to stamp out the shapes. After the peel is cooked in the colored syrup, drain it, cool and roll each piece in confectioners' sugar.

Black Walnut Caramels.
These are always popular and make a nice Christmas gift when packed in an attractive box.

Put two cups granulated sugar, two cups white corn syrup and one-fourth teaspoon salt in a heavy saucepan and stir occasionally until the mixture reaches 245 degrees Fahrenheit or until a little of it dropped in cold water forms a firm ball. Add one-half cup butter, then pour in two cups evaporated milk adding it a little at a time so that the mixture does not stop boiling. Boil rapidly until a little of the mixture dropped in cold water forms a firm ball, then stir constantly and continue boiling until the mixture becomes very thick. Remove from the fire, add one teaspoon vanilla and one cup black walnut meats, coarsely chopped. Pour into a greased pan and let cool thoroughly before cutting. Cut in squares when cold. This is easiest to do if the candy is turned out on a board and cut with a sharp knife.

Peanut and Carrot Sandwich.
Mix peanut butter or finely ground peanuts with chopped raw carrots or onion and enough milk or cream to make the mixture easy to spread. Season to taste with salt and use as the filling for sandwiches.

A TRULY AMERICAN SAUCE VARIES VEGETABLE ROUTINE
Here is a new, strictly American sauce to help you vary the monotony of winter vegetables. It is highly nutritious and will appeal especially to children because of its excellent flavor. Besides, it is an extra inducement to make them eat some particularly disliked vegetable.

Peanut Sauce for Vegetables.
Two cups milk.
Three tablespoons flour.
Three-fourths cup finely ground peanuts.
One tablespoon butter or other fat.
Salt and pepper to taste.
Heat all the milk except about a half a cup. Blend this cold milk with the flour and add to the hot milk. Stir until thickened, and cook over hot water for 10 minutes.

Peas and Peas.
Add the peanuts, fat, and salt and pepper to taste.
Or, instead of the ground peanuts, use one-half cup of peanut butter and omit the flour and fat. Blend the peanut butter with a little of the hot milk and stir into the rest and cook until the sauce thickens.

Serve the peanut sauce hot on boiled rice, potatoes, hominy or cooked cabbage and celery.

A Cooking Note.
If beans are cooked too fast or too long they will break or pop open. Soak them overnight in plenty of cold water. In the morning drain, cover with fresh cold water, heat slowly to the boiling point and boil very gently until tender. If they are to be baked, boil them until you can blow the skin back on a bean when you lift it from the water. Bake them in a slow oven for two to four hours, depending on the depth of the bean pot.

WEST INDIES MUFFINS
One cup bran.
One cup sour milk.
Two tablespoons shortening.
Four tablespoons sugar.
One egg.
One and one-half cups flour.
One-half teaspoon soda.
One teaspoon baking powder.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One teaspoon cinnamon.
Three-fourths cup banana cut very fine.
Soak bran in sour milk. Cream together the shortening and sugar. Add egg and beat well. Mix and sift flour, soda, baking powder, salt and cinnamon, and beat into creamed mixture alternately with soaked bran. Now fold in bananas and pour into greased muffin tins. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 25 to 30 minutes.

DOCTOR SAID SHE NEEDED "BULK" FOR HER CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief to Mrs. Manely

Read the following unsolicited letter:

"Up to five years ago, I knew no end of suffering caused by constipation. I used all kinds of laxatives but only found relief till I got used to them. My physician told me to get some Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and ins'acted me how to use it.

"I did just as I was told by my doctor, and today I send my highest praise for what your ALL-BRAN has done for me."—Mrs. Jas. Manely, Jr., 9 Kilburn St., Valley Falls, R. I.

*Due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to help overcome common constipation. It is also a good source of vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" of ALL-BRAN is often more effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoons daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Isn't this food much pleasanter and safer than risking patent medicines? Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

APPLE SAUCE FRUIT CAKE IS LIGHTER THAN THE TRADITIONAL ONE

For those who don't like the rich flavor of fruit cake there is a variation of a lighter cake which uses applesauce and is really quite good. This cake should be baked a day or so before it is intended to be used as the moisture and flavor improve in the cake. Suit your own taste about the quantity of fruits put in, using candied cherries and pineapple if you like to make up the quota. A tablespoon of any fruit may be added or omitted as you prefer. This cake will not keep as long as the traditional fruit cake. Left within easy access of your family it won't last more than two or three days at best.

Fruit Cake.
(with apple sauce)
One and one-half cups sugar.
One and one-half tablespoons lard.
One-half cup broken nutmeats.
One teaspoon cinnamon.
One teaspoon cloves.
One teaspoon nutmeg.
Two cups unsweetened applesauce.
One and one-half teaspoons baking soda dissolved in a little warm water.
Three cups of flour.
One cup chopped dates.
One-half cup shredded citron, lemon and orange peel and sultana raisins.
One tablespoon brandy.
Cream sugar and lard. Add spices to flour reserving some of the flour for the fruit. Add applesauce to first mixture then fruit and nutmeats, flour, baking soda and brandy. Bake for about one hour in a moderate oven in an angel cake pan.

Baked Apples Southern Style.
Core and cut into halves six apples. Lay in a baking dish skin side down. Pour over this a syrup made of two cups water, half a cup sugar and two tablespoons lemon juice. Bake until tender, being careful not to break. Place on a serving dish, fill center with apple jelly and pour the liquid from the pan over them. Press a meringue on the tops of the apples and bake in a moderate oven until the meringue is set.

SAUCES ADD FINAL TOUCH TO PUDDING

Authentic Flavoring Goes Well With the Spices and Fruits of the Christmas Dessert.

At this time every housewife's motto should be: A good sauce with a good pudding. Wine or rum may be added or omitted as you prefer. This cake will not keep as long as the traditional fruit cake. Left within easy access of your family it won't last more than two or three days at best.

Hard Sauce.
This is the old and well-known standby with plum pudding. Cream together one-half cup butter, one cup powdered sugar and one-fourth cup beaten cream, adding the sugar and cream alternately. Add one tablespoon wine, brandy or vanilla and serve very cold.

Savory Sauce.
One whole egg.
Two egg yolks.
One-half cup sugar.
One-half cup sherry.
One tablespoon lemon juice.
Mix all ingredients and cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Serve hot.

Vanilla or Lemon Sauce.
One-half cup sugar.
One tablespoon cornstarch.
One cup boiling water.
Two tablespoons butter.
One teaspoon vanilla.
Few grains salt.
Mix sugar and cornstarch, add water gradually, stirring constantly; boil five minutes, remove from fire, add butter, vanilla and salt.

For lemon sauce, omit vanilla and add one-half tablespoons lemon juice and a few grating nutmeg.
Foamy Wine Sauce.
Two eggs, separated.
One cup condensed milk.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons sherry.
Beat egg yolks with condensed milk. Add salt and sherry. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Makes two cups.

Instead of wine, two tablespoons of peach, apple or apricot brandy may be used to give a rich fruity flavor to this sauce.

Rum Hard Sauce.
One and one-fourth cups confectioners' sugar.
Two tablespoons condensed milk.
One tablespoon rum or rum extract.
Cinnamon.
Mix half the sifted confectioners' sugar with condensed milk. Add rum. Then add enough of the remaining confectioners' sugar to make the desired consistency. Form mixture into a roll and sprinkle top with a cinnamon. Cut in slices just before serving. Makes about one and one-fourth cups.

BANANA GRIDDLE CAKE
Three cups flour.
Four and one-half teaspoons baking powder.
One-fourth cup sugar.
One teaspoon salt.
Two cups milk.
One-fourth cup melted butter.
One and one-half cups sliced bananas.

One egg.
Mix and sift dry ingredients. Beat the egg, add the milk, and stir gradually into the dry ingredients. Add the melted butter, then the bananas, and drop by spoonfuls on a hot griddle. Cook on one side until full of bubbles, turn and cook on the other side.
Serve with syrup which has been heated for a few minutes before serving.

CHICKEN LIVER SANDWICH
Two large chicken livers.
Two pintos chopped.
Two hard-cooked eggs.
One teaspoon onion juice.
One teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One-eighth teaspoon paprika.
Cook the livers and chop well. Then add remaining ingredients and mix well. If the mixture is not of the right consistency to spread add a little mayonnaise. Spread on toasted triangles of bread.

POTATO CHEESE SOUP

Three medium sized potatoes,
Two cups boiling water,
Two to three cups milk,
Three tablespoons butter,
One-half small onion,
Two tablespoons flour,
One teaspoon salt,
Pepper, cayenne,
One tablespoon parsley.
One cup mild cheese grated.

Cook potatoes in boiling salted water until tender. Put through a strainer. Measure the liquid and add enough milk to make four cups. Scald. Melt the butter, add the finely chopped onion and simmer five minutes. Add the flour and seasonings and combine with the potato mixture. Cook three minutes and strain if desired. Add cheese and beat until smooth. Add chopped parsley and serve very hot.

Potatoes contain calcium and phosphorus, a relatively high percentage of iron, and a very high percentage of potassium.

FLAVOR!
Add the cheese to the soup, and mix well. Scald. Melt the butter, add the finely chopped onion and simmer five minutes. Add the flour and seasonings and combine with the potato mixture. Cook three minutes and strain if desired. Add cheese and beat until smooth. Add chopped parsley and serve very hot.

Baked Currant Jelly Custard.

Scald two cups milk. Mix one teaspoon flour with four tablespoons sugar, add one whole egg and two egg yolks, which have been beaten together slightly, one-eighth ## teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon vanilla.

Add slowly to scalded milk and pour into custard cups set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees), until firm. A knife blade run into center of custard will come out clean when done.

Cool and spread with Currant Jelly, then top with meringue made by beating two egg whites until stiff, then gradually whipping in three tablespoons sugar. Place in oven until delicately brown. Serve hot or cold. May be served with cream.

ALCATRAZ PRISONERS LOSING 'BIG SHOT' IDEA

By Isolation, Warden Seeks to Deflate Ego of 212 Convicts.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—In a high, remote prison on Alcatraz Island, a white-haired Warden is taking the "big shot" idea out of racketeers and gangsters. The Warden, James A. Johnston, here to confer with his chief, Sanford Bates, Federal Prison Director, says results are slowly being obtained.

His prison on rugged Alcatraz, a 12-acre rock jutting out of San Francisco Bay, holds 212 convicted criminals regarded by the Government as among the most dangerous men in this country—dangerous both to society and to morale in the ordinary penitentiary.

At Alcatraz they are set apart in an isolation as complete as Johnston's ingenuity, sharpened by years of penology, can devise, while he works at deflating their ego, at ridding them of their belief they are "big shots," to be known and admired.

No Movies or Music. For the 212 there are none of the movies and pleasures provided in other prisons. The only music there is the swift swirl of the tides 100 feet below at the base of rocky Alcatraz, an icy current singing the futility of escape.

They know, these 212, that they have come to the most impregnable prison yet developed in this country—to what Warden Johnston says is "the end of the prison trail."

He sees to it that they know, too, why the small privileges of other prisons are not forthcoming at Alcatraz—that the loss of privilege is the wage of "acting in" in the world outside and in the prisons from which they were transferred last summer to Alcatraz in a great desperado roundup.

The prison routine is rigid. Men work at some jobs, "but not at office jobs as in some other institutions," the Warden says. "They do not help to run the prison."

"Good for Them," He Says. The complete isolation, the basis of the Alcatraz experiment in penology, is "good for them" and for the country, he says, because "the people will see that we can put these so-called big shots in prison, and that we can and will keep them there."

"A rule of no outside contacts might not be generally good in all penology," Johnston explains, "but it must be kept in mind that in the case of these men even the most casual of such contacts would help to keep alive the 'big shot' feeling. We find the complete isolation is deflating the 'big shot' idea."

Thus, no visitors go to Alcatraz, whose great cell blocks are made of special steel virtually impervious; whose cell block gates are fitted with an electrical apparatus—a "weapon detector"—which would set off warning signals, visible and audible, if a piece of steel even an inch long were concealed in a convict's clothing as he passed.

ACCUSED OF POISONING BREAD OF NON-UNION BAKING FIRM

Two Men Held in Washington on Charges of Assault With Intent to Kill.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Alleged poisoning of bakers' restaurant for the company not employing union men led to the arrest yesterday of John Leonard Dorsey, 23 years old, and James Carlin Merchant, 21, on charges of assault with intent to kill.

Their arrest followed several days' investigation of evidence presented to police by Forrest O. Dowell, delivery man for Dutch Baker Boy, Inc., a house-to-house retail baking establishment. Dowell told police he was followed by two men in a car registered in Dorsey's name while making his deliveries and that they stopped at several places where he had left baked goods. He returned to these places later, Dowell said, and found the goods had been soaked with a strong acid solution. Chemists said the acid was so unpalatable that a person could not swallow enough of it in the food to cause death.

The two men held are employees of a wholesale baking firm which is not in competition with Dutch Baker Boy. The latter company recently was cited by the NRA for violating the bakers' code.

FIRST CHURCH OF ST. LOUISE

Jennings Heights Parish to Celebrate Completion of Building.

The parish of St. Louise de Marillac will celebrate the completion of its church, 6250 Garesche avenue, Jennings Heights, Sunday, with a solemn high mass at 10 a. m. The church is the first in the world to be dedicated in honor of St. Louise de Marillac, founder of the Sisters of Charity.

The parish, organized by Archbishop Glennon in June, has been holding services at Helen Hall, Helen and Emma avenues. Construction work on the church, a wood building, was started in October and gave employment to 25 men, of whom 23 are members of the parish.

Wounded With Bird Shot. Charles Adams, 725 North Sixteenth street, was shot in the right arm and side yesterday with bird shot, when he got off a freight train at Third street and Summit avenue, East St. Louis, after returning from a hunting trip, he told police. About 40 pellets struck him. He said he did not see who fired the shotgun. A physician treated him at home.

CARDINALS WILL BEGIN TRAINING EARLIER, NEXT SPRING

MANAGER FRISCH THINKS PAT MALONE WILL WIN 15 GAMES FOR CLUB IN 1935

By J. Roy Stockton.
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Branch Rickey and Sam Breadon, of the Cardinals, and Rogers Hornsby and L. C. McEvoy, of the Browns, were on their way back to St. Louis today, without a single player having been added to or subtracted from the St. Louis roster at the annual major league meeting. As at other December baseball conventions, "unprecedented activity in the player market," had been predicted, but except for three deals in which the Giants figured, there was no trading.

The National League's adoption of a modified night baseball program was the outstanding incident of the three days, judging by the conversation in the hotel lobbies, on street corners and in public gathering places after the magnates had adjourned. And the consensus was that the great national game had taken a backward step.

American League club owners and officials were indignant or scornful, newspaper commentators generally were irate and representatives of the National League were inclined to be reticent or apologetic.

A Burlesque Circuit.

"The National League has become a burlesque circuit, with dog races and night baseball," one critic declared.

"It is disgraceful for a league to be seduced into this advertising scheme," another objector stormed. "A cowardly surrender to commercialism," was the blast from a third quarter.

And so it went. American League officials declined to talk for publication, but in "off-the-record" conversations they said that it was a disgraceful thing and that the National League resented the National League action, taken without consulting its partners of the rival league.

The night baseball decision, by the way, was a triumph for Powell Crosley Jr., the new owner of the Reds. He entered the Cincinnati picture in 1933, through an agreement with a Cincinnati bank, which had taken over the baseball stock of Sidney Weil. Crosley, by investing only a small amount, obtained control, in effect, of the club and renamed the Reds' ball park "Crosley Field."

In view of the fine showing of the St. Louis All-Star last Thanksgiving day when they defeated the Whitebells of Chicago, 5 goals to 1, it is logical to look for a St. Louis triumph in tonight's intercity match. However, Sparta is a far stronger club than it has been in the past, principally because it has acquired a new center forward, Jimmy Wolf. He did not join the team until late last season and he has never before appeared in St. Louis. He put in two seasons with Kladno in Czechoslovakia before coming to the United States and he supplies the scoring punch that Sparta has lacked for many seasons. Sparta reached the Western cup final two years ago and held the champion Stix club to a 1-0 score at Chicago when Jimmy Roe scored the only goal of the game.

Central Forwards to Play.

In picking a team to face Sparta, the committee in charge stuck rather closely to the lineup that looked so well against the Whitebells. The Central club forward line, considered by many the best in the United States—certainly containing the highest priced players in the country—will be supported by the best defensive units of the other three club of the St. Louis Soccer League. Earl Fay, center halfback of the Mar club and a very important factor in the victory over the Whitebells, again will be at the pivot station.

Municipal League fans are looking forward to an interesting match when the Alpen Braus attempt to defeat the Spanish All-Stars. Seven of the Spanish boys are regular starters in professional league clubs, and among them are some of the outstanding players of the St. Louis Soccer League. One of them, Jose Rodriguez, goal tender, was almost solely responsible for the failure of the Central club to score a goal last Sunday when he made some of his most sensational stops ever seen here.

Stars May Graduate.

Although they know they are up against an exceptional team, Manager Elmer Dowling and his Alpen Braus are out to take the game in regular stride. They have been marching through the opposition at

Giants Send Myers To Reds for Stout And Mark Koenig

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.

MANAGER BILL TERRY of the New York Giants closed the major league baseball meeting late yesterday by putting over a belated trade with the Cincinnati Reds, whereby the Giants acquired title to infielder Mark Koenig and Pitcher Allyn Stout.

In return, the Giants gave up the so-called star shortstop of the minor leagues, Bill Myers, of the Columbus Club of the American Association. Terry made another deal earlier in the day, sending Pitcher Joe Bowman to the Phillies for Outfielder George Davis.

Bowman was a star pitcher of the Pacific Coast League two years ago, but was of little help to the Giants last year. Koenig was the regular shortstop of the world champion Yankees in 1933 and, after several years in the minors, landed with the Chicago Cubs. He was traded to the Reds last spring.

A proposal to prohibit radio broadcasting after the 1935 season was defeated. A proposal to prohibit synthetic Sunday doubleheaders also was voted down. Nothing was done about the Babe Ruth problem and the Boston dog race menace was dodged when Judge Fuchs assured his league and Commissioner Landis in insipid statements that he was doing nothing to "embarrass baseball or the National League."

It was reported last night that the Judge had committed himself to a baseball program for 1935 at least. Frankie Frisch, manager of the

"Pepper" Martin, Here for Arm Operation, Glad He Wasn't Traded

By Damon Kirby.

John Leonard (Pepper) Martin, the "ride 'em Cowboy" third baseman of the Cardinals, is in St. Louis to have a piece of chipped bone removed from his left elbow, after more than two months of hunting with Mrs. Martin south of the Rio Grande.

Since the world series closed rumors have had Martin being traded or sold to the Chicago Cubs or the Brooklyn Dodgers, but Pepper told the Post-Dispatch at St. John's Hospital yesterday that he was glad his departure had not gotten out of the rumor stage.

"Why, dad-burn it," he explained, "the fellows on the Cardinals are my classmates, you might say. We went to school together in the minors. I would have to bear down against them if I ever played with another club, but it seems to me deep down in my heart that I'd always be pulling for old Diz and Hal and the rest of them. And I haven't any complaint against the Cardinals as an organization. They have always treated me fine."

Martin, who learned of the possibility of night baseball in the National League after his arrival here yesterday morning, was not favorable toward the idea. He had some experience with after-dark baseball when he was with Syracuse of the International League in 1930.

Not Strong for Night Ball.

"I was playing center field, and I'll never forget the first high fly I went after under the lights. It was at Buffalo. The ball looked like a peanut with a tail on it—you might call it a comet. I got under the ball and thought I had it judged about right but when it came down it almost bit me between the horns. I said right then, and I still say, that I'm not strong for night baseball."

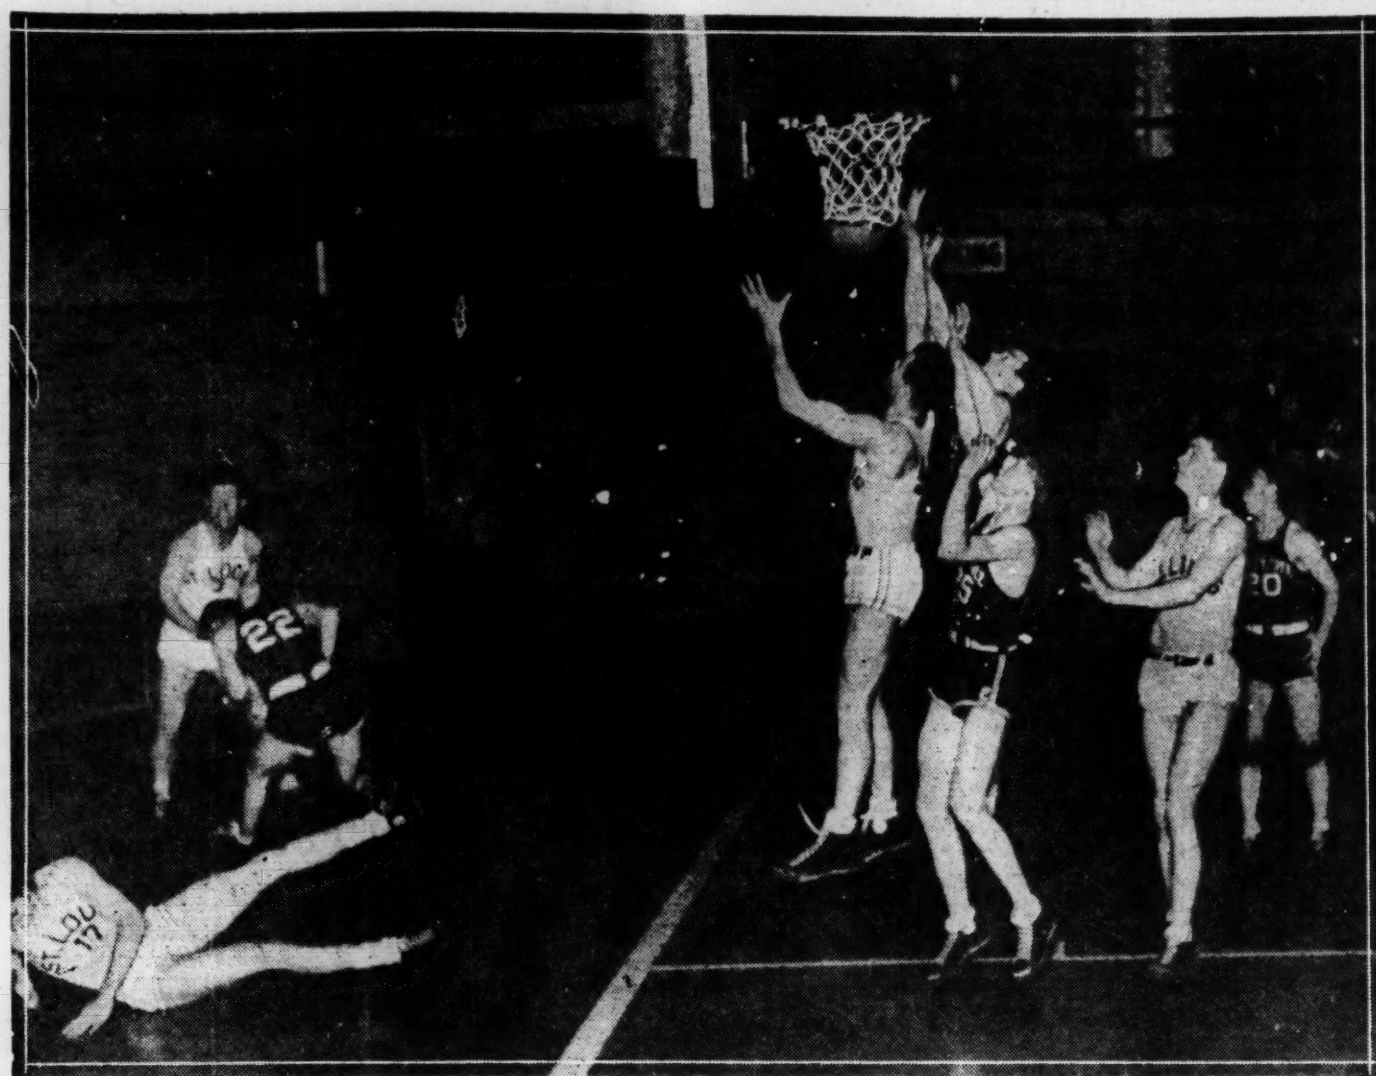

Martin departed from St. Louis after the world series with his arm in a cast. The cast was removed after eight days and the arm, although weak, was apparently all right overnight, until he exercised it vigorously in getting his car out of a mud hole. The next day, he said, it swelled up as it did when he used it in baseball.

He expects to return to Oklahoma City after the operation and remain there until departing for training camp.

Costly for the Billikens—Hoffman of St. Louis U. Broke His Wrist in This Play

Two men were hurt in the basketball action shown above. At left, on the floor, is Leonard Hoffman of the Billikens, who has just fallen following a collision with Cleve Stroh (No. 22) of McKendree. Stroh was knocked out and had to leave the game. Hoffman was taken to the hospital with a fracture of the wrist bone. In the foreground under the basket, left to right, are Bill Cochran, Lloyd Bise, John Flanagan, and Ken Wilson. The player whom Stroh appears to be butting is Krause. It looks as though McKendree were scoring a basket, but actually the ball went over and not through the cage.

Hoffman Suffers Broken Wrist as Billikens Beat McKendree Five, 39-21

By Reno Hahn.

St. Louis University's basketball team rallied in the second half to convert a close game into a 39-21 victory over the McKendree College five, last night, at the St. Louis University gymnasium.

The victory was a costly one, as Leonard Hoffman, center, who had led the winning attack, suffered a broken right wrist in the second period and will be lost to the team for the next six weeks.

The accident came as McKendree's forwards were attacking the Billikens' basket. Cleve Stroh of the Bearcats was going in under the basket for a goal, when Hoffman charged down the floor in an attempt to stop the shot. He smashed into Stroh and knocked him down. Hoffman either hit Stroh's head or the floor in breaking his wrist.

After the fall, the trainer gave Hoffman first aid, after which he was taken to the St. John's Hospital, where the doctors said it was a clean break.

Stroh was knocked unconscious on the play, and was out for several minutes. He was replaced but came back into the game a little later.

Hoffman is the second Billiken veteran to be lost in the same day to the squad for the season. Capt. Charles Dirksen, forward, was forbidden to play by the Student Health Council yesterday morning, because of high blood pressure.

The Billikens started last night's game by taking a 10-1 lead through close guarding by the Royal Blue, and some nice work from the set-up shots for the forwards.

A pair of one-handed shots, a set-up, and two free throws enabled the Bearcats to make the score 10-9 in favor of the Billikens. And just before the half ended, Mattis tallied on a long shot and Wilson matched it with a short shot from the side of the court, to make the score 12-11 at the half.

Starting the second half, Hoffman and Bob Cochran scored some plain and fancy shots close to the basket. Hoffman ending four goals and Bob Cochran two while Wilson counted one for McKendree to make the score, 26-13. Wilson added a free throw, and Flanagan dropped in a set up.

Hoffman and Bob Cochran then made trick spin shots from under the basket. Stroh for McKendree and Flanagan for the Billikens ended the field goals made. After Flanagan's goal, Hoffman collided with Stroh.

It was the second successive victory for the Billikens, as they opened their season last week with a 45-15 victory over the Alumni.

The Billikens meet Duquesne University, next Tuesday, at the St. Louis U. gymnasium, and will participate in novelty doubleheaders to be held at Washington University next Friday at St. Louis U.

The game next Saturday, at the St. Louis U. gymnasium, will be a doubleheader, with the Billikens playing against the Alumni, 147, time limit.

Quist Beats Perry In Straight Sets In Tennis Final

MELBOURNE, Australia.

Dec. 14.

FRED PERRY of England, world's ranking tennis player, lost his title as champion of Victoria today when he was soundly beaten in the semi-finals of the annual tournament by Adrian Quist, young Australian star. The scores were 6-0, 6-2, 6-0.

The court was extremely slow after a heavy rain and Perry was unable to play his usual fast game. Quist produced masterful tennis and was in complete control throughout.

Dick Hanley to Resign as Coach At Northwestern

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Richard E. (Dick) Hanley, who coached Northwestern to shares of the 1930 and 1931 Western Conference football championships, has been given an opportunity to resign, it was reliably reported today.

He has not made up his mind to do so, but it is considered likely that the Faculty Athletic Committee of the university at a meeting today will not recommend that another contract be offered him.

Although Northwestern's football fortunes have dwindled since 1931, it was said that opposition from a faculty group had more to do with the situation than criticism of his ability to develop winning teams.

Hanley conferred yesterday with Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of the university.

He was graduated from Washington State College in 1919, coached for two years at Pendleton (Ore.) High School. In 1933 he became head coach at Haskell, where his success brought him to the attention of Northwestern when it sought a successor to Glenn Thistlethwaite in 1927.

Hanley has been mentioned, among others, as a possibility to succeed Eddie Casey at Harvard.

WASHINGTON FOOTBALL PLAYERS ARE GUESTS AT ALUMNI DINNER

Members of the Washington University football squad were guests of the Washington University Alumni Association last night at a dinner held at the Congress Hotel.

About 150 alumni were present. Frank Bubb, president of the association, presided.

Coaches Jimmy Conzelman and Johnny Davidson were given watches. Speeches were made by Conzelman, Judge William D. Becker, Mayor Dave Millar of University City, and Gale Bullman, line coach of the Bears.

Game Highlights.

Herbert Fash, regular center last season, has been out because of a cold for the past week, but Coach Nyikos hopes that he will be able to break into action for the important games next week. If he can resume play, Hoffman's absence will not be so greatly missed.

In the seven minutes of the game after Hoffman left, there was not a single field goal made.

About 40 coaches from the district attended the "basketball clinic" held before and after the game. Coaches Nyikos, Don White of Washington, and R. I. Hartley of McKendree were the principal speakers.

MAT CARD TONIGHT IN WEBSTER GROVES

The program: Tom Garvey, 145, vs. Al Haemmerle, 137, to a finish; Earl Wadack, 160, vs. Tony Rath, 155, time limit; Charles Rodriguez, 148, vs. Frank Maher, 146, time limit; Virgil Kramer, 149, vs. Sam Spasour, 147, time limit.

Detroit Routs Eagles 11-2 to Set Season's Mark in Goal Scoring

By W. J. McGoogan.

"It looked like they were playing with two pucks," Bill Beveridge, goalie of the St. Louis Eagles remarked mournfully as he slowly dressed and prepared to depart with his mates for Montreal after getting the worst drubbing of his career at The Arena last night at the hands of the Detroit Red Wings, 11 to 2, in a National Hockey League game.

Bill naturally was the goat for the 3000 fans present and before the carnage was finished, he was being cheered every time he made any kind of a stop.

But no matter whose fault it was, Detroit was hot. The Wings, league champions last season, had just been shut out by Chicago, Sunday night, for their fourth defeat in nine games and on the way to St. Louis, Coach Jack Adams laid down an ultimatum to them to win. So win they did. And how.

Just a Succession of Shots.

There was just a flash of red in the building as the busy visitors buzzed around taking pot shots at the St. Louis net for 60 minutes. They scored 11 times and Beveridge had 40 saves, which gives a faint idea of what was going on.

Adams remarked after the game that it was tough on the Eagles to lose on their home ice by such a lopsided score.

"But we never let up in this game," he said, "we were out to get 17 if we could."

Of course, none of his hearers had been accusing Jack of ordering his men to take it easy for the way those goal-hungry men in the red uniforms went out to increase their scoring averages, there was no doubt about Detroit bearing down.

They threw more shots at Beveridge than the angry Detroit fans threw pieces of fruit at Joe Medwick during the world series. The only thing which was lacking was a double like Fra. Frisch hit with the bases full. At that somebody must have delivered an extra base blow with men on bases or can you possibly run up 11 scores, one .1 a time?

New Coach Unable to Talk.

It was a fine introduction for George "Buck" Boucher, the new Eagle coach. He appeared to have been hit in the face with a frozen boot after it was over.

"Why! What! How!" he spluttered (of course, those were not his words, nor do we want to be in the position of trying to print them). "How long has this been going on?" All season? They were terrible. They didn't do anything 'g right." The last was no secret.

What he is going to do to try to bring the team out of the losing spell which has reached the depths, Boucher didn't know. Only he said he would scramble the forward lines and try to get better combinations. Only the Howe-Brydson-Voss line will remain intact. And it would not be surprising if a new goalie appeared on the scene soon.

For 14 minutes the game moved along beautifully. Both teams were plugging and it was quite a contest. Then Howe got a penalty and the Detroit scoring started with Cooney Welland counting on a pass from Lewis. A few minutes later Scotty Bowman was banished. Goodfellow made a penalty shot stick and 15 seconds later scored again on a pass from Lewis.

Game Becomes a Rout.

After that the game was simply a rout. Welland scored Detroit's fourth goal a minute before the close of the first period while two more rattled into the St. Louis net in the second session and five in the final period.

For further details of the slaughter, please read the summaries.

Oh, yes, Carl Voss scored for St. Louis in the second period on a double pass from Howe and Brydson and just to show the never say die spirit, the Eagles got in the last lick, counting 12 seconds before the finish, Joe Lamb pasting the puck home on passes from Nick Wasie and Earl Roche.

Play Canadians Tomorrow.

Tomorrow night the Eagles play the Montreal Canadiens, then go to New York for a contest against the Americans and return home to play Toronto next Thursday.

Eddie Gerard, retiring coach, left after the first period last night for his home in Ottawa.

Last night's score was a season's record for the National League. Detroit had the previous high mark of eight goals and last week Montreal's Maroons counted eight times. However, 11-2 is nothing like an all time record.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Night Baseball Arrives.

THEY said it never would arrive—but here it is. Night baseball in the major leagues will become an official fact next season, in Cincinnati, at least.

The official baseball mind was slow to receive this thought. In fact, major-league intelligence has in the past moved ponderously only after great effort. Frequently it has not moved at all. For years it fought the idea of numbering players; and it still cannot be prodded into unified action in the important matter of keeping the park full attendance within the park as fully informed as the free listener to radio broadcasts.

Now, desperate situations require desperate remedies and quick action; so the National League consented to let the Cincinnati club play night games with such other teams as desire to take advantage of the permission, provided no more than seven games be played by any club.

The Cardinals have considered the night baseball idea for some time and are favorably disposed. Success of the minor league Cardinals heads that there is some virtue in night contests. How long the same conviction will take to seep through the minds of the two major leagues and result in official action is up to you to guess.

Mid-Week Attendance Fails.

THAT a consideration of night baseball by all leagues and clubs may be forced by changing conditions is a reasonable probability. More and more it is be-

WHITE, WITH 295, FINISHES THIRD IN MIAMI GOLF MEET

DUTRA GETS 292 TOTAL TO GAIN TITLE; TURNESA TAKES SECOND

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 14.—Olin Dutra, victorious in the Miami Biltmore open golf tournament, turned toward the new $5000 British Colonial open today in search of more golfing laurels.

Dutra beat back the challenge of the "stay at home" pros and the richer by $1200 for upholding the prestige of the touring professionals.

Mike Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., one of the players who seldom participated in a major competition, was second at 294 for the 72 holes, two strokes behind the national open champion. He collected $1000 for leading the second division.

The large field taking part in the annual classic ending yesterday had split today. A number of players, headed by Dutra, prepared to fly to Nassau, in the Bahamas Islands, to try for a portion of the prizes in the British event, Dec. 18-20. Others, with Walter Hagen in the van, started westward on the annual Gold Coast circuit. The Pasadena, Calif., open, Dec. 20-22, is their first objective.

Dutra falls into water. Even a serio-comic plunge into the water, from the seventeenth green where a small bridge collapsed couldn't upset Dutra. Dutra, national open champion, was precipitated half-way into the water with a dozen of his golf bag when the tiny structure gave way under their combined weight. But he struggled out and finished with a birdie four on the home hole for a sub-par 70.

His composure a little ruffled by the water incident, he three-putted the seventeenth, but, at the long, testing eighteenth, the Spanish Don blazed across the out-of-bounds stakes to the fairway with his tee shot, got his second trapped, but came out nicely and finally holed a 40-footer for a birdie.

White Finishes Third. Orville White of St. Louis was third with 295. He collected $900. The close was not unlike Dutra's win of the national title at Merion, except for his long finishing putt. In both cases, the field had practically beaten itself by the time Olin came along.

Turnesa and Abe Espinosa, Chicago, started the final day in the lead, with Dutra three strokes back. The latter was in the major or "bombing" division of the field, the other two heading the minor or "pursuit" group, there being two sets of cash prizes. As a result, Dutra took the big prize in the first division and Turnesa the top honor in the second.

Espinosa, playing with his main rival, blew up badly yesterday, taking 80 against Turnesa's 75. This gave Espinosa a total of 299 in the pursuit division.

Redbirds to Begin Training Grind Earlier Next Spring

Cardinals, was pleased, rather than disappointed when the meeting ended without any wholesale trading of Redbird players.

"I'm still counting on Pat Malone as one of my starting pitchers," Frank told the writer. "As I told you at Louisville, I consider Malone a fine pitcher. He ought to win 15 games for me sure. In Malone, Dizzy and Paul Dean and Bill Walker, I will have four capable starting pitchers. Hallahan is a question mark. I have high hopes that he will be a great pitcher again next year. He certainly pitched good ball in the series. But, of course, that is a gamble. I don't know how the rest of the staff will look. But I'd like to win another pennant and I believe we will if we get the added pitching power we need."

"I'm expecting much from Walker. He pitched great ball after recovering from his arm injury, and there's no reason why he shouldn't win at least 20 games for us next season. I would like to see Dizzy Dean getting more rest. It is difficult, of course, with everybody wanting to see him and hear him talk, but I wish he'd settle down at Bradenton and start taking on about 15 pounds. A ball player should have his rest during the winter."

"It ought to be a great race next year. Pittsburgh has strengthened and New York isn't going to be easy. The Giants wilted at the finish in 1934, but they are a good ball club and they'll be fighting us again for the 1935 flag. And the Cubs have made a lot of changes and Grimm seems to have a good pitching staff. Good clubs that make changes always are dangerous. Just a little added strength is likely to do wonders in a pennant race. Sure, I expect to win, but it's going to be another bitter struggle."

Frisch said he had heard only encouraging reports about Terry Moore, the young outfielder from Columbus, who is being hailed as the outstanding candidate for the center field job on the 1935 Cardinal team.

Praise for Terry Moore.

"They tell me he can do everything," Frisch said. "I had heard about his batting ability, but they tell me now that he covers a field and a half and that he could strengthen defensively any team in the league. If he's half as good as the scouts say, we'll be pretty well fixed in the outfield."

Frisch has been busy through the early winter in the banquet and lecture league. He also has picked up considerable extra money for endorsing toothpaste, cigarettes, shirts and for making radio appearances. Also a syndicate is preparing the story of his life, though Frank says most of it could be told by a succession of box scores.

Frank plans to take the Cardinals to training camp a week earlier than usual. The Redbirds probably will leave St. Louis about Feb. 22 to spend a week or two at Bradenton before taking the planned exhibition trip to Cuba, arranged by Coach Mike Gonzales with the co-operation of the Cuban Government.

May Lead to Something.

Hornaby was disappointed at depending so much on, and doing so much talking without turning a trade.

"It may lead to something, though," Hornaby philosophized last night. "I certainly told 'em what I wanted and after they think it over and realize what humpty-dumpty they're trying to get along with,

they may see it my way. Anyhow, I ain't going to give a box of oranges for a sack of lemon rinds and I'd rather come home empty-handed than get gypped. I know what I have on my club and my players will be more valuable after a couple of months than they are now."

Sam Bredon, before departing for St. Louis, indicated that he was interested in the night baseball experiment, but considered it unlikely that efforts to install a lighting plant at Sportsman's Park would be made. It was reported unofficially that wherever position the American League would try to prevent night baseball from being played. The Browns could prevent the Cardinals from experimenting at St. Louis by refusing to consent to installation of lights at Sportsman's Park.

As a result of action at the joint meeting, radio broadcasting will continue as in the past under a local option arrangement. Bredon said he was not prepared to disclose his plans for 1935 as to broadcasting and the conclusion to see Dizzy Dean getting more rest. It is difficult, of course, with everybody wanting to see him and hear him talk, but I wish he'd settle down at Bradenton and start taking on about 15 pounds. A ball player should have his rest during the winter."

WINDY CITY PIN STARS TO BOWL IN MIDDLE WEST

The remainder of the 119 quintets entered in the Mid-West Bowling tournament will go on the alleys at Rogers Recreation on Saturday and Sunday when 12 of the famous Chicago Classic League five, nine of Kansas City's leaders, two teams from Indianapolis, the Springfield, Orpheum Recreations from Illinois, with the Des Moines, Iowa, United Clothiers as well as the local Bingham Rollers, Grammas and Hoffmeisters try to better the 3244 team total bowled last week by the Milwaukee Hells.

The Kansas City teams, which will be led by Earl Shepherd's Moose Wood, Ed Burns and the Bingham Rollers, will roll at 7 p. m. tomorrow night while the dozen Chicago clubs will bowl at 9 o'clock.

The St. Louis Hoffmeisters will go against Jess Pritchett's Cooks and Elmer and Ed Berghoff's Indians of Indianapolis and the U'cas at 7 p. m. Sunday while the doubles squares are to perform Sunday at 8, 9:40 and 11:30 o'clock in the morning and at 1, 2:40 and 4:30 p. m. Eddie Krens and Adolph Johnson of the Fabet Blue Ribbons head the Chicagoans with Carlson out to try and break the all-events high mark of the tournament to date, 2071, which was set by Art Scheer, of the Budweisers of St. Louis, in an effort to retain his Mid-West title. Ernie Schanz of the Idle Hour Recreations, Ben Bernick of the Chicago Budweisers, Chuck Collier of the Mineralites, C. Kadd of the Kaddlands and H. Lorenz of the Burlingtons are among some of the country's leading bowlers who will compete in the tourney finale.

Seller Rolls 299 Games.

Phil Seiler, a member of the Sun-set team, in the Alhambra Grotto League missed entering the bowling hall of fame by a single pin in this week's round, when after he had counted 11 consecutive strikes, the No. 8 pin refused to fall and he finished with 299. His other counts were 199 and 171, giving him a total of 669. His 299 helped his team to put over a total of 1070.

Women Roll Double Bill.

The Women's Scratch League at Heidel's Recreation bowled a doubleheader this week. In the opening matches, the Vesperettes Recreation five scored 2716 against Park Recreation's 2421. Vesperettes winning three games; Dorr & Zeller totaled 2612 against the Eureka 2409, the former taking the odd contest; Hellrung & Grimm chalked up a 2591 against the Vesperettes. Den Candies 2478, the Hellrungs taking the odd game, and Edith Waldens, with 2478, won two games from Heidel's Recreation. 2473. Individual leaders were, Bertha Geitz 607, Eleanor Olliges 598, Phyllis Bosterman 567, Marge Timmer 567.

In the second round, Dorr & Zeller won the odd game from Vesperettes Recreation, 2713 to 2653; Hellrung & Grimm took two games from Edith Waldens, 2677 to 2552; Heidel Recreation won three games from the Eureka, 2551 to 2417, and Students' Den Candies taking the odd game from Park Recreation, 2570 to 2484. Ann Johnson's 598 paced the individuals, while Margaret Gohke scored 595, Marge Timmer 594, Ruth Jirik 584, Leola Tretter Halloran 576, Catherine Schulte 571, Pauline Schultes 569 and Mary Hughes 569.

Fifty Entered in Tourney.

Manager Cliff de Wees announced last night that over 50 entries had been received so far for the four-day handicap classic to be held at the Grand St. Louis Recreation tomorrow and Sunday night. A first prize of $25 is guaranteed.

Manor, Charles Gierke, Ed Murphy, Lou Zelp, George Reichers, Bill Smith, Maurice Dalton, Ed Halloran, Joe McMullen, Bob Hughes, John Morris, Art Ebeling, Wil Rogers, Larry Quinn and Doc Gilliland are included among the bowling Aces entered so far.

Squads will bowl on Saturday at 4, 5, 7, 8, 9 and 10 p. m., and Sunday at 2, 3, 4, 7, 8 and 10 p. m. Handicaps will be figured in the afternoon.

GEORGE LOIT THINKS HE WILL STAR AS PRO SINGLES PLAYER

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Purely on a hunch, George Martin Lott Jr., former Davis Cup tennis doubles stalwart and now a professional, believes he will develop into an outstanding singles player in the commercial field.

With some modesty he admitted he has won fame as a doubles performer, forcing the amateur side as its foremost tennis player, just as Ellsworth Vines did last year after he began to play for pay. Lott expects to improve and build a reputation as a singles artist.

"I never cared much for indoor tennis," said Lott yesterday after he signed a professional contract to play for Promoter Bill O'Brien with Vines, Bill Tilden and Lester Stofen. "Of course it's business now and I've got to like it."

Wesley House Basketball.

The Wolverines scored a one-point victory over the Gunners in the Wesley House junior division basketball league last night. The Clovers held the Trumbulls to three points as they scored 28, and the Indians ran up 45 points to the Tigers' 18.

The Passing Show.

DEPENDING on the Browns' O. K. Some games at night the Cards will play.

With other N. L. teams. Which indicates that Dizzy Dean in all his glory will be seen. Beneath the floodlights' beams.

But games at night are nothing new to Dizzy Dean, a pitcher who can pitch both night and day. He'll pitch one in the afternoon and then beneath the silver moon he'll win another fray.

around $30,000. Cincinnati plans to spend about $35,000, which sounds rather costly for an experiment, for a mere handful of seven games, out of 77.

However, the light plant makes a ball park available for a variety of night sports such as soccer, college football, softball, boxing and wrestling shows, etc. With a reasonable break, the plant might pay for itself in a year or so.

The Dodier Realty Co. (which is the right-hand pocket of the estate into which the St. Louis Browns annually pay $50,000 rental taken from the left-hand pocket, the ball club) would have to install a lighting plant at Sportsman's Park, if the Cardinals were to try night baseball on the home field.

Whether the estate cares to go to a considerable expense in lighting equipment will have to be decided at the next meeting of the realty company. Unless the trustees of the estate have made up their minds to continue to have and to hold both the Browns' ball club and Sportsman's Park it is unlikely that enough money to buy a couple of badly needed top-rank baseball players will be spent on floodlights this year. But here is still a strong probability that such an investment would pay dividends.

"Render Unto Caesar," Etc.

"ROSCOE TO KELLEY" was the theme song of Yale's forward passing attack, with all the Ell undergraduates; but it should have been "Roscoe to Morton" according to the statistics of Yale's football campaign.

Stratford Morton, a St. Louis product, meant considerably more to the Yale attack than Kelley, both in forward passing results and in all-around football play.

The New Haven boys were marvelous "in the air" last season. Of the 91 forward passes thrown 53 were completed and of the successful throws Morton received 21. The "mighty Kelley" was good for only 16, but because one of them happened to be for a Yale rival, Roscoe, and a touchdown against Princeton the halo has been hovering over Kelley's brow.

Morton, however, was the season's standout in the figures. He totaled 487 yards gained by running on forward passes where his nearest Yale rival, Roscoe, had 459 and the third man, Rankin, had 415. Kelley, with 246 for his total, was far down the list.

Of the approximately 1200 yards net gain by the Yale team, through scrimmage, passes and runbacks, Morton gained considerably more than one-third of the ground. One of the remarkable feats achieved by Morton this season was in the Dartmouth game, in which the St. Louisan completed seven forward passes.

STANFORD WORKS ON PASSES IN PRACTICE FOR ALABAMA

TWO MORE STARS ON AILING LIST; CRIMSON TIDE IS AT TOP STRENGTH

By Associated Press.
PALO ALTO, Cal., Dec. 14.—Two more Stanford football players went to the hospital yesterday as Coach C. E. Thornhill sent his diminishing squad through a brisk workout in a driving rain.

Frank Alustiza, long-punting regular quarterback, and Jack Drown, second-year tackle, were the latest additions to a list of ailed that includes Bobby Grayson, Jim Moscrip, Claude Callaway, Stan Anderson and Keith Topping.

A bad cold that was expected to yield to treatment sent Alustiza to the hospital, while Drown was called in to be examined for a possibly infected appendix. Dr. Fritz Roth, team physician, said he did not expect Drown's trouble would prove serious, however.

Although most of the cripples and sick men were expected to be back at practice by the end of the week, Stanford supporters could not conceal their fear that the Indians might have to go into their Rose Bowl game New Year's day against Alabama with a much weaker team than that which won the Pacific Coast championship.

All eyes were on Grayson, who is recovering from a broken rib suffered in the California game. The big all-American may have to carry the full burden of Stanford's full-back duties, as his first understudy, Stan Anderson, is in bed with pneumonia and third-stringer Ray Todd has been troubled all season with a trick knee.

Splints were taken off Keith Topping's injured leg yesterday and he was scheduled to start getting back into shape.

In spite of a soggy field and wet ball, Thornhill emphasized passing plays in the workout.

Alabama in Hard Work.
By Associated Press.
UNIVERSITY, Ala., Dec. 14.—Alabama's Crimson Tide surged through a scrimmage against Stanford yesterday to top off an intensive drill on fundamentals.

The work of the squad showed marked improvement and almost the precision of the late season through which the Tide swept untroubled and untied.

Coach Frank Thomas followed every move of his charges, particularly the backfield, while Coach Hank Crisp corrected faults in the line play.

(Dixie) Howell, Jimmy Angelich, Riley Smith and Joe Demanyovich, the starting backfield, showed the same drive and speed that characterized their work all year.

No injuries developed to slow up the speed of the training. The Tide begins its westward roll in another week.

GUNNERS ARE READY TO SHOOT AT THE BLUES

By Lloyd McMaster.

Coach Chiller Walsh and his St. Louis Gunners of the National League are ready for their professional football game Sunday at Sportsman's Park against the Kansas City Blues of the American League. The Blues formerly were operated in this city and the coming contest is the outgrowth of the natural rivalry of two promotions in the same line of sport.

For an hour and a half, or longer, the Gunners exercised yesterday on the drill grounds in Forest Park, south of Jefferson Memorial. That was the limit of their activity. Nothing about new plays, three-story tricks to break up their opponents' attack, or any secrets whatsoever.

Get Lots of Action.

They ran, half-wrestled in pairs, when they got close together, and played a game of what-you-may-call-it, consisting in making up slides fore and aft of a goal post set, and after the ball gets into the air, batting it back and forth with one hand, over the cross-bar until one side misses, which means a point for the other side. When the score became 10 to 9, the game was over, but no one seemed to be able to put over an individual condition as to whether the Terrible Swedes or the Flying Dutchmen had won. But it gave the boys a long workout—quick action, with lots of turning of the head, which seemed to be the big idea.

Coach Walsh has decided to add nothing to the offensive which the Gunners have displayed in previous league games. So Charley McLaughlin and Arnold Herber will be passing, right-handed, until Les Cordine gets the ball in his left hand for a snapback upfield. And Swede Johnston will do his thunder-and-lightning dive over the line of scrimmage, in lieu of that little pass. That's a great trick of Swede's. The opposing team learns early that Swede receives the ball often when he is in the backfield. But what they don't know is whether he is going to short-pass it over the line or carry it over. Followers of the Gunners are confident Johnston will work his dive with success against the Blues, although Coach Chappy Rhodes has a strong, big line.

Will Use Two Backfield Groups.

Two backfield combinations will be used by the Gunners, with Manuel (Fatt) Rapp, Les Corzine, Les Johnston and Benny La Presta making up the heavy combination, and Earl Senn, Charley McLaughlin, Arnold Herber and Cy Casper teaming together in the "light-heavy-weight" set.

"Brute" Mulleneaux center, and Herber, did not take part in yesterday's practice.

Mulleneaux has about recovered from a leg injury, which became infected. Herber merely rested, with permission of the front office.

Nineteen men make up the Gunner squad at present, and Coach Walsh plans to use all of them for more or less lengthy spells in the game with the Blues.

SCOTT, VETERAN CENTER, SIGNED BY THE FLYERS

Having subdued the speedy St. Paul Saints Wednesday night by a 4 to 2 count to gain a tie for first place in the American Hockey League standings, the St. Louis Flyers have strengthened their lineup for Sunday night's game with their co-partners in first place, the Tulsa Oilers, by obtaining the services of Laurie Scott, veteran center-ice man.

After dickering with Scott for the past week "Doc" Wainwright, owner of the Flyers, has finally reached an agreement with the forward who last season wore the uniform of the Oklahoma City Warriors.

Before joining the Warriors, Scott enjoyed considerable success as a coach with the Evelev team, which under his mentorship won the championship in the 1932-33 campaign. The year previous Scott was a member of the Duluth aggregation, which a few days ago dropped out of the Central League, was the leading scorer in the circuit.

Going up from the Saskatoon team in the Western League Laurie wore for a time the colors of the New York Rangers, a few years after he broke into the professional game. St. Louis hockey fans will remember him as a member of the Oklahoma City Warriors last year.

The newcomer brings the roster of the Flyers to twelve men. He is expected to fit nicely into the plans of Alex "Shrimp" McPherson, Flyers coach. Alternating with McPherson at center, Scott will steady the play of the younger performers on the Flyer forward line.

Preparations are under way for the second invasion here of the Tulsa Oilers. Appearing here last Sunday night the Oilers received a 2 to 1 beating at the hands of the Flyers.

County League Basket Teams In Second Games, Tonight; Fairview Has a New Coach

The County Division of the St. Louis County High School Basketball League will play five second round games this evening. Ferguson, Valley Park, Brentwood and Affton are leading the league, each having won last week in the opening games. Eureka and Hancock postponed their scheduled game last week and will begin league play tonight.

Affton is the new member of the now 10-school conference and made a good beginning by defeating Fairview, 11-10, last week.

W. S. Crain is the new coach in the league. He is taking over the Fairview squad. Not a letterman has returned to help him build a winning five, but he thinks he can develop a quintet that will hold its own with others in the league.

From the club's record of last week, and the large number of lettermen back at most schools, at least seven schools appear to have a good chance for the county division title.

Henry Ford Went Home.
Russia Prepared.
Torpedoes and Profits.
A Streptococci War.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

HENRY FORD went back from New York to Detroit last night, cheerful and concentrated as usual, and will have news for the buying public presently. He is one year older than this writer, and looks young enough to be his son, with his thick hair, thin face, and active body. He was here for business and pleasure, mixed. On Wednesday he had luncheon in a corner at the Ambassador Hotel, with Gerard Swope, head of the General Electric Co., to talk about buying some big machinery, new, better kinds of steel, etc.

He says: "Swope is the best salesman I ever saw."

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Ford spent considerable time in a New York antique store. Mr. Ford, who has great confidence in the partners in this concern, was interested to see that they had their daughters working with them in the store. "Nice, intelligent girls," Mr. Ford said, "and their fathers are honest."

When he walked out to the elevator of the Ritz Carlton Hotel, having just left Mrs. Ford at the door of his apartment, he said something more important to human happiness than all his new models, all his factories, all his public service.

"I met her 50 years ago this New Year's eve. If it hadn't been for her, I never should have done anything."

Then he walked back to their apartment.

In Geneva, Mr. Streit discovered and sent to the New York Times, the interesting news that Russia's strength makes any Japanese attack on Russia entirely improbable.

Mr. Streit says: "Tokio won't act without positive Western help." The same statement has been made here at intervals for several weeks, ever since a distinguished Russian official said to this person "there is no danger of war between Russia and Japan. Japan waited three years too long and knows it."

Russia did NOT wait. She placed bombing and pursuit planes at Vladivostok, within convenient reach of Tokio and all Japanese industrial centers. And Russia also located a powerful fleet of large modern submarines at Vladivostok, 450 miles from Japan's coast, and is strengthening that fleet constantly.

For Japan to start war on Russia, would mean to invite 900 planes with bombs, poison gas and other things, and a large fleet of submarines from Vladivostok all bound for Japan.

Even with the suggested "positive Western help" to which Mr. Streit refers it does not seem probable that Japan would invite such a Russian visitation.

The official, said "Russia knows the location of every industrial center in Japan and has plans made to wipe out those industrial centers within a few hours of any declaration of war."

Washington discovers that ammunition manufacturers in the big war made as much as $47,000,000 in a year. One firm made a profit of 362 per cent in the happy profit days of long ago.

Josephus Daniels, when Secretary of the Navy, had ideas about keeping down war profits. He sent for a maker of torpedoes shot from submarine tubes against the sides of battleships. The manufacturer mentioned a price three times as high as would have yielded a fine profit. Mr. Daniels mentioned a reasonable price. The manufacturer said: "Sorry, we cannot consider it."

Mr. Daniels replied, "Well, think about it until next Wednesday, then come and see me again. If you still think it can't be done, the United States Government will take over your plant on Thursday and show you how to do it."

The factory supplied torpedoes at the price that Mr. Daniels suggested.

That is how the conversation is remembered after 20 years. High-handed? Yes, but war also is high-handed.

You are "fearfully and wonderfully made," never doubt it.

Little Stanley Walker is fighting for life against a horrible army of streptococci germs that destroy the life-giving red corpuscles in the blood stream. The white corpuscles called "leucocytes" fight foreign enemies in the blood until their strength is exhausted. The war going on in the boy's veins and arteries involved an army of fighters greater in number by hundreds of millions than those engaged in the "big war."

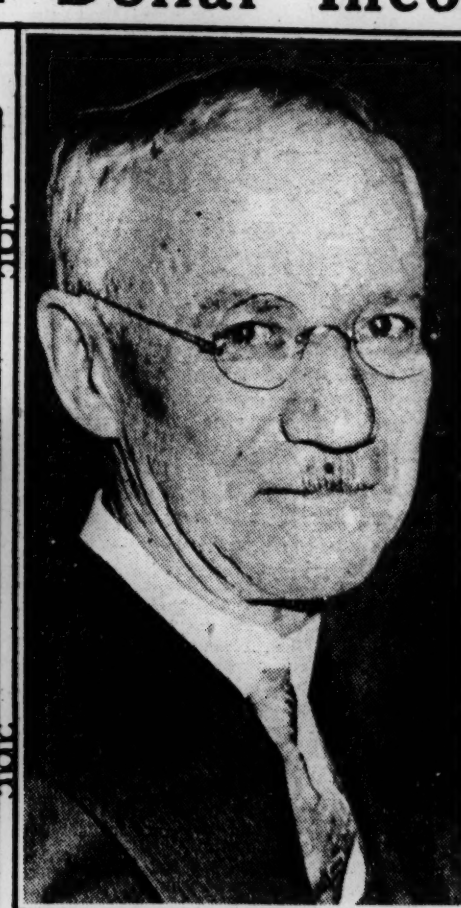

The streptococci germs were

Movies to Try Mixed Cast in Musical Revue

Success of Idea on Stage Causes Hollywood Producers to Try It.

By Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 13. THE stage had its Florence Mills, colored musical comedy favorite, but so far the screen has never had a Negro actress who sings and dances. Felix Young is the Columbus in that respect, having signed Jenni Legon for a black and white revue. He will make for RKO. Miss Legon will play only in the one sequence with a Negro chorus. The white cast will be headed by Ann Sothern, Wynne Gibson, Fred Keating and Gene Raymond, who are the stars of the Young revue. Interesting if Miss Legon makes a hit on the screen. Two of the prize performances of the year go to colored players, Louise Beavers and Fredi Washington, in "Imitation of Life." Miss Beavers, particularly, gives a great performance.

The international star situation grows more and more complicated. Margaret Wallmann, ballet dancer of the State Theater in Vienna, comes to Hollywood with a contract arranged through the Austrian Government. She can only stay here for four months, which will hardly give her a chance to get started in the movies. But maybe if everyone does right by Margaret, Austria will let her come again. Clarence Brown and Rufus Lemaire are responsible for bringing Fraulien Wallmann to Hollywood. They have her ballet in "Fanny Hill" and immediately signed her. She arrives in New York Dec. 18 on the Conti Savola.

The costumes, which arrived last week for Dolores Del Rio for her next picture, "El Caliente," are unlike any worn on the screen. They are hand-embroidered, especially made, Mexican frocks that she ordered when she and Cedric Gibbons were visiting in Mexico City. Twelve in all, each one is different. Dolores starts work shortly on the "Caliente" yarn, which has been on and off for months. Dolores Del Rio, waiting until Warner were sure of a good script, Pat O'Brien plays opposite her as the reporter on a theatrical paper. The locale is, of course, Dolores' native land—Mexico.

Chatter in Hollywood: Mrs. Nicholas Schenck has had a lot of fun the last week over a job offered her. She went to Universal Studios with her sister, Mrs. Edgar Selwyn, and they called on William Anthony McGuire. "Can't you give my girl friend a job in Ziegfeld show?" asked Ruth Selwyn. "Take off your hat," commanded McGuire who didn't know the name of his visitor. Mrs. Schenck did as he asked. "Turn around so I can see your profile," McGuire said. "Your girl friend will do," he finally said to Mrs. Selwyn. "Here take this slip to the casting director. If you can act I have a little bit for you." The girls went to the casting director who took one look at Patsey Schenck and said: "Say, I know you. You're Mrs. Nicholas Schenck and there ended her screen career."

A line or two: Sam Heilman, brought here to write the "George White Scandals" is said to have now George will write his own "scandals." Pretty Patricia Montague, socialite from Burlingame, came to Hollywood to visit. William Anthony McGuire met her and she remained for the "Ziegfeld" picture. Samuel Goldwyn told his property department to get the cows and chickens for the Anna Sten picture, "Wedding Night" three weeks in advance so they won't be camera shy. "Evelyn shows me pictures I have seen with animals there looking scared to death," said Sam. And the members of the staff are having all the fresh eggs and milk they can use. Speaking of Samuel Goldwyn, Rouben Mamoulian and Sam have parted company, "is said. Mamoulian will not direct "Dark Angel."

York after a grand holiday in the big town; Russell visited his dad, an editor on a Providence newspaper; Dolores del Rio and Cedric Gibbons organizing a tennis tournament to be played at their home Sunday; Phil Reed and Glenda Farrell shopping for furniture together but for different places; his future for her Santa Monica house; here for her Santa Monica house; Wiley Post, around the world flyer; gathering an admiring crowd in a

CANDY for the HOLIDAYS

Some New Recipes For Christmas Season

CHRISTMAS time is candy time. There must be candy for presents, candy for the bon-bon dishes placed casually around to tempt everyone, and candy to tuck in expectant stockings. An inventory now of holiday candy needs will save the merry confusion of the eleventh-hour rush.

And Christmas candies must have variety. The element of surprise is half the fun, so if you're looking around for some good ideas, try a few of the following new recipes for dainty holiday tid-bits:

MEXICAN PATTIES

Three cups sugar
One and one-fourth cups boiling water
One-half teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon cider vinegar
Two cups pecans
Place one cup of sugar in hot frying pan and stir constantly until sugar is melted. Add one-fourth cup boiling water to melted sugar and boil until sugar is dissolved. Add two cups more of sugar and one cup more boiling water, then add one-half teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon cider vinegar. Cover and continue boiling until soft ball stage is reached. Let stand until boiling ceases, then add two cups pecans and stir until candy begins to cream slightly. Put out in patties on waxed paper to cool. Store in tin.

TAFFY FOR "THE GANG"
Pulling taffy for Christmas is as much fun as eating it. After it is made, it may be cut into short lengths and wrapped in waxed paper and the ends of the paper snipped to make frills.

Two cups sugar
One-half cup white syrup
Two-thirds cup water
One teaspoon vanilla
Put the sugar, syrup and water in a saucepan; stir over low heat until the sugar is dissolved. Boil without stirring until it forms a hard ball when tested in cold water. Remove from stove; stir in vanilla. Pour the mixture into greased platters or shallow pans. When the declarer held, at the outside, the deuce, trey and four spot of the suit.

This was a beautiful theory. Unfortunately, in the great majority of cases, dummy would go down with the eight, six and three spot. Partner would hold the queen and deuce—rule of eleven or no rule of eleven, he would automatically put the queen up. Then it was discovered that this confounded rule worked equally well both ways. In other words, the fourth best opening lead helped the declarer as much as it did your partner.

I tentatively started leading the fifth best, the sixth best, and even the seventh best of my longest and strongest suits, particularly against no-trump contracts. Playing against experts who were used to gentlemanly opponents, whose lead of a deuce indicated that they held no more than four cards of the suit they led, I achieved a success that was little short of miraculous. The declarer would hold the ace-small of the suit, dummy three small cards. If my deuce lead was successful, the outstanding eight cards must be divided four-four; therefore, there would be no sense holding up the ace. Unfortunately for the declarer, it would transpire at a later date that I had led the bottom of a six-card suit, with no outside re-entry. Since my partner had held a doubleton, however, the declarer had gone in on the first round—all would be well—for us!

Substitutes For Narcotics

Doctors Use

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

WE spoke yesterday of the attempt that is being made to solve the problem of drug addiction by the chemical synthesis of new compounds which are not habit forming.

The three important habit forming drugs are morphine, cocaine and alcohol. In the case of alcohol everyone knows that the amount of damage which is done varies within wide limits. Some people undoubtedly have formed a minor habit of alcohol, take small amounts daily, or nearly daily, without, however, interfering markedly with their efficiency or health.

Alcohol also varies widely in its habit forming propensity. It is a matter of common observation that people can be habituated to alcohol for a considerable period of time, and then give it up for a long time with only a minor amount of suffering and without medical help.

In the case of morphine, the first of these aspects of habit formation holds good. Many morphine addicts are able to get along on a comparatively small amount daily, do their work efficiently, and may never be suspected, even by members of their family, of using a drug habitually. Others become completely incapacitated and useless, from the economic and personal standpoint.

So far as the second aspect of the problem is concerned, morphine is nothing at all like alcohol. The morphine addict is not able to stop the habit without intense suffering, and almost never able to do so without medical help. That is, he has to be carried over the period of withdrawal by the use of other drugs which minimize his suffering.

The cocaine habit is not as common as either of the others, and cocaine has such a powerful effect in deteriorating personality that the habit is more frequently stopped than in the case of either of the other drugs. The cocaine addict, in most instances, shortly after beginning the habit, goes into a delirium of intoxication which resembles delirium tremens, and withdrawal of the drug becomes absolutely necessary.

The unfortunate thing is, of course, that these drugs are so useful in medical practice that they are really necessities. It is encouraging, then, to know that we are producing drugs which will do the medical work that they do, and at the same time are free from habit-forming properties.

In the case of morphine such a drug is the comparatively recently introduced "dilaudid," which has been found to be almost as powerful as morphine in relief of pain; in certain kinds of chronic pain, it is really preferable. For cocaine we have a product called "procaine," which is an effective local anesthetic, devoid of addicting qualities.

Great credit should be given to the wonderful new science of organic chemistry which is able to begin deliberate, on a logical basis, the creation of new drugs of this kind, with good prospect of creating exactly what is needed.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a 3-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Finnan Haddie Supreme
One-half pound cold finnan haddie, picked apart and fried slightly in butter. Mix together one cup milk or thin cream, one chopped hard-boiled egg, one teaspoon grated sharp cheese and add to the fish. Cook slowly and add one tablespoon butter and one tablespoon flour to thicken. Season to taste and serve over slices of toast when nicely thickened.

Dear Mrs. Carr:
I AM a boy, 19 years old, and,
although I have gone with several girls, until a few weeks ago,
I hadn't found one I really cared for. I am unemployed and, therefore, unable to show her as good a seems to like my married sister, and also seems to enjoy helping her

Do you think I am being unfair, going with this girl and, perhaps, keeping her from having the fun she would have, were she going with someone else? P. W. B.

How can that keep her from going with someone else? If you are not engaged, why shouldn't she have other friends among the boys and still go out with you or be with you occasionally. Will you tell me why the boys think a girl must go with one boy only—and the girl feels that a boy should confine all his attentions to her?

Dear Mrs. Carr:

very much appreciated, too.
A MOTHER.

Anything served at that hour would necessarily serve as the child's evening meal. Creamed chicken on toast is nourishing and well liked by children. One vegetable, perhaps steamed carrots, with carrots with melted butter, then ice cream and cookies, would be a nourishing and suitable supper for the children.

If you have time to write in, sending self-addressed, stamped envelope, I will send you some children's games, but have not the space just now to use them in the column.

My dear Mrs. Carr:
I WONDER if you could help me with my question. I am 28 years old and have had two years of high school and would now like to continue my education, after being away from school 13 years. I am now married and have time to go to day school, but cannot afford to pay tuition. Do public high schools charge tuition for day schooling for adults? I should like to finish high school and then go to college, hoping by the time I have finished the high school courses, I shall be able financially to do so.

If there are some free classes,
please let me know of them.
HAZEL.

I do not think the public schools have day classes of this kind. You might inquire of the St. Louis Community Council, Department of Research and Education, 613 Locust street. Ask also at Hadley Vocational School.

Dear Martha Carr:
I WOULD like to know the correct way to play five hundred rummy. Is it right for one hand, both mates and he picks up the third, which happens to be a mate again to those he has in his hand, to lay the three down and be out, or does he have to have a card to discard?

Sometimes people playing this game change the rules to some extent, but under those usually followed, it is necessary for him to have the card to discard.

Dear Mrs. Carr: Y daughter is separated from her husband. I don't think they are divorced. But she claims she is married again and this man is going under her first husband's name. Isn't there a law against names going under assumed names?
WORRIED MOTHER.

If your daughter is not divorced from her first husband and has married another, of course she may be prosecuted for bigamy. Both facts are likely to bring her trouble, for which you should see a good lawyer, before it does.

My dear Mrs. Carr:
OUR boys, 3 and 5 years old, are expecting Santa Claus, and I wonder if some of your readers would have some discarded toys to give them?

We are on relief, but lack clothes enough to go out this cold weather.
The boys need winter coats, sizes 4½ and 6. My size is 48 and my husbands needs a suit of clothes, size 36, shoes size 7, hat or cap size 6½.

My husband would be glad to work for all of these things.
A FRIEND.

My Dear Martha Carr:
HOW old must one be before he can join the navy?
WILD BILL.

Seventeen years. You will get all information about this at the U. S.
Navy Recruiting Office at Third and Olive streets.

Some Suggestions For Holiday
Presents In Alphabetical Form

By Sylvia Stiles

ODAY'S Christmas story has a kindergarten flair, but it has nothing to do with juveniles. It presents the A B C's of holiday giving. Its basis is the alphabet, which brings to your attention 26 different yuletide suggestions. Each one was selected, not only because its initial fitted into the proper order, but because it could be called the smart sort of gift.

Gift shops, household appliance departments, ready-to-wear sections and many other divisions of St.
Louis retail stores were visited in the preparation of this list. Some of the items are hard to find, but a good snoper will have little difficulty in ferreting them out. Most are inexpensive, because the remembrance which many folks like best is the thought, rather than the style or the dollar value.

Christmas shopping is hectic, at its best, so let's dispose of it, if possible by the simple process of studying our A B C's.

A is for angustura, the name which you'll find written in white on one of a collection of bitter bottles. Lots of men who pride themselves upon being good mixers would welcome a set of these brown bottles, each filled with a different flavoring, are included in one box.
B is for Brandy Burner, one of the slickest little gadgets that has been displayed in this town in many a day. It's of sterling silver and it fits over the top of an after-dinner coffee cup. A lump of sugar is placed in the bowl, saturated with brandy, and then lighted. When the mixture is dissolved, it is tilted into the coffee.

C is for cigarette case or cuff links. You can take your choice, because both happen to go together.
In fact, an entire dress set, including links, studs and a vest button, are packed in a bakelite case. The case serves as a gift container until it becomes a holder for cigarettes.

D is for duck or rather for ducks.
The plural must be used this year, because there are so many different ones on the market. Among the grown-up playthings is a duck ash tray made of painted metal. The are there, but the extra trimmings make this into a humidor or a sewing stand. The humidor has holders for pipes on a little shelf while the sewing stand has a shelf equipped to hold lots of spools of thread.

L is for letter opener, a most mannish sort of gift and a handsome one, as well. The opener is made of tortoise shell. On one side of the handle there is a cleverly inserted calendar.

M is for money but don't get excited. This isn't the sort you can spend. It's a game which should be plenty of fun for those who have reached the point where they can "laugh off" the tragedies of a tumbling stock market.

N is for needlepoint which you may think sounds antique. Perhaps it does but the sophisticated will appreciate fine handiwork. The art needlework departments will sell you a chair cover or cushion that is practically complete.

O is for owl, a very wise gift, for the man who carries his bottle with him. The chromium bird with those big, beady eyes separates at the middle and displays the liquor cups tucked away inside.

P is for pancakes which you certainly will serve if Santa should bring you a pancake set. A chromium pitcher with a long, slender spout will be satisfactory either for syrup or melted butter. Two shakers, one much larger than the other, may be used for sugar and salt. A round metal tray which has a blue glass center holds the smart trio.

Q is for quilting, a certain indication that a feminine foible will please. Bed jackets, negligees, evening wraps of luxurious velvet and tailored leather bags display it.

R is for recipes of a very liquid nature. They are tucked into a suede finished filing case, quite dignified in every respect except the tipsy little man down at one corner.
Another set of recipes boldly proclaims its mission by employing a wooden bartender as support.

S is for stag horn mounted with sterling silver and having a conspicuous space for a monogram.
The horn is in reality a corkscrew and is so constructed that when it is inserted in the bottle it automatically lifts the stopper.

T is for treasure chest of Chinese inspiration and intended for those persons on your Christmas list who like the exotic. The chest opens with doors much like a safe, even to the lock and key. Gold serpent designs on red lacquer provide the chic.

U is for urn, a most important decorative piece in this era when pottery is going extreme. The one selected from among the hundreds of lovely designs comes from Italy.
Its deep ivory tint, its low oval shape and its rose decorations are all unique.

V is for vanity which every woman has. A vanity case this season is likely to be a big and flashy affair. Finding a small, compact one isn't so easy. There is a stunning example, however, which has a glistening cover and a series of graduated envelope compartments all in a row. Every beauty item you will need is there.

W stands for wood and also for watch. The two go very well together, especially if the girl of your choice likes to wear sports clothes.
Some cases are round, others are square.

X is for xylophone, a musical instrument designed especially to summon the guests to dinner. It is handsomely arrayed in a scheme of silver and black, and the dumbest waiter can play it.

Y is a letter which all good knitters know must be associated with yarn. But the chances are that they haven't discovered the clever new yarn folder. It was invented

Two People Who Sought Life's Truth

The Story of D. H. Lawrence and His Wife, and the Bond Between Them.

By Elsie Robinson

THEY were a husband and wife.
But not at all the sort of thing we mean when we say husband and wife. So strange—or were they, actually, not strange at all?
Is it, perhaps, our idea of marriage which is strange—our peevish, possessive idea of marriage?

They weren't possessive. Even though they'd thrown everything else away
to find each other,
they weren't possessive. They loved, but they did not think that love gave them
the right to make each other's life
a hell.

Often she must have wished to be a curious, exasperating creature—this D.
H. Lawrence. All the world knew him. Some, sure, thought him quite mad—others, the greatest living writer. But whatever else he was, he was always himself. And his wife, Frieda, was always willing to let him be himself.

That, I think, is the greatest and hardest thing for any woman to do —to let her husband be himself.
Wives are so rarely content to leave their husbands alone. They must always be tinkering at them... adding a bit here, shaving off a bit there, modeling them over according to some secret pattern of their own. And ending my making a mess of everything. For if they succeeded in making them over, the original man is lost. And if they don't—they're both, bitter and resentful.

But that didn't happen with these two people. They knew what they were undertaking when they married... saw without any illusion the grim trail that lay ahead. But having undertaken it, they saw it through.

Their marriage was, from every sensible viewpoint, a mess. You have sworn that no good would have come from it. None did—in a conventional sense. She was 31 against his 28—a settled married woman living quietly with her husband and three children. He was a distracted, rootless creature, at odds with himself and life. Yet there they were, belonging together from the first word, and unable to do anything about it. Within six weeks she had gone with him, putting behind her forever all those she loved—comfort, safety and good name.

Belonging TOGETHER—but not TO EACH OTHER. They never confused those two issues. No matter how empty life became, they never tried to live off each other.
... never penalized each other for being what they were. A great romance? Yes—but not what we've been taught to consider romance.
Always she was to grieve for her lost babies—always he was to resent her grieving.

And there were other things. Disappointments. Exasperations. Poverty. Ghastly illness. Stiffness that is sometimes harder to bear than any tragedy. Hysterical women squabbling over him like hens over a worm. Mad wanderings that ended nowhere. Conflict and bewilderment. Every trouble, great or small, that plagues any marriage, and many that don't. Such happiness as they had was to come like his tortured breath, in broken, bloody bits.

YET LOVE ALWAYS PAID.
THEY WERE ALWAYS SURE OF THAT.

Now he is dead. She has set it all down in a book. "NOT I BUT THE WIND," she calls it. What wind? That strange wind of Life with which they dared to flow, instead of trying to buck or divert it as most of us do. It is, I think, the greatest story of any marriage
I have ever read the truest picture of what marriage should really be—NOT A GRATIFICATION OF LOVE, BUT A JOINT ADVENTURE IN LIVING.

THEY GAVE EVERYTHING FOR LOVE. YET THEY ALWAYS KNEW THAT LOVE WAS NOT THE GREATEST THING IN LIFE.
—THAT LIFE ITSELF WAS GREATER.

"It was," she says, "a long fight between Lawrence and me to get at some truth between us... but ... whatever happened on the surface of everyday life, there bloomed the certainty of the unalterable bond between us."

TO FIND THE TRUTH—that was what they wanted out of marriage. Not to own each other. Not to use each other. But to live actually, honestly, so bravely, that their love became a clear, still light.

And then, so soon, he was lying in her arms... and their eyes were clinging in that last, long glance... and it was over.

But—love.

CONGRATULATIONS
G. A. I. WELL SAID!

(Lamar, Mo., Democrat.)
G. A. Sizemore came in Wednesday and said he wanted to call our attention to the fact that when we used his name in the paper about a month ago, we said he lived out on the Ewing place. He wanted to know where we got that information.
We said, "Well, we guessed we asked some of the folks who were acquainted with him, where he lived, and they said on the Ewing place. Wasn't it true that he lived on the Ewing place?"

He said, "No, he lived on his own place."

"Yes," we sniggered, "but wasn't it the Ewing place?" He said, "Yes, it was, but it wasn't any more.
When you said I lived on the Ewing place, that sounded like I was renting the place. If you had said I lived on a nice man, too! And I lived on the Ewing place, it would not have left that impression."

"But after all," reflects Genevieve the kitchen cynic, "the Republicans will probably be able to do better as an opposition party when they've had a little more practice."

Q. and A. DEPARTMENT

Dear, Helpful Aunt Bella:
Well, listen; recently I met a man on a train trip who seemed to be very interested in me and he paid me a lot of attention and took down my name and address and promised to get in touch with me real soon, but he hasn't. And he uses such a nice man, too! And I foolishly neglected to get his address. I don't know what I can do, but I thought you might be able to make a suggestion as I really feel that he means everything to me.
Regretful.

Ans. — Well, well, it's a small world, after all. Auntie B. was smarter than you and got his address which is probably still laying around somewhere. If she can find it she'll be glad to send it to you, kiddo. But it seems he don't live there.

Want An Heiress

Another Intriguing Serial
By ROB EDEN

CHAPTER THIRTY-FOUR.
T two o'clock the following afternoon, the room and her patient were ready for Mr. Abbott's visit. At two-fifty she answered the knock at the door lackadaisically and gave Mr. Abbott a chilly smile.

"Doctor Grebel told me I could see Miss Carey alone," he said on the doorway. "I'll take good care of her and ring if I need you."

Miss Thomas inclined her head and passed into the hall. It mattered nothing to her whether Mr. Abbott wanted to see Miss Carey or not. She wasn't interested in Mr. Abbott in the least. In fact she was rather glad to get out of the room, anyway. It reminded her too much of Mr. Quentin.

Christopher Abbott stepped into the room and up to her bed. The smile on his face faded a little when he saw how pale Fran was, how thin. He took her wasted and another shock went through him.

Of course you couldn't skirt such as Fran had and not look pale and weak. And yet her eyes were shining brightly, almost too brightly in her wan face, and she was smiling and her smile was warm, welcoming.

"Good of you to come, Mr. Abbott," she murmured, and he looked speechlessly from her eyes to the copper halo her hair made in the smooth pillow. Clearing his throat, he put his brief case on the night stand.

"There's a chair"—she was saying.
Yes, there was a chair. Abbott pulled it up close to the bed and sat down. He tried to take his eyes away from the ruddy hair, from the pale face, but he couldn't, and he couldn't talk yet. He could only sit and look at her, and tell himself that she was here, and he was here.

"Grebel says you're going to be as good as ever when you get strong. That is, if you take care of yourself"—he said at last, and his voice shot back at him like some stranger's voice in the quiet, cool, white room.

"He told me that, too, this morning." It seemed good to have him here. Fran was quite content as she lay back looking from Abbott to the basket of larkspur and pink roses that had come from him that morning.

Still Abbott couldn't go on. He felt tongue-tied, embarrassed. A boy instead of a grown man, he thought. A boy in the presence of a girl he adored and was afraid to say how much he adored. Time was going, too. Grebel had given him a limit of half an hour with Fran, and precious minutes had already flown by.

"What were you doing in the Sedgewick apartments the afternoon—I was shot?" Fran asked suddenly.

"What was I doing there?"
"On the fifth floor back staircase of the Sedgewick apartments. I opened my eyes after I fell down, and there you were. I've been wondering why you were there."

"But I wasn't there! I didn't know you were hurt until I read the story in an extra."
"But I saw you, saw your face. You were bending over me. Back of your head was the newest post of the stairs!"

"It must have been someone else," he protested. "I wasn't there. All that afternoon I was out at Raleigh Park, assisting in an inventory. Raleigh Park is miles away from the Sedgewick apartments. You must have seen an interne or someone in the apartment house who looked like me."

Fran glanced at his face. No, it was his face she had seen—exactly as it was now—pale, his eyes worried, his lips unsmiling, two creases denting his forehead.

"Strange," he said softly.
Yes, it was strange, the girl thought and a faint blush brushed her cheeks. She shouldn't have told him if she hadn't been so positive that it was his face she had seen. She would have sworn on a dozen witness stands that he had been there, and here he was telling her he had been at Raleigh Park.

"I must have been delirious," she whispered more positively than to him. You did see queer things when you were delirious. Imagining you had seen Mr. Abbott, when he was miles away!

He must think her a fool—Again Abbott cleared his throat and reached for his brief case. When it was unfastened, he took his watch from his pocket and laid it on the bed in front of him.

"You may be very angry with me before I finish what I have to say."
"Angry? Why should I be? You've been very good to me—Doctor Grebel tells me—"

He interrupted her quickly and took from his brief case a sheaf of notes and a blue bound document. "But I want you to remember that whatever I've done, I've done for your own good, and I take the entire responsibility on my own shoulders. You can blame me for everything, censure me for everything."

Fran said nothing, although he paused as if he expected her to speak.
She didn't understand why he was talking this way, neither did she understand why he was laying a gold locket on the bed close to her right hand.

"I asked Miss Markham to get this for me last night. She very kindly did. She found it among your things."

Fran picked up the locket and

TODAY'S PATTERN

House Frock
Quite a "sweeping success," isn't it, this well-tailored house frock with its slendering lines and nicely detailed bodice? The skirt is fronted by a long slimming seam which breaks into a perky little kick pleat just below the knee—the bodice is gathered onto the yoke to provide ample fullness. And don't you like that vest-like effect of the front yoke which does so much to break the width of the figure above the waistline? Buttons emphasize the trim belt, the pointed sleeve cuffs and the nice diagonal closing. Make it of any pretty cotton material, figured or plain, and you'll have a house frock to be proud of!

Pattern 2089 is available in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46. Size 36 takes 3 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

When such elegant lingerie is chosen, it certainly serves to be presented in a dainty case. Envelopes of taffeta have been created especially for this purpose. You may select a single large one for a nightgown or dressing gown, or choose an ensemble of three. Pastel tints are provided for those who have sacheted dresser drawers and darker shades for those who have the shadest of those who have the shadest.

There has been such a lot of hurrah about the glittering evening bags with their metallic coverings that some quieter but equally attractive styles may have been overlooked. Exquisitely dainty in every respect is one bag that has the surface covered with appliques of lace. Velvet in black, white or high shades... interesting also as a contrast when it displays an artistic beaded design.

The cousin or the friend whom you haven't seen for years will appreciate a gift of a scarf if you remember her favorite color schemes. One attractive scarf that combines two shades presents a half-and-half arrangement. Part is made of bright green, for example, and part of brown, so that when the scarf is tied one shade forms one end and the other shade forms the other.

Corded belts are continuing their leadership. But the single wide silk cord with tassels ends now has competition in rows of tiny cords placed side by side. Frequently three colors are used together, thus

These crocheted edgings are such a varied collection that they will decorate a great variety of articles. The two in filet crochet—these are about 4 inches wide when finished—are just the thing on pillow cases and towels as well as cloths. In Irish crochet with the dainty roses is lovely as a trimming on lingerie and neckwear. The tiny ones make dainty handkerchief edgings. The others are lovely on luncheon sets and other household linens. Made of twine many of these would make lovely shelving for the closets.

Pattern 892 comes to you with detailed directions for making the edgings shown; illustrations of them and of all stitches used; material requirements and color suggestions.

Send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) for this pattern to St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Grape Salad
A delightful fruit salad from both edible and artistic standpoint. Drain halves of large canned pears free of juice and wipe off with a clean napkin. Cut the rounded side well with softened cream cheese. Into the cream cheese place seedless white grapes, close together as they grow in a bunch. Place in the refrigerator to chill. Serve on beds of lettuce with a sprig of fresh mint thrust in the top for a stem. Serve mayonnaise separately.

An Increase in Size
If you find you are continually darning the toes of your stockings, try buying a half size larger and see if this does not remedy the difficulty. Sometimes our feet spread as we get older and we continue wearing the same size stocking too long.

Walter Winchell on Broadway

Man About Town and Country

DOUG FAIRBANKS will be London-bound momentarily. Lady Ashley's divorce becomes final in six months. It will be legal for Doug and Lady A. to merge in California for one year. They will take a chalet near St. Moritz. The 1928-29-30 income tax reports of a too famous movie magnate in H'wood are being inspected. The Mal Stevens rumor of a rift apparently is confirmed with the fact that Mal and Abbie Booth have leased an apt.

Robert Jackson, ex-sec'y of the Demo. Nat'l Comm., and Ann Harding, the actress-divorcee, are plotting to middle-act it! The divorcee, Mrs. C. T. T. of the West, is the reason the very youthful John Grant can't think. Over 200 requests for tickets to cover the Hauptmann drama have arrived from as many accredited newspaper men, but the courtroom can crowd only 130.

Joan Crawford received an autographed photo inscribed: "From Your Unknown Admirer"—it was from Irvin S. Cobb. The Billy Wilkersons have been jailed, again—after a one-day tiff. The Palazzo d'Italia in Radio City probably won't bear any Fascist emblems, because of the protests of the American Federation of Labor. Mrs. Lina Grant Baker, ex of Howard Baker—who is the former Congressman Ruth Pratt's brother—will be riveted to Richard Gibson, the stockbroker of Scotland on the 21st. Sidney Smith and Lillian Bond have been having a maaaaad for a week and probably still are. He wants to marry her—and she doesn't want! Cagney is at the Barclay under what tag?

Prince Serge Obolensky (he got tangled in the Tilly Loach divorce producing a gay effect. A metal bubble of openwork design is another feature.

Toilet goods manufacturers have gone to a lot of trouble to dress up their merchandise so that it is almost irresistible as Christmas gifts. A miniature hat box, you will find, contains a most complete manicuring outfit. A lovely leather box that is brightened with a sprig of holly contains the requisites of a perfect complexion. A dainty drum box when opened discloses vanity case, lipstick and perfume.

Santa Claus must be blind if he can't see how much most girls adore those smart costume jewelry sets that feature rhinestones in imitation of diamonds. Among the newest pieces displayed in the cases is a wide cuff bracelet which has large links studded with baguette cut stones. The clasp introduces a cluster of red stone berries. A pair of bold square clips may be chosen to complete a set.

Str Oswald Mosley, the Black Shirt "dictator" muzzler of London, is trying to contact locals to start the movement in N. Y. An Englishman, who arrived here a week ago, is the "agent," but he won't be long, honey. Walter Lyle, the filling station lad, who noted Hauptmann's license on the fatal ten spot, has been elevated of all the Warner-Quinlan plants and gas stations in S. Jersey, at a huge raise, effective at once! Congrats, kid. Was Grace Tibbett, the canary's ex-wife, secretly wedded recently to a Santa Fe oil and mining man? And why is Mme. Jeritza, who denies abrogation reports in the papers—planning a trip to Mexico?

One hard-boiled egg and one-half canned pimento for each person. Mash yolks of eggs finely, add chopped whites, salt, pepper, mayonnaise to hold together. A few chopped olives may be added if desired. Fill the half of pimento with the mixture and serve on crisp lettuce garnished with a dab of mayonnaise and a dash of paprika.

A hot breakfast that really tastes good—that's what kids want. And they get it when you serve them Wheat Centers...

The delicious new breakfast dish that's so rich in carbohydrates and energy units... so easily digested you can serve it to infants and convalescents. Fine too for bread-frying, pork chops and other meats... as a basis for muffins or gems, pancakes and desserts.

Now You can Have Good Gingerbread Regularly

It's easy to make with Jenny Wren Gingly Cake Mix—all you do is add one cup of water to the contents of one package and bake. No mixing of spices. No muss. No fuss. No chance of failure. One 15c package of Gingly Cake Mix makes enough gingerbread for six people or a large jar of cookies. Try it. You'll be delighted.

Here's that Flour that Banishes Baking Failures

Jenny Wren Ready Mixed Flour is the only flour you need for biscuits, pancakes, waffles and quick-breads. All the hard-to-mix-dry ingredients are scientifically blended into it at the mill, the exact proportions necessary for perfect results. You do not add baking powder, salt, soda, yeast or any other leavening agent. You do get the tenderest, flakiest, most palatable... biscuits that fairly melt in your mouth... waffles, cakes, quick-breads and pastries that surpass those that Mother used to make. Use it a month and you'll use it for life.

It's Another Hole in the Pocket

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

SALES tax has New York down to copper pennies. That's the first stop this side of brass tacks.

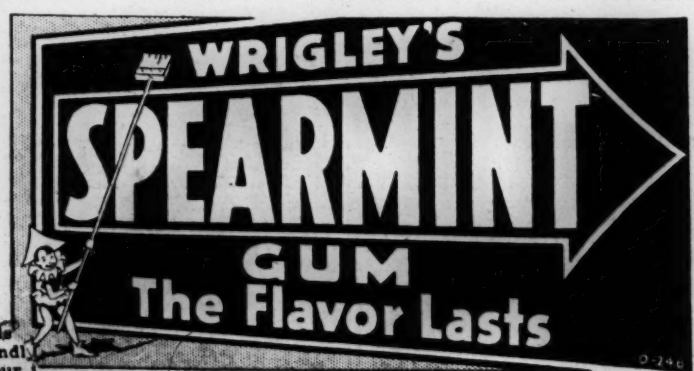

Town has a municipal assessment on everything over 12 cents. You pay a little more for a thing than it costs.

In traffic jams the green lights do you no good and you pay a nuisance tax on the red.

Food and medicine are the only commodities which are not contraband. So folks are trying to beat the tax by eating until they get sick.

So they save 11 cents and the doctor makes $2 the first visit and paves the way for the second and third.
